Petitcodiac Arena To Host The 2013 RBC Moncton Wildcats Skills Competition

Petitcodiac/Salisbury Minor Hockey has won the rights to host the 2013 RBC Moncton Wildcats Skills Competition! The Wildcats launched their second voting competition on their Facebook site. There were ten local area associations involved with the winning association getting the right to host it at their home rink! This year Petitcodiac/Salisbury has won with 1349 votes beating Riverview by only 29 votes (unofficial count). Riverview was a close second with 1320 votes.

The event will take place at the Petitcodiac Arena in Petitcodiac on January 13th 2013. All proceeds from the event will go to Petitcodiac/Salisbury Minor Hockey. The Wildcats will arrive on-site at 4pm-6pm and will be available for Autographs before they go on the ice. RBC will be on site with an interactive place for kids to practice their shot accuracy in the lobby.

Last year the Wildcats split into two teams, Team White/Team Red and they participated in 7 on-ice games which included:

Fastest Skater
Shot Accuracy
Rapid Fire
Puck Control
Hardest Shot
Shoot Out
Relay Race

Last year Sackville Minor Hockey won and the Wildcats traveled to the Tantramar Civic Center in Sackville and did the competition as well as spent time with the kids, signed autographs and practiced their shot off the ice. It's still unsure if the same will go on at this years competition but none the less it will be a great night. So make sure you mark your calendars and we encourage everyone to come out and be a part of the fun. Lets show the Wildcats our small town hockey spirit!

2013 RBC MONCTON WILDCATS SKILLS COMPETITION

The Minor Hockey Association who receives the most votes will win the rights to host the 2013 RBC Moncton Wildcats Skills Competition at your arena!

Great fundraising opportunity! Contest runs November 1st to November 30th.

SALISBURY LEGION HONOURS ITS MEMEBERS

Salisbury Legion Branch 31 held its annual Remembrance Day supper in the evening of November 11th. The supper was very well attended, as were the church and Cenitaph Services during the morning, where Richard Smith, assisted by RCMP Constable Ryan Lewis, laid the wreath on behalf of MP Rob Moore. MLA Sherry Wilson laid a wreath on behalf of Premier David Alward.

Guest speaker for the evening event was LT. Commander Andrew (Andy) Goggin, Royal Canadian navy, who spoke proudly of Canada in various world conflicts dating back to the War of 1812. Warrant Officer Derek Haley, home on special leave from Afghanistan, also attended the supper and, to the surprise of both officers' parents, Andy Goggin told about the day that he and Derek had jugged school from JMA High school in Salisbury and signed up for the forces; that was 25 years ago.

That evening, the following Salisbury Legion members were honoured with pins and medals from Salisbury Legion President, Theresa Gogan:

Associate – 25 Years – Brenda Lewis; Jim Little; Gayle Little; Sandy Wilson; June Wilson

Associate – 30 Years – Sharon Bowbrick-Colpitts; Rose Marie Taylor; Robert Weir; Hazel Cochrane; Harrison Lewis; Norma Mckay

Associate – 35 Years – Harold Gaines; Marlene McKerele

Associate – 40 Years – Barb Robb; Orlo Wheaton

Ordinary – 30 Years – Leonard Gogan
 Ordinary – 35 Years – A.D. Austin; Fern Stoneham; Tom Taylor

Ordinary – 40 Years – Don Wilson
 Ordinary – 45 Years – Harold Crandall; Gary Renton

Ordinary – 60 Years – Fred Douthwright; John Wortman

50 – Year – Medal and Pin – Aubrey McCormick

Past Officer's Medal and Secretary Bar – Dave Challes

Past officer's Medal – Margaret Challes
 Second Vice Bar and Treasurer's Bar – Bernie MacNamara

Elgin W.I. Christmas Party

The annual Christmas Party of the Elgin W.I. was held at the residence of Winona and Ernest McLean of Pleasant Vale, New Brunswick. President Hazelanna Carter welcomed everyone present. 16 people were present. A pot luck supper was enjoyed by all. Following supper a Yankee swap was lots of fun. Two games were held which brought a lot of action and fun. The highlight of the evening was to find out who the lucky winner of the Mystery Basket was. Mrs Bertha Babcock of Elgin was the lucky name drawn. Congratulations Bertha. The W.I. would like to thank everyone who supported this fund raiser. Merry Christmas Everyone and a Happy New Year. Thanks so much to the McLean Family for hosting the party.

Eleven Days Before Christmas 2012

T'was 11 days before Christmas, around 9:38
when 20 beautiful children stormed through heaven's gate.
Their smiles were contagious, their laughter filled the air.
They could hardly believe all the beauty they saw there.
They were filled with such joy, they didn't know what to say.
They remembered nothing of what had happened earlier that day.
"Where are we?" asked a little girl,
as quiet as a mouse.
"This is heaven." declared a small boy.
"We're spending Christmas at God's house."
When what to their wondering eyes did appear,
but Jesus, their savior, the children gathered near.
He looked at them and smiled, and they smiled just the same,
Then He opened His arms and He called them by name
and in that moment was joy, that only heaven can bring.
Those children all flew into the arms of their King
and as they lingered in the warmth of
His embrace
One small girl turned and looked at Jesus' face
and as if He could read all the questions she had
He gently whispered to her, "I'll take care of mom and dad."
then He looked down on earth, the world far below
He saw all of the hurt, the sorrow, and woe
then He closed His eyes and He outstretched His hand,
"Let My power and presence re-enter this land!"
"May this country be delivered from the hands of fools"
"I'm taking back my nation? I'm taking back my schools!"
Then He and the children stood up without a sound.
"Come now my children, let me show you around."
Excitement filled the space, some skipped and some ran,
all displaying enthusiasm that only a small child can.
I heard Him proclaim as He walked out of sight,
"in the midst of this darkness, I AM STILL THE LIGHT."

The Winter Boots

(Anyone who has ever dressed a child will love this)

Did you hear about the teacher who was helping one of her reception class pupils put on his boots?

He asked for help and she could see why.

Even with her pulling and him pushing, the little boots still didn't want to go on.

By the time they got the second boot on, she had worked up a sweat.

She almost cried when the little boy said, 'Teacher, they're on the wrong feet.'

She looked, and sure enough, they were.

It wasn't any easier pulling the boots off than it was putting them on.

She managed to keep her cool as, together, they worked to get the boots back on, this time on the correct feet.

He then announced, 'These aren't my boots.'

She bit her tongue, rather than get right in his face and scream, 'Why didn't you say so?' like she wanted to.

Once again she struggled to help him pull the ill-fitting boots off his little feet.

No sooner had they got the boots off when he said, 'They're my brother's boots. My Mum made me wear 'em.'

Now she didn't know if she should laugh or cry.

But she mustered up what grace and courage she had left to wrestle the boots on his feet again.

Helping him into his coat, she asked, 'Now, where are your mittens?'

He said, 'I stuffed 'em in the toes of my boots.'

Fun Facts About Pets

Tidbits of Trivia You Might Not Have Known

Fun Facts About Dogs

- Dogs only sweat from the bottoms of their feet, the only way they can discharge heat is by panting.
- Dogs have about 100 different facial expressions, most of them made with the ears.
- Dogs have about 10 vocal sounds.
- Dogs do not have an appendix.
- There are more than 350 different breeds of dogs worldwide.
- Dalmatians are born spotless: at first pure white, their spots develop as they age.
- Contrary to popular belief, dogs aren't color blind; they can see shades of blue, yellow, green and gray. The color red registers on a grayscale in a dog's vision.
- Most domestic dogs are capable of reaching speeds up to about nineteen miles per hour when running at full speed.
- Using their swiveling ears like radar dishes, experiments have shown that dogs can locate the source of a sound in 6/100ths of a second.
- Domesticated for more than 10,000 years, the dog was one of the first animals domesticated by humans.

Fun Feline Facts

- Cats do not have sweat glands.
- A cat can jump as much as seven times its height.
- Cats have five toes on each front paw, but only four toes on each back paw.
- Cats have over one hundred vocal sounds, while dogs only have about ten.
- A pack of kittens is called a kindle, while a pack of adult cats is called a clowder.
- An adult cat can run about 12 miles per hour, and can sprint at nearly thirty miles per hour.
- A cat's tongue is scratchy because it's lined with papillae—tiny elevated backwards hooks that help to hold prey in place.
- The nose pad of each cat has ridges in a unique pattern not unlike a person's fingerprints.
- Cats' bodies are extremely flexible; the cat skeleton contains more than 230 bones (a human has about 206), and the pelvis and shoulders loosely attach to the spine. This adds to their flexibility and allows them to fit through very small spaces.
- Cats have better memories than dogs. Tests conducted by the University of Michigan concluded that while a dog's memory lasts no more than 5 minutes, a cat's can last as long as 16 hours—exceeding even that of monkeys and orangutans.

Fun Facts About Avians and Exotic Pets

- To survive, every bird must eat at least half its own weight in food each day.
- A bird's heart beats 400 times per minute while they are resting.
- Americans own more than 60 million pet birds.
- Larger parrots such as the macaws and cockatoos live more than 75 years.
- Many hamsters only blink one eye at a time.
- Armadillos have four babies at a time and they are always all the same sex. They are also the only animal besides humans that can get leprosy.
- Iguanas are able to hold their breath for up to 30 minutes.
- A garter snake can give birth to 85 babies.
- Ferrets are currently the third most popular pet in the US. There are an estimated eight to ten million ferrets in the United States being kept as pets.
- A goldfish can live up to 40 years.

New Brunswick All-Terrain Vehicle Federation pleased with Government action on ATV issues

December 4, 2012

FREDERICTON – The New Brunswick All-Terrain Vehicle Federation (NBATVF) is pleased that the Alward Government is taking action to strengthen the sustainability of New Brunswick's growing all-terrain vehicle industry and sport.

The recent Government announcement that all-terrain vehicle permits will be required on all ATV managed trails in the province, effective January 1, 2013, is a major step forward in this regard.

"Now that we have established managed trails and numerous trails that have been identified and/or being developed in all seven Federation regions of the province, complete with mapping, a mandatory trail permit system will help secure the human and financial resources our clubs need to continue to build and maintain the ATV trail system in the province" said NBATVF President, Daniel Boucher. "I believe this initiative will greatly benefit our volunteer club members who have worked very hard over the years to build this network."

At the present time, the NBATVF has 56 clubs and over 9000 members. A three-season (spring, summer and fall) trail permit will cost $25 and an annual permit will cost $75. The higher amount for the annual permit is required in order to cover the major costs associated with trail grooming in the winter time.

"We believe an enhanced ATV trail system will boost New Brunswick's tourism potential by attracting ATV enthusiasts from neighbouring provinces, from other provinces and from the northeastern U.S.," added Boucher. "New Brunswick has much to offer the ATV rider in terms of clean air, pristine lakes, beautiful natural spaces, abundant wildlife and magnificent vistas. We believe this is an excellent step toward building and maintaining a better, safer and more sustainable managed trail network for present and future generations of ATV users."

Preventing Sugar Bellies at Christmas and 2013

"Look at that beer belly!" is an often heard remark. But are beer drinkers getting a bad rap? There's good evidence that may be the case as some beers contain a mere 60 calories. This is why a recent study from the Harvard Medical School says it's about time we renamed this problem, the "Sugar Belly". So can you fight this universal problem during the holidays?

Vasanti Malik, a researcher at The Harvard School of Public Health in Boston, reports in Nutrition Action Health Letter that the average North American consumes at least 15 teaspoons of sugar daily. This is mostly from sucrose (table sugar), fructose and glucose. Malik says these calories are contributing to the sugar belly.

It's not just men who develop spare tires. Malik tracked 50,000 women for four years. She found that weight gain was greatest (about 19 pounds) when these women went from drinking one sugar-sweetened drink a week to one a day.

Kimber Stanhope at the University of California also showed that when comparable groups of people were given 25 percent of their calories in either fructose or glucose, there was an increase in belly fat in those given fructose. It's this fat that's linked to heart disease, rather than fat just below the surface of the skin.

These are not isolated findings. A Danish study showed that when people were given three 12-ounce cans of sugar-sweetened drinks daily for several months this increased bad cholesterol and triglycerides, and decreased good cholesterol. In addition, the amount of liver fat doubled. This is a sad commentary on our lifestyle that even young children are now developing fatty degeneration of the liver.

Belly fat triggers a vicious cycle of events. Insulin resistance develops as obesity increases, making it harder for insulin to push sugar into cells. This increases blood sugar and sets the stage for Type 2 diabetes and all its serious complications. Today Type 2 diabetes has become an epidemic of unparalleled proportions affecting five percent of the population. But remember that belly fat, although it's often due to sugary drinks, is also related to too many calories of all kinds.

So how can you fight the sugar belly this holiday season and in 2013? You must consume fewer calories than you burn up. To help you do this there's "The Ultimate Starch and Fat Blocker", a natural remedy that claims it's possible to have your cake and eat it too.

This may sound too good to be true, but there is science behind this claim. The ingredient in this case is an extract of the white bean that decreases the absorption of starches. Starch is a form of carbohydrate present in potatoes, pasta and bread.

During the process of digestion our bodies convert carbohydrates into sugar. The sugar is then used for energy or stored as fat. The Ultimate Starch and Fat Blocker slows down this process so there's less breakdown of starch into sugar. This allows part of the food to pass through the intestines before it can be converted into sugar and then fat so fewer calories are absorbed. Fortunately, this physiological process does not affect the digestion of healthy carbohydrates such as whole grains and fruits.

Studies show that this natural remedy blocks over 50 percent of calories from starches and 30 percent from fats. It also decreases carbohydrate and sugar cravings and has a positive effect on cholesterol blood levels.

I realize it's hard not to cheat over the holidays, but the Ultimate Starch and Fat Blocker can at least help to keep weight under control. Then, according to The Journal of International Research, those who use this remedy during 2013 can lose 6.45 pounds a month. That's over 72 pounds a year! It's available at Health Food Stores.

The usual dose is two to three capsules at the start of a meal and it is well tolerated. Only a few complain of gas and diarrhea. And remember, this remedy should not be used as a substitute for healthy eating.

My best wishes to all for a happy, safe and healthy holiday season.

Everyday People

Submitted by Sheila Boissonneault

Down the Sanatorium Road in the town of River Glade there is an attractive Nursing Home called The Jordan; but this place wasn't always a "Life Care Center." In the 1913 The Jordan Memorial San was opened. It was during the days when "consumption" or Tuberculosis impacted the health of many lives and families and the doctors could only watch their patients slowing dying knowing that their family members and friends would probably also be infected with this disease. A group of people called The National Association of Sanatoriums began to build sanatoriums across Canada, one of these was The Jordan. These Sans showed the value of fresh air and sunshine, good nutrition, and isolation to prevent the spread of the disease. Many people were cured.

During that time a young woman living in the Newcastle area decided she wanted to go to Fredericton where her sister worked and apply for a job as a maid in a private home. Jessie Arbeau took the bus, and on it she met a girl her age going to apply for a job at the same home. They both secured a job. The family was a large one with college students, who boarded there. She worked hard making meals for the family and the student boarders. She didn't have problems with the children, but they also kept her busy. The girl she met on the bus quit, and another took her place. This girl helped herself to Jessie's clothes and even her comb and lipstick. But Jessie never complained, she did however get rundown and took to her bed, her friends decided to call the hospital. She had pneumonia and it was discovered that the girl she lived with had TB. So she was sent home to her mother's to wait for a bed in the Sanitarium in River Glade. Her mother saw that she wasn't feeling well, the doctor was called and he knew that she had to get to the San quickly. He told her mother to get her ready and he would pick her up and take her to River Glade. Her mother put a blanket on the back seat of his car and managed to get her in, because the doctor and his wife stayed in the front seat, obviously afraid to have contact with her. On the way she heard the wife tell the doctor that he should take Jessie's temperature, he replied,

"Why she's going to die anyway."

She thought to herself, oh no I'm not, I'll show you.

When they arrived the doctor just dropped her off and left her to find her way into the San. A caring man came by and got her a wheel chair.

Life in the sanatorium was comfortable, like a big family. There were a lot of young people and the staff tried to make life easier for them. Jessie needed back surgery, but it was 1942 during the war so she must wait.

In this time period of time she met her future husband Burt. They used to talk to each other out the window and send notes to each other by way of the orderly's. One night Burt helped to pass out water so he got to meet the girl he was passing notes too. After that he spent most of his time with her helping with her care. There was another man who had eyes for her but she had no interest in him.

After the war she had her surgery, 8 hours long, they replaced two vertebrae and put her into a body cast. She was ready to go home. Her family came for her, she now was able to get up and walk. A nurse came to her home, and she let Jessie take her own temperature, knowing that she had done so in the San. Jessie noted that her temperature was going up, but she didn't say so. One night it was really high so she told the nurse, she told her she held back because she wanted out of the cast. But no, she had to return to the San; she had TB in her spine. She was totally bedridden and in a cast for five years and in a Stryker bed which turned her over.

Burt was on hand to help with her care.

It was hard of course, but the staff did their best to make life easier for them. Christmas was a happy time, mainly because of the superintendent Miss Gorman. Everybody loved her. She saw to it that everyone got a gift. One summer Jessie helped her to get the gifts ready.

Come Christmas a big party was planned and the whole community was invited. The party was held in the big living room. The night watchman played Santa and all the visiting children got gifts. They sang Christmas songs, played games and ate cookies. It was a wonderful time, that's how good they cared for the patients at the San.

One Christmas when the staff was giving out gifts, Burt, and the other fellow gave Jessie the same gift, a brush and mirror set. She kept Burt's and she has it to this day.

Jessie and Burt married in 1948; in 1952 Jessie gave birth to a son. She had a hard labor and was very sick so her sister came to help her. When her son was seven she began to work at the Jordan, becoming a part of the caring staff. She worked with the children.

Jessie's Burt had a massive heart attack at the age of 74. Jessie carried on alone. She was the clerk at The Glades Baptist Church and she was involved many women's ministries. Just this year Jessie's family wanted her to move near to them so she put her house up for sale and moved.

The church gave her a going away party, happy for her yet sad to see her go.

Jessie said, "You have to be strong, even if you're not."

I think she proved that to be true.

News From The Maritime Motorsports Hall Of Fame

ROBERT (Bob) ALCORN
Inducted November 14, 2009

Competitor in Snowmobile Racing.
"Bob Alcorn was the Big Winner"
In 1978 Bob was inducted into the Arctic Circle Club.
He won the Buckingham Memorial Trophy for Most Sportsmanlike Competitor in 1979.

In February of 1980 at the Ponderosa Pines in Lower Cape, Albert County, NB Bob copped three first and three second place finishes.

In 1980 and '81 Bob's arctic Cat snowmobile finished first in most of the races he competed in.

In the 1982 season there were 138 snowmobile entries and Bob Alcorn was the Grand Winner.

In February 1983 Snowmobile entries topped the 240 mark in the two-day Moosehead-Alpine Grand Prix held in Bathurst, on the weekend in conjunction with their annual Bathurst Winter Carnival. Bob successfully defended his '82 title as the top points getter in the sprint oval classes. His Arctic Cat machine made him "Top Dog" both Saturday and Sunday.

In 1984 he was the Champion of the Maritime Snowmobile Racing Federation for oval racing.

He continued his winning ways in 1985.

In February 1989 he received the Red Buckingham Trophy for Most Sportsmanlike Driver in the Maritime Races in Woodstock.

It seems that Bob won Snowmobile races where ever he raced.

In 1991 at John's Sports & Automotive he received the Arctic Cat Circle of Excellence Award from Eastern Marketing Ltd., Canada's Arctic Cat Distributors.

Bob was presented with his Induction Plaque by Brad McCabe, a Lifetime Member of the Maritime Motorsports Hall Of Fame.

There was much turbulence on today's New York stock exchange.....
Scott Paper has reached a new bottom. Pencils are up to 100 points. Feathers are down. Shares in helicopters Inc. are hovering at the break-even point. Kellogg's is in a bit of a crunch. Their proposed merger with Nabisco wasn't sweet as anticipated. It was basically a milked down offer. Maytag is awash in market speculation. The C.E.O won't come clean on charges of inside trading. Consolidated Meats have recorded deep cuts on shareholder's dividends. They are hoping to beef up their portfolio of mutual funds. No bones about it! Portable Johns Ltd. has raised a big stink amongst their shareholder. Hey have withheld all further deposits. Market analysts are browned off with this scenario and feel it is very unpopular.

In other developments....
Associated Plumb Bob shares are maintaining a common level. Delicatesen Meats Corporation were down 16.5% in the number of shares trades. They are at their *wurst! In shore Fish Farms are floundering or so we've been herring. They are on the hook for heavy losses. Panty hose manufacturing is running at an all time low, however, they hope to get matters under foot.

Casino bonds are dicey. Underground ore mining has hit rock bottom. Member of its board of directors are unanimous that they must get a bit more boulder in their marketing strategies.

Gold course Designer Group are content to have their shares trading at par, however shareholders are said to be teed off during a month of stagnation and are hoping to see an upswing in global trading. In the meantime, they're going clubbing.

Columbian coffee rallied briefly on today's market but ended the session by losing ground. They are perked for an immediate recovery.

Dog Groomers Inc. ended the session down 28 point after shedding an early 80 point gain. Market speculators are adamant they are barking up the wrong tree. They are having a ruff time! Parachutes Affiliated opened the session with a breeze but quickly fell 30 points by mid-day, then, dropped a further 12 points by market close. Transcontinental pumps surged to a record gain but by days end, a poor showing saw their financial tide drain into oblivion. Overhead Doors Corp. were up slightly but got off track as the day progressed and closed at a loss.

All Star Dehumidifier shares were dampened by a cloudy corporate climate.

A worldwide mountain climbing equipment manufacturer, Everest Holding, is set to peak in market shares. Their rapid ascent to the top of the corporate world has been bolstered by strong values and further enhanced with a strong grip on good marketing strategies. The Manufacturers of Exlax report a slight drop in market value due to a slow economic indicator. Sales are a bit behind last year's figures; however, an optimistic financial outlook should maintain their regularity! The Acme Cosmetics Group have showed strong face in spite of aggressive competition, which at times, have gotten under their skin. After a strong showing on today's NYSE, they are advising all others in this market to take a powder! Adidas has an early 52 point gain today on the Toronto stock exchange but low market values overseas has prompted board Viagra was up to 10 points at market close despite some stiff competition. A strong economic forecast to year's end will see them rise above projected levels.
