Seniors Learning on the Go Part 3

In an ongoing series of learning events for seniors as part of a New Horizons for Seniors grant, applied for by Tele-Drive as a joint project with Rural Rides under WA Transpo. Seniors are learning more about communities within Westmorland and Albert Counties as well as some skills. The third event in the series took place on September 25 when two buses of seniors travelling from Albert County and the Salisbury region arrived in Dorchester NB to begin a day of fun and learning.

Members of the Dorchester Volunteer Firefighters helped prepare a delicious lunch at the Dorchester Veterans Hall. It consisted of Chicken Fricot and fresh rolls baked by the newly opened Cape Road Baking Company with a berry crumble for dessert. The seniors were joined at lunch by Nicole Dube the Mi'kmaq Cultural Coordinator at Fort Folly. Nicole shared a traditional Mi'kmaq blessing on the food.

After lunch, the seniors went to Fort Folly to learn about medicinal herbs and plants used by the indigenous community. The weather was not the best for outdoor pursuits given that it rained off and on. However, one group decided to take their chances and were treated to an informational walk on a medicinal trail learning about plants and trees and how they can be used. The walk ended with a very interesting visit to the sweat lodge where the significance and use of the sweat lodge was explained and many questions were asked and answered.

The other group remained on a bus and after a short presentation about medicinal herbs, ventured on to the Keillor House Museum for a tour led by Alice Folkins. Many expressed their delight in the museum indicating they have not been there before and greatly enjoyed it.

Many thanks to all who made the day wonderful - those preparing and serving the meal, the bus drivers, Nicole Dube, the Government of Canada for the grant and to Alice Folkins for organizing the day and giving the tour of Keillor House.

Keep an eye out for future events. Future events will be posted on the Rural Rides and WA Transpo Facebook pages. Follow us on Facebook so you don't miss the next event.

The Scent of Yesterday

By Gloria Scribner

For as long as I can remember, my senses became elated, joyous, comforted, lonely, despairing, or hopeful at the hint of a familiar scent. Today a bit of such nostalgia can lift me from doldrums to sweet memories as my nostrils encounter a reminiscence of "Once upon a time..." and while I often encounter tears along the way it's always well worth it. I encounter scents that no longer exist in my little world and as senses of smell dull with age in humans who have reached those borders of the land "over the hill," they have left their imprint in my mind.

I can still in reverie pick up the scent of childhood in the smell of Daddy's "Bay Rum" aftershave, Uncle Jimmy's big cigars, Mr. Kay's pipe, and Mama's Rose sachet. Scents of comfort, of love, of safety. I recall the smell of peanut butter intermingled with canvass at the return of Daddy's wagon when his summer steel hauling job was done.

I remember the smell of creosote down by the station mixed with the dank coal smell and my eardrums dance as I remember the rumbling rails, conductor's "All aboard," and nestle into the warm leather seats next to Mama as we pull away for a trip to town.

I can smell the new pages of the Eaton's catalogue, the seed catalogue, and the "Free Press Weekly" as they arrive in the mail, and that sweet smell of printers ink has held my mind enraptured since childhood.

I remember arriving home from town, with Mama holding my hand as the train pulled away from the station, Daddy would meet us with the lantern and walk us home. The house was warm and cozy as the smell of chimney smoke gave way to the kerosene lamps inside. From my little room at the top of the stairs I could imagine the smell of a deck of playing cards intermingled with serious talk and joviality, as the neighbours sat around the kitchen table, when laughter and friendship held hands.

I know the smells of freshly papered walls, the crisp white linen of the guest room that covered the feather bed. I can smell the oak and the cedar of the parlour organ after the door had been shut all week.

My mind takes me down a little country road and it's autumn, and I hear the call of wild geese flying south, and I smell the frost of the morning air, nostalgic even then, as my mind fast-forwarded to snow and ice and wonderful winter. Further down the little road I smell the chalk intermingled with deviled-ham sandwiches, of home-made bread, and as the day wears on I pick up on the smell of Velvet, my black lab, as she comes running to me from the lane.

I'm home and the doughnuts are cooking in the kitchen as I fill the woodbox, waiting for the jingle of harness and the smell of leather. Daddy crosses the kitchen, smelling of wood and pitch, and I pull off his boots beside the cot to the smell of tea on the boil, and deer meat on the table.

As I grew older and childhood days fell behind me I stored up and treasured those memories of when Mama was alive. Living in the city then brought it's own scents. Some beautiful and some sad. Some down-right scary and some whimsical. My cousin Judy and I, when about 13, decided to go window-shopping on Main Street (since we then lived on Lutz street, it was just around the corner). Though neither of us had any money, our trip to the store was still an adventure. We decided to try on the free demos of rather expensive perfumes on display at various shops. We figured if we put lots of it all over our sweaters we could go home and put them in our dresser drawers, and thus have all our clothes smelling exquisitely beautiful. Oh my! I don't know how my family stood the aroma, but perhaps they didn't know which one of us it was emanating from, so chose not to offend my cousin.

Over the years I learned to be more discriminating, but I've always held a passion for any perfume that could take me back to violet meadow, or a mayflower patch in a woodland clearing, or a lilac bush, or an apple tree in bloom. But the scent of Gardenia's captured my heart one tender night. I need only close my eyes, and I can in whole resurrect my husband's Old Spice, or my baby's Johnson's powder (and yes, newborns do smell like that without a single dusting, or maybe my nose was playing tricks on me, or my heart).

There are many worlds I may never see, many joys I may never know, but this I am sure of: England smells like roses; Canada smells like pine, and timothy, and sweet purple clover; and the seaside smells like fun and far away. And time only enhances their memories. Close your eyes. Do you remember the smell of a dollar bill? Of the shoemaker's shop where the little man in leather apron retacked the heel of your shoe? Oh how I loved that pungent aroma of leather and polish! Remember the dry cleaner's shop? Though times have changed and the smells of yesteryear exist mainly in memory, there are those today smells that are constantly barraging our nostrils and our will-power. If you doubt the latter, try walking down Mountain Road in Moncton at lunchtime on an empty stomach. Hope you're not on a diet!

Finding Comfort in the Humble Bean

By Mark and Ben Cullen

Mark Cullen is an expert gardener, author, broadcaster, tree advocate and Member of the Order of Canada. His son Ben is a fourth-generation urban gardener and graduate of University of Guelph and Dalhousie University in Halifax. Follow them at markcullen.com, @markcullengardening, and on Facebook.

It's the time of year that we start craving "comfort food".

For a lot of people, images of slow-cooked roasts and meaty stews come to mind. But for a growing number of vegetarians, vegans, and those simply seeking to limit their meat consumption, that image doesn't work.

When asked to conjure a vegetarian comfort-meal, gardeners think of bounty from the soil, not plant-based burgers or imitation turkey.

Winter squash and potatoes make an obvious starting point for dinner, but there is only one plant "food-group" that makes a protein packed meat-substitute: pulses. Of these, beans are our favorite.

Canada is the largest exporter of pulses in the world. There is a sweet spot for chickpeas in Southern Saskatchewan. With deep roots, they prefer the drier soils and cooler temperatures. Lentil production stretches into southern Manitoba while dried beans are grown mostly in Southern Ontario and Quebec where soils are richer and summers slightly hotter.

There are a lot of great environmental reasons why we should eat more pulses. First, all legumes fix nitrogen from the atmosphere, eliminating the need for synthetic nitrogen fertilizer. Environmentally, it is a lot more efficient to consume protein from plants, rather than feeding grains to livestock which are relatively inefficient at converting those calories to meat protein. According to the 2013 article Redefining agricultural yields: from tonnes to people nourished per hectare, published in environmental Research Letters <https://iopscience.iop.org/article/10.1088/1748-9326/8/3/034015/meta> (Emily S Cassidy, Paul C West, James S Gerber and Jonathan A Foley), if we shift crop calories used for animal feed to direct human consumption, the global food system could support an additional 4 billion people. Something to think about as swaths of forest are being clear-cut globally to expand agriculture production.

As a lean source of protein which is high in fiber, beans are known to reduce the risk of diabetes and heart disease by lowering cholesterol. A 2003 study by Clifford Beninger at the University of Guelph found that the darker the bean, generally more antioxidants can be found in its skin pigments - antioxidants which destroy free radicals linked to heart disease, cancer and aging. Black beans have the highest concentration followed by red, brown, yellow and white beans. <http://www.uoguelph.ca/news/archives/004020.html>

Many gardeners are starting to grow their own beans. They are a protein source that stores well, and it is a good way to get your hands on rare varieties. Two popular-but-not-quite-mainstream bean varieties are Orca beans and Thibodeau. Orcas are named for their pretty black and white contrast which makes them look like the whale, and Thibodeau is a popular heirloom from Quebec which yields well and dries down nicely on the plant.

Yield is an important consideration; many gardeners are surprised to find how much of their garden can be consumed to produce only a few pounds of beans. Remember it is dry mass, unlike tomatoes and squash which contain

From the Desk of Your MLA

Hon. Ross Wetmore, Gagetown - Petitcodiac

Our nation has a new minority government complete with all the incorporated challenges, opportunities and uncertainties. Ottawa has joined New Brunswick, P.E.I., and British Columbia in hosting a minority government situation.

I would like to commend and congratulate all the people who put their names forward for public service in our Federal Election.

A big debt of thanks is due to all those concerned Canadians who gave of their time and resources to support all the candidates in each of 338 electoral ridings across Canada.

I know as well as anyone that it takes a great team of volunteers to operate an election campaign.

Just like all past elections this one was carried out in the freedom and security we enjoy as Canadians. On November 11th I encourage one and all to attend a Remembrance Day service as we show our respect for those brave Canadians who have risked and given life and limb to keep our country safe from those who would attack our freedom and security.

With the federal election behind us we must now continue with the task of developing a sustainable future for our province and our people.

Premier Higgs has laid out a roadmap for the future of New Brunswick that focuses on key priorities and public accountability.

Later in November, another legislative session will get underway with the delivery of the Speech from the Throne. This speech will expand on the six priorities of our government which include a world-class education system, dependable public health care and an energized private sector.

My focus will be expanding the opportunities for our Agriculture, Aquaculture and Fisheries industries both outside and within our provincial boundaries.

In late October, I embarked upon my first trade mission to Korea and China. Asia is hungry for top quality fresh New Brunswick food products and I was proud to be in the company of several New Brunswick seafood businesses who are eager to increase our New Brunswick food exports.

Our province is ranked the second largest exporter of seafood in Canada with export sales totaling $1.7 billion dollars in 2018 and we can continue to grow this sector of our economy.

In our riding the road and infrastructure work continues as we hope the weather will remain cooperative. Among the projects completed and ongoing, I am glad to report paving of the first section of the 905 which will be completed in the coming days.

The major chip seal project on Route 715 in Cambridge-Narrows and Lower Cambridge is complete until 2020, then will be resealed.

Route 102 Gagetown to Queenstown final seal and striping have been completed.

Multiple areas of guard rail on Route 102 have been installed along with some culvert replacement.

Brush cutting and patching the Upper Hampstead Road has been done.

These are a few of the projects complete and ongoing and as we are all aware, there is always much more to do.

I will continue to work with my colleague Minister Oliver on the Gagetown Ferry service.

Until next month, thanks you for your continued input, support and encouragement.

St. John Ambulance Youth Group Closing

On September 25th the Annual Awards evening for the SJA Petitcodiac Youth Group was held along with their closing banquet. Several youth members received awards ranging from their first aid certificates to Proficiency Badges as high as number 12, which is needed in order for a youth member to receive their Grand Prior's Badge. Congratulation to Hayden Davis for achieving this level. Several members received their Link 1 one badges and one received a Junior Level Five Certificate and badge as well. The remaining adult members received the following awards: Donna Constantine, Officer SJA, 25,000 hours certificate; Diane Wilson, SSSJA, 17 year Bar and 12,500 hours certificate; Don Wilson and Jim Brown each received their 22 year bar. Although this was a good evening it was still a sad one. This marked the end of 15 years of St. John Ambulance Youth Group in our area. We trained many youth over the years from Emergency First Aid up to and including Medical First Responder; providing them with skills we hope they remember in their future. Through the years we had accumulated various awards from Gold and Silver in First Aid Competitions to several Youth/Cadet Division of the Year. Everyone received a Thank You Certificate from SJA HQ as well. With so many other organizations and sports groups all vying for the same night it was time to say good bye. We wish all the past Youth Group members nothing but the best in their future and remember "Believe" you can if you try. Our thanks also goes to the Petitcodiac Legion who allowed us to hold our meetings there these last two years. Sincerely, Youth Group Leaders Don, Diane and Jim.

Finished, Done, Relief that everything went as planned. The Annual Bike race in Elgin is over for another year. It will take this entire page to thank everybody that volunteered. From early morning to dark we worked hard to make these mountain bikers from all over Atlantic Canada, other provinces and the States happy. Four courses were laid out. Lots of comments after. While one of our local riders past a Moncton rider laying on a fallen tree. The guy muttered that 40km in Elgin is a lot different than 40 km in Moncton. 168 riders participated. It is still one of the most popular mountain bike events in Atlantic Canada. Of course, we like to keep that designation. It means working tirelessly on improvements for the following year. It is always easier to climb to the top than stay on the top. Sponsor support was up this year. We hope for more and new sponsors again next year. The kids' race was also a success. Changes were made to this event to accommodate all young riders. Next year a special advertising will be done to promote this event for up and coming young bicyclists. A Huge Thank you to All the volunteers and sponsors that made this event such a success.

These last couple weeks were also busy with other events. One of them was a guided tour through the Mapleton Acadian Forest Nature Preserve. Guide Idella Lazar enjoyed and guided the party of Moncton naturalist through the preserve. It took the group over 3 hours and after many went to enjoy a Turkey supper in Elgin.

In November we hold our last regular meeting of the year. November 7 our meeting will be held in the Maple Tree Café starting at 7 pm. Our Association continues to evolve, and we appreciate the time, effort and heart that everybody puts into it. On October 12 we drove to Fredericton to receive our 2019 Eco Hero Award bestowed on us by the Conservation Council of New Brunswick. It was 'The Community Leadership Award' many awards were given out that evening. Great recognition for efforts of diverse groups of citizens and individuals who continue to give their time and energy for the betterment of our environment, communities and people.

We do have a website www.eeanb.com a Facebook page Elgin Eco Association you can always call us for info at 756 2518. Our membership director is Jocelyn Steeves and she can be contacted at 756 8211.

Kayaking during the fall is also a great way to explore nature. Kayaks can be rented at the Maple Tree Café for $15 for half a day. The Mapleton Acadian trail is a gem any time of the year.

ELGIN NEWS!

A beautiful fall day was the background for another successful TURKEY SUPPER for the Elgin WI on September 28th. The number of tickets sold was up considerably from the last few years and so we are thankful for your support to enable us to continue with projects, donations and upkeep on The Hall. We also appreciate those in our community who donated food, money and time. Without you our major fundraiser would not be possible. THANK YOU!!

The lucky ticket of the quilt raffle was drawn at the Turkey Supper and the winner was Shirley Cole. Congratulations Shirley! We hope that you enjoy the beautiful quilt donated to the WI by the late Bertha Babcock. The winning ticket was drawn by a teenage volunteer.

On the heels of the Turkey Supper was the Fort Folly Salmon Release event which was carried out from The Hall here in Elgin. We were pleased to cater to the official ceremony and welcome many to our community.

While activities at The Hall are winding down for the winter months, we will continue our monthly meetings at The Maple Tree Café at 7 pm on the third Thursday of each month. We often feature a special speaker or activity so please consider checking out a meeting or two to be better acquainted with WI. Next Meeting is November 21.

Did you know?....."Prior to 1929, women in Canada were not considered 'persons' - at least not in the fullest legal sense of the word. The Famous Five petitioned the one authority higher than the Supreme Court of Canada - the Privy Council in England - to rule on the matter." "...the Privy Council said that yes women were indeed persons....". (The Famous Five include Emily Murphy, Nellie McClung, Irene Parlby, Louise McKinney and Henrietta Muir Edwards.)

Comedy at Large

Flatulence is a natural body function, however the ensuing vapors are always most unwelcomed by innocent bystanders ! Such was the case of a retired truck driver in England who belonged to a social club. He was, er...rip-rimanded for passing wind too often and too noisily within the confines of the establishment. The president of the administrative committee insisted that when an attack was imminent, he should step outside at once. The man insisted that it always took him by surprise with no warning, therefore, no time to make a bee line for outdoors. The president told him that many of the complainants reported that he would often lift up off of his chair and let fly ! It was even reported that some people came armed with a deodorant spray bomb to combat the odors. The accused promised to deal with it when he was warned that his membership may be revoked. Well the last straw came one day, when he fired off 3 or 4 volleys as a group of ladies came through the front door for a dart tournament ! They were brought to tears as they walked through the fog bank ! He claimed it as collateral damage. The management claimed it as the end of his membership. It had just er.....exhausted !

In the classified in a U.S. paper....home made waterfalls for your back yard. Well built. Comes in 3 sections. Asking $ 225.00 obo (water not included) -- It would have been tempting for someone to call and say " you throw in the water and I'm a buyer ! "

Fish, like people, can suffer from insomnia but not from athlete's foot. hmmm.... could they possibly get er....fin-flu ?

Thought for the day - Forward motion isn't necessarily good if you're going down hill and you have no binders !

Remembrance Day
November 11

Lest I Forget

Another cold november day
To ponder, pause, and rue the fray
Just lads, we put our toys away
(At dawns first beam)
By train, and ship, to battlefield
Determine ne'er a whispered "yeild"
We our country's honour sheild
(Or do I dream)
The infantry keeps up the pace
I wipe his blood from off my face
And once again take up my place
(The muddy trench)
My rifle, heavy, ready aimed
We comrades scan the hill again
Pick up the dead, encourage maimed
(Endure the stench)
We follow orders to the letter
Soon, we pray, it will get better
Days turn into weeks. No fetter -
(Could have been as cruel)
Or, so we thought, as brothers died
And wounded lay on every side
It's too late now to run and hide
(Or play the fool)
We'll spare the world a darker fate
A sad existance ruled by hate
We'll not succomb to evil's bait
(While mothers pray)
We rise and fall and rise again
We clamor, plan, some go insane
Depressed, we dare to dream again
("Hope rules the day")
Through months and years, consistently
We rise, defeat the enemy

And homeward limp victoriously
(With different eyes)
We think of comrades we have lost
We shed a tear and count the cost
And brave the chill November frost
(Neath somber skies)
By cenotaph - for every year
Old soldier's ghosts stand silent here
Then one by one they disappear
(Age takes its toll)
We're home at last, no more to part
No "laud of throngs",
no "purple heart"
Just loyalty on every part
(God called the roll)
But wars will never cease for long
Oppression sees to that, though wrong!
We must pick up the battle song
(And follow those)
Who held the torch and boldly went.
No mother's son will be content
Nor woman, bearing arms, consent
(But all oppose)
Those bullying one's fellow man
By inhumanity to man
Through greed, and fear,
and endless sham
(And evil cost)
In streets and airwaves, minds of fools
Selfish takers breaking rules
Barbarians with modern tools
("And no love lost")
But someday wars will cease to be
Old soldiers can rest easily

Lest we forget

In Flanders Fields

by John McCrae

In Flanders Fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row
That mark our place, and in the sky
The larks, still bravely saying, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.
We are Dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow.
Loved, and were loved, and now we be
In Flanders Fields.
Take up our quarrel with the foe
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep,
though poppies grow
In Flanders Fields.

Poppy, Poppy what do you say?
Wear me on Remembrance Day.

Poppy, poppy what do you tell?
Many Soldiers in battle fell.

Poppy, poppy what should we know?
That peace on earth should Grow, grow, grow!

Finding Comfort in the Humble Bean

a lot of water. The other challenge is “shelling”. Most home growers we talk to shell them by hand into a bucket. If you’re thinking of growing your own beans next season, order unique varieties or start with the dried beans you have in your cupboard. Beans are seeds, after all. Farmers usually wait until early June to sow bean seeds - they mature more quickly than corn and perform best in rich, well drained soil at a temperature of 15oC plus. If the thought of shelling beans by hand sounds like too much work - which frankly, it even does to us - Ben has started up a business to help you out. Cullen’s Foods has produced three different kinds of beans; red, white and black. They are available in a growing number of grocery stores, all Ontario grown and certified organic. Input the code printed on the package label and you will be introduced to the farmer who grew your beans. Learn more at www.cullensfoods.com.

Mother Nature's Chain Saw
by Laurie Blanchard

Many years ago, when I was a hunter, it was early in November and all was silent other than the odd chirp from a blue jay or a moose bird. The sun was shining accompanied by a fairly stiff breeze. I was sitting on an old stump out in the woods listening and watching for deer. As I enjoyed the peace and quiet, I could detect a sound that could have passed as someone sawing wood with a bucksaw and it seemed to be nearby. I got up and walked towards the mysterious noise then looked upward and much to my surprise, discovered the source. Over a period of time and happening at that very moment, 2 or 3 large branches swaying in the wind were slowly cutting through this old dead tree! My thoughts at the time....what are the odds of seeing such an occurrence in one's life time? Fortunately, I had my camera in the back pack. This was Mother Nature's chain saw, although much slower, gradually working to fell the tree to it's final resting place on the forest floor. How amazing is that ??

One could almost surmise that nature was the erbranch manager (pun intended of course)

Linda Mullins
1946 - 2019

It is with heavy hearts and great sadness that we announce the passing of our dear wife, mother and grandmother, Linda Mullins, on the morning of Monday, September 23, 2019 at the Moncton Hospital after a brief illness.

Linda was born in Moncton, on March 5, 1946 and spent her entire childhood growing up with 4 younger sisters on the family dairy farm in Salisbury, NB. After finishing high school in Salisbury, she worked at Eaton's in the mail room with many of her graduating friends. Her classmates described her in their yearbook as "Small, but Mighty", which could not have been more accurate. Through mutual friends, she met her future husband, Ronald Mullins and they were married on December 16, 1967. They would make two small moves within Moncton, before finally finding their dream piece of property in 1977 and building a home on the McFarlane Road in Berry Mills, where they have resided for the past 41 years.

Linda remained at Eaton's until 1976, when her son was born. A daughter would follow in 1977 and she would remain a proud stay-at-home mother, while taking night courses in accounting and book keeping. In 1994, she would begin working at accounting and running the office for Winning Ways health food store, until she retired in 2001.

Linda was a "doer" and a "fixer". There was nothing that she would not tackle, from figuring out some obscure knitting pattern to fixing the lawnmower. She had many hobbies that included gardening, both vegetables and flowers, knitting sweaters, dishcloths, socks, hats, mittens and anything else that she put her mind to for all her children and grandchildren. She mended and fixed all our clothes and as a young woman, she sewed many of her sister's dresses, including wedding and bridesmaid dresses. There was nothing that Linda could not figure out. She worked beside her husband in everything they did, whether it was beekeeping, cutting firewood or raising chickens and pheasants on their property.

Linda loved a good cup of tea, early morning Sudoku, walking in the woods, berry picking and cooking Sunday dinners every week for her family. She instilled family values, life skills and even survival skills to her children and her grandchildren.

Her place of solace over the past 8 years was to go to their trailer in St. Martin's, NB. Many hours were spent talking, laughing and walking on the beach with her children, grandchildren, family and friends.

Linda is survived by her husband of 52 years, Ronald Mullins; children, Kevin Mullins (Dorothy Harris), Erin Klinghammer (Ted); grandchildren, Riley Mullins, Cole Mullins, Eden Klinghammer; sisters, Gwen Killam (Stewart), Janice MacCallum (Luther), Vicki Keating (Terry), Jeanne Mulford (Dave); many nieces and nephews.

Linda was predeceased by her parents, Evan and Ruth (Wortman) O'Blenes and her parents-in-law, Ed and Mildred Mullins.

Linda rested at Salisbury Funeral Home (372-4800) from where visitation took place on Thursday, September 26, from 2-4 and 7-9 pm. Funeral Service was held at the Salisbury Funeral Home Chapel on Friday, September 27, at 3 pm with Pastor John Tremblett officiating. Interment followed at Pine Hill Cemetery, Salisbury, NB

If desired, memorials to Friends of the Moncton Hospital (Neuro Sciences Unit) or Pine Hill Cemetery.

Special thanks to the Jordan Lifecare Centre for taking such great care of Lois and her family.

There was a Committal Service held at St. Joseph's Cemetery in Saint John on Friday, October 11, 2019 at 1 pm with Fr. Ken Weir officiating.

Salisbury Petitcodiac Basketball joins forces with Jr. NBA/Basketball Canada

Salisbury Petitcodiac Minor Basketball is looking forward to another great year of ball! We have had a significant increase in registration this year, which is fantastic!

That doesn't come without some pain points and learning opportunities. We have an amazing challenge, such as finding gym time to accommodate all our teams and developing and continuing to evolve and improve the program. What a wonderful problem we have, as our areas population grows, so does the love of this great sport. It is important that we provide opportunities for our youth for healthy active lifestyles. If these opportunities are not available to youth, they lead to unhealthy adults which is a strain on our healthcare system. More importantly we need to develop our youth and provide them with opportunities to be active and have fun.

As you can imagine, with more than 130 kids in the program this year and growing by 50 more children playing basketball in our area our gyms are thriving, full and difficult to find gym time. The good news is, we live and play in a great community, so with the help of Salisbury Parks & Leisure, the local schools and Salisbury Baptist Church, we are providing opportunities for our youth.

As we grow Salisbury Petitcodiac Minor Basketball, has joined forces with Basketball Canada and Jr NBA to further develop the sport in our area adding to our already strong partnership with Basketball New Brunswick. The objective of the JR NBA/Basketball Canada program aligns with ours, with a focus on Participation, Education, Development, Progression and Character Building. This will strengthen the development and support of our coaches and volunteers, and will develop fundamental skills, sportsmanship and a love of the game of basketball for our youth. In speaking with other associations across Canada who have joined this program, Association President Rob Campbell indicated "As we explored the Jr NBA/Basketball Canada program, the phenomenal feedback we received from other associations across Canada, their teams and players made the decision easy. We are excited to continue to provide the Salisbury Petitcodiac area children with the best development opportunities available to them and are proud to join the best development program in Canada."

Practices are underway and the excitement is building as our teams gear up for their first games of the season in early November. Our youth are showing passion for the sport, so we think it is safe to say, you can bank on another fantastic year ahead for Salisbury Petitcodiac Minor Basketball.

On a final note, we'd like to thank the community for their continued support. We have had two successful fundraising opportunities in our area, at Petitcodiac Super Variety and Sandy's Independent Grocer. The funds we are raising will help continue grow the program, put our coaches through training certification programs, and add additional equipment for our kids to train with and develop their skills.

It takes a community to develop our youth, and our program growth and success. It's pretty clear we live in an amazing area with incredible people that care about providing opportunities for our youth. Thank You!

For more information on our minor basketball program contact us at info@salisburybasketball.ca
