physician to conduct examinations, assess vitals, or acquire specimens for further testing.

Lawson says the system is most commonly used for initial consultations or follow-up appointments after surgery and would be of particular value to patients at Children's Hospital, the Toronto Sick Children's Hospital.

"Some of our users are patients of the IWK Genetics lab, who wish to do genetic testing for breast cancer, or plastic surgery patients who must be seen every three months or so," she notes. "We do rehabilitation sessions with the St. Cassidy Centre for Rehabilitation in Fredericton, appointments with organ transplant specialists in Ontario, or general surgery follow-ups."

The service also benefits employees at the Albert County Health and Wellness Centre and other site facilities who use it for educational events and meetings, saving the travel to Moncton or further afield. Physicians at The Moncton Hospital use it to consult with colleagues, and for education sessions.

Unfortunately, many doctors don't know it exists, so it is often up to the patient to ask. Lawson hopes that eventually more will take advantage of the service, but for now, she encourages patients to ask their physicians if video conferencing is an option for them. "Right now, people might travel to Moncton on a regular basis for a 10 or 15 minute appointment with a specialist."

Sleeves feels fortunate to have such a valuable service in his rural community and wishes more people knew about it. "If it became more commonplace - especially to access specialists from outside our region - it could save people and the healthcare system so much money."

About Telehealth
Telehealth is a few video-conferencing services connecting patients with physicians located in other cities, provinces or outside the country. It is coordinated through the Horizon Health Network. The southeast New Brunswick region has facilities in Moncton, Riverside-Albert, Sackville, Petitoide, and Rexton.

Earth Day is on Tuesday, April 22, 2014.

Earth Day is a day that is intended to inspire awareness and appreciation for the Earth's natural environment. Earth Day was founded by United States Senator Gaylord Nelson as an environmental teach-in first held on April 22, 1970. While this first Earth Day was focused on the United States, an organization launched by Denis Hayes, who was the original national coordinator in 1970, took it international in 1990 and organized events in 141 nations.

Earth Day is now coordinated globally by the Earth Day Network, and is celebrated in more than 175 countries every year. April 22 corresponds to spring in the Northern Hemisphere and autumn in the Southern Hemisphere. Numerous communities celebrate Earth Week, an entire week of activities focused on environmental issues. World Environment Day, celebrated on June 5 in a different nation every year, remains the principal United Nations environmental observance. (From: Wikipedia)

The Therapeutic & Health Benefits of Pets

How pets can improve mood and health While most pet owners are clear about the immediate joys that come with owning their lives with pets, many of the many benefits of the physical and mental health benefits that can also accompany the pleasure of playing with or snuggling up to a furry friend. It's only recently that studies have begun to scientifically explore the benefits of the human-animal bond. The American Heart Association has linked the ownership of pets, especially dogs, with a reduced risk for heart disease and greater longevity.

Studies have also found that:

Pet owners are less likely to suffer from depression than those without pets. People with pets have lower blood pressure in stressful situations than those without pets.

Playing with a pet can elevate levels of serotonin and dopamine, which calm and relax.

Pet owners have lower triglyceride and cholesterol levels (indicators of heart disease) than those without pets.

Heart attack patients with pets survive longer than those without.

Pet owners over age 65 make 30 percent fewer visits to their doctors than those without pets.

How pets can help you make healthy lifestyle changes

Adopting healthy lifestyle changes can play an important role in easing symptoms of depression, stress, bipolar disorder, PTSD, and anxiety. Caring for a pet can help with those healthy lifestyle changes by:

Increasing exercise. Exercise doesn't have to involve boring repetition at a gym.

Taking a dog for a walk, riding a horse, or simply chasing a kitten around are fun ways to fit healthy daily exercise into your schedule. Studies have shown that dog owners, for example, are far more likely to meet their daily exercise requirements than non-owners.

Providing companionship. Isolation and loneliness can make disorders such as depression even worse. Caring for a living animal can help make you feel needed and wanted, and take the focus away from your problems, especially if you live alone. Most pet owners talk to their pets, some even use them to work through their troubles. And nothing beats loneliness like coming home to a wagging tail or purring cat.

Helping meet new people. Pets can be a great social tool for meeting new people. Dog owners often find it easier to talk to new people on walks or in a dog park. Pet owners also meet new people in pet stores, clubs, and training classes.

Reducing anxiety. The companionship of an animal such as a dog can offer comfort, help ease anxiety, and build self-confidence for people anxious about going out into the world.

Adding structure and routine to your day. Many pets, especially dogs, require a regular feeding and exercise schedule. No matter your mood—depressed, anxious, or stressed—you'll always have to get out your pet. One of the reasons for these therapeutic effects is that most pets fulfill the basic human need to touch. Even hardened criminals in prison have shown long-term changes in their behavior after interacting with pets, many of them experiencing mutual affection for the first time. Stroking, holding, cuddling, or otherwise touching a loving animal can rapidly calm and soothe us when we're stressed. The companionship of a pet can also ease loneliness, and some pets are a great stimulus for healthy exercise, which can substantially boost mood.

Behind every successful team, there is a great Administrative Professional. This is the perfect week to say "Thank You" for all their hard work.

David MacPherson Memorial Trophy

David was born Oct 23, 1959, and started playing hockey when he was five years old. He played all his minor hockey for Petitediac, and played Provincial Midget and Provincial Junior Hockey for Petitediac, at the same time playing rec. league. David started playing for the Elgin Aces when he was 14 years old. David went to hockey school in Sussex, Moncton and Montreal. David loved sports and while playing on many school related teams it seemed that nothing came so naturally to him playing hockey. David loved being competitive but always played with sportsmanship, many times turning the other cheek when fights broke out. He earned many MVP award with all the teams he played for. David was well liked by his teammates, coaches and all his peers.

David lost his life tragically in an accident December 6, 1984.

This trophy is presented to the winning team in the Midget Division of this Tournament in memory of David by his mother, on behalf of family.

Tournament Champions

Pull tabs from many beverage containers including pop cans, beer cans, energy drinks and many canned goods with pull tabs, have been saved over the years to help purchase wheelchairs, walkers and various devices to help people with physical disabilities. I am presently saving them for an elderly gentleman in Beresford, NB who, along with his 3 grandchildren in elementary school are saving them to help a young lady in hospital, who suffered serious injuries in an accident and will need a wheelchair upon her release.

It takes a lot of tabs to help defray the cost of a wheelchair as aluminum is only worth 60 cents per pound, however the more people that save them, the faster they accumulate. I wish to help these people with their worth while ongoing project. I will gladly accept all you can gather at 73 Horsman St. Salsbury, or phone 372-5353. Thanking you in advance Laurie Blanchard

Celebrating 20 Years Offering Training to Goaltenders

Moncton, NB - Local based Alexander Goaltending will reach another milestone in 2014 as it celebrates 20 years offering training to goaltenders from Atlantic Canada and beyond. With a philosophy of making each of their students a student at second one & attempting to assist them in the pursuit of their passion, Alexander Goaltending has become a Goaltending School of Choice.

Their success is much credited to the belief that the position their students have chosen to play is very individualized and, so, developing his/her own unique style within a structured base will produce optimum results.

For those of you who may not have yet heard about Alexander Goaltending, they offer summer day camps in Moncton & Fredericton plus holiday clinics, power skating programs & pre-season camps. In addition, they operate their "Net Results" training center, the only synthetic ice, goalie specific, training facility in Moncton. There, during hockey season, they offer Training Units in a Semi-private setting and Private, one to one training from September to June.

Each year well over 175 goalies train with Alexander Goaltending at their various camps & activities.

Company president, John Alexander states "at all of our activities we attempt to go beyond the participant's expectations by offering structured, well organized, professionally delivered programs that are reasonably priced. Our teaching staff come from the best young coaches available & our Director of Goaltending Development, David Alexander (Goaltending Coach Syracuse Crunch, AHL) oversees all of our curriculum. With almost all referrals coming from word of mouth, we are very aware of the importance of continuing to deliver the same top notch programs into the future as we have over the last 20 years."

Some recent Alexander Goaltending success stories:

James Miller - named to NHL all rookie team; signs 2 year contract with St. Louis Blues;

Thomas Fuller - CIS National Champion; signs contract with Las Vegas Wranglers,

ECHL

Fred Foulmer - drafted into the OHL by the Baltimore Titan, named to Team Atlantic

MU17; makes verbal commitment to attend Harvard

Ryan Hale - named to Fredericton Canadiens MMAA; named to HNB U16 team

Tanner Somers - named to Miramichi Rivermen MMAA; named to HNB U16 team

Curly Jackson - named to Team Atlantic FU18 Hockey Canada National Championship;

makes verbal commitment to attend University of Maine

As Alexander Goaltending celebrates their 20th year of working with goaltenders, they have planned many exciting events at their summer camps including prizes & giveaways.

And, for everyone who signs on for the Total Goaltending Training Camps, an opportunity to win a prize that is every goaltender's dream.

Pollett River Run 2014

Fast Water Tips

The river can be flat with class two rapids. It has a few surprises like the famous Colman rock. The rock is so named because of the many Colman canoes that it claimed. 1. Never mind the canoe, raft, boat or what ever the contraption you decide to travel in gets taken by the river. It could lead to getting jammed against the rocks. Get up-stream from the canoe or raft and push it to

2. If you trip and find yourself in fast rocky rapids don't try to stand up. Your feet might get stuck between rocks and the current will knock you over. It is best to float down river feet first until you get to water that you can stand in easily. This is easier done when wearing a life jacket.

Wear a life jacket.

If you decide to take the trip down river. It could save your life. Also it would be a good idea to have a rope it will come in handy and paddles to help steer.

Do Not Drink and Drive

Don't drink and drive have a designated driver, arrange for someone to pick you up, or just don't drink.

Bring Extra Clothes

It is important to note that it is cold and the water is freezing. Once you are wet it does not take long to reach hypothermia. Taking extra clothes not only helps insure you have a comfortable day but could prevent you from making a trip to the hospital with hypothermia. Double bagged garbage bags tied at the top with extra clothing inside is simple and will do the trick.

And if you do decide to drink bring cans not bottles no one wants to step on broken glass or have their pets walk on broken glass.

And always clean up after yourself the whole river run started to help preserve the river not destroy it.

A while back I noticed the sign in front of a house close to the town of Petticoe with the words "doll house" on it. My interest peaked for the moment. I told myself that I should check it out; when I finally did it was too late, the doll museum will be no more. This saddened me especially after I saw dolls of every sort housed in their own special cubicles reminding me of days gone by; and the amazing work done by our local people

So I'm going to tell you a bit about this special place. Delia's Doll House was a museum and craft shop which Lena (Sleeves) Clark established in 1987. Some of you may remember the many articles in the Moncton Times-Transcript and The Atlantic Advocate during that time, and those who visited may have enjoyed, besides the Doll house, the Ceramics by Adult Services Workshop, the collectibles and White Elephant room; not forgetting the 16 flavors of ice cream with Sundae and Splits at the Dairy Bar, at the Log Cabin Take-out.

Lena worked in Edmonton Alberta as a full-time Registered Nurse with a pension plan. One day she visited a Doll Museum. The love of dolls sparked a desire and she discovered what she wanted to do when she retired. She started buying dolls, beginning at a local Flea Market just a block from her apartment. She would send these dolls to her sister in Petticoe; she would knit doll clothes for these dolls. When Lena was home on vacation she brought a piece of land on which an Antique Farm Museum and a building called the "Log Cabin Take-out" were already established, the "Elf" on the "Take Out" once a tiny one roomed school house. It was brought and put there so the people could eat their hot dog etc. inside.

Comedy at Large by Laurie Blanchard Salisbury, NB

• In 1971, a man purchased an oil painting of the Titanic at an antique shop in London, England. The painting was not of high quality, however the gentleman liked it enough to buy it at a fairly low price. At some point in time, he decided to remove it from the frame and take off the back board to see if anybody had signed it and possibly where it was painted. Much to his surprise, under the backboard was a luncheon menu from the Titanic the day it went down April 14th, 1912! Many years later, he took it to an Antiques Road Show and the appraiser said it was the only menu known to have survived intact and valued between 75,000 and 100,000 dollars! Now that's a menu on steroids!

• I have found eggs on toast, bacon and turtle soup for the appraiser and then said it is snappy! Sit, would you like a large piece with your breakfast? Ah, no thanks, I'll have a glass of water and oh yes, hold the ice.

• We've all heard the story of Custer's last stand where he perished in battle. It has always been proclaimed that he was courageous and was not afraid in his final conflict. All those who believe he was really not afraid, I invite you to visit the Smithsonian Institute and check out his leather pants!

scene... no sailboat in the water! Lena called Shirley and told her and the next day Shirley crawled in among the dolls and painted three sailboats on the water!

The fall or autumn scene has red orange and yellow leaves painted on the trees. There is a little red schoolhouse painted on the back wall, and everywhere there are trees in their full fall colors. After Shirley finished she asked what Lena thought of it and she replied "Where are the outbuildings?" Shirley crawled back in and painted two outbuildings behind the schoolhouse.

The Christmas scene had green colored wallpaper on the walls. Bob built a make-believe fireplace and Shirley painted in the fire. There's a Christmas tree and a Santa standing by the fireplace with a stocking in his hand and of course lots of dolls.

So that is some of what one would see when they entered into the Doll Museum, what will happen to this place and the beautiful scenery painted by a loving friend; well maybe when I write the story of Lena's life she may let us in on what her plans are in the future.

A yellow wallpapered cubicle with white flowers is the Ragdoll Cubicle. Two old rocking chairs hold many, many Raggedy Ann and Andy as well as Holly Hobby dolls; if they haven't already been sold. There were countless numbers of dolls made of cloth, even Amie, Dennis the Menace and Kndike Mike and his bag of gold. A picture of the first Raggedy Ann doll was painted in 1915 is framed on the wall. A large cloth doll with red braids has pinned to it "Donated by Dorothy Blakney, Salisbury, NB; she was over 80 years old when she made this doll.

A pink wallpapered cubicle has pictures of Lena's ancestors, on the walls. A large doll in the middle of the cubicle was the display were dressed by an elderly woman and in Edmonton, who loved making dolls. A picture on the wall reads "Clothes designed and created by Eva English, Edmonton Alberta"

The spring scene cubicle with curved corners is a continuous scene that includes apple trees in blossom, bright green fields and trees, and a white house with a red roof up on a hill, as well as a lilac bush in full bloom. A white picket fence is across the front of the cubicle, there are dolls, dolls, and more dolls on display.

A summer scene is at the beach, complete with a sand bar, driftwood, seashells. There is an ocean and a light house painted at the back. The waves are splashing and a tree is bent sideways from the wind and seagulls are flying above. A visitor told Lena that there was something missing from the

Poems

Away

I cannot say and I will not say
That she is dead, she is just away.
With a cheery smile and a wave of hand
She has wandered into an unknown land;
And left us deeming how very fair
It needs must be, since she lingers there.
And you-oh you, who the wildest yearn
From the brink of grief and the glare return-
In the love of her, as she does, as she
Think of her still the same way, I say:
She is not dead, she is just away.

Administrative Professionals Week

Administrative Professionals Week is celebrated April 21 to April 25, 2014. Administrative Professionals Day or Secretary's Day is Wednesday, April 23rd, 2014. It is an unofficial secular holiday observed in several countries to recognize the work of secretaries, administrative assistants, receptionists, and other administrative support professionals.

History

The idea began with Mary Barrett, president of the National Secretaries Association, now called IAAP (International Association of Administrative Professionals), and C. King Woodbridge, president of Dictaphone Corporation. They served on a council addressing a national shortage of skilled office workers. The account executives at Young & Rubicam originated the idea for a National Secretaries Week.

The official period of celebration was first proclaimed by U.S. Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer as "National Secretaries Week," which was held June 1-7 in 1952, with Wednesday, June 4, 1952 and designated as National Secretaries Day. The first Secretaries Day was sponsored by the National Secretaries Association with the support of corporate groups.

In 1955, the observance date of National Secretaries Week was moved to the last full week of April. The name was changed to Professional Secretaries Week in 1981, and became Administrative Professionals Week in 2000 to encompass the expanding responsibilities and wide-ranging job titles of administrative support staff. IAAP created National Secretaries Week (now Administrative Professionals Week) with two objectives in mind: to recognize "the secretary, upon whose skills, loyalty, and efficiency the functions of business and government offices depend," and to call attention "through favorable publicity, to the tremendous potential of the secretarial career."

Facts/Trivia

- In the United States there are more than 4.1 million Administrative Assistants, and in Canada, 475,000.
- The first Certified Professional Secretary examination was administered in August 1951. There were 281 candidates at 15 examination centers. Today there are more than 250 exam centers worldwide to become a certified administrative professional.
- National Secretaries Week (Renamed Administrative Professionals Week in 2000) originated in 1952. It is observed the last full week in April with Wednesday now designated as Administrative Professionals Day.
- In 2001, IAAP introduced the Certified Administrative Professional program, an additional advanced certification.
