FROM YOUR EDITOR
 June is another year of school has graduated more people to a higher education. Congratulations too you all. Please be safe at all of your events. To all of you teachers who have put in so many hours coaching each child may your summer be a great one.
 June is always a busy month what with graduation, Father's Day, Weddings and getting into all the summer sports.
 It seems like we went right from the snow blowers to the lawn mowers. To everyone that has had the terrible cold this spring, I can sure sympathize with you all. I hope you are all recovering and will enjoy the summer.
 If you have friends or relatives visiting this summer and you want something to do, bring them to tour the Hall of Fame Museum, also the War Museum, both right here in Pettitodiac.
 Have a Happy Father's Day, Fathers and Grandfathers!
 Your editor,
 Winona McLean

Elgin Women's Institute

Kitchen Plans are Asir at Elgin Women's Institute May Meeting

Nine members of the Elgin Women's Institute attended their May 21st meeting at the local Seniors' Centre, Vice-president Zahara Dearth presided, and secretary Elsie Steves was present to take the minutes.

Roll call answered the question: What do you think it means to need a patch? A bit of a puzzle: some interpreted it as a cup of coffee, a good book. Others were pretty sure it referred to nicotine or bug repellent. Why not a patch of poison ivy? Or better still, four-leaf clovers?

On the subject of the kitchen, Zahara reported that the area had been cleared for renovation, and a new closet built for the water heater. Birch cupboards will be installed by the end of June. In preparation, plumbing, electrical and ventilation work will get underway. A quote was received for the wheelchair ramp, construction to follow.

Gail Crandall introduced the program for the evening. Her guest, local LPN, Sheila Mullin presented a very practical workshop. As a food care nurse, Sheila had many health tips and observations on caring for feet. Thanks to Gail and Sheila for this friendly practicum.

Members varied over treats and refreshments provided by Elaine White, June's Corn Hill.

WHAT'S COOKING

The fresh food begins for another summer. Asparagus is one of the first garden grown vegetables. It comes up every year after you plant it. It takes two years to get started.

Asparagus is rich in vitamins A and C, calcium, phosphorus, potassium and contains appreciable amounts of iron. My children called the little lily shaped asparagus sandwiches "Granny Sandwiches", what they didn't know, that they were good for them.

CREAM OF ASPARAGUS SOUP

Wash and cut in pieces enough to make 1/2 cup asparagus

Cook in 1 1/2 cups chicken broth about 10 minutes

Meanwhile in frying pan melt 1 tablespoon butter or oil

Add 1/2 cup finely chopped onion

Sauté transparent

Sprinkle 5 tablespoons of flour over onion

Gradually add 1/2 cup milk or cream, stirring continuously until slightly thickened

Remove from heat and add to asparagus

Place in blender and cream

Return to pot and place on low heat

Add 1/2 cup of cheese whiz or cream cheese

Stir to melt, serve hot

Decorate with (your choice) grated cheese, croutons, bacon bits or sour cream.

EVERYDAY PEOPLE

Submitted by Sheila Boissoneault

will tell you about a family that was a part of the church.

Robert Smith came from England and was granted land on what is now the Smith Road. He raised a family of 12 children. His son Humbert inherited the land and raised 15 children. William Smith lived next door and he raised 18 children. They worked the land together and grew a garden, and they raised pigs, cows, and horses. William Smith was the grandfather of Thelma (Smith) Plume. Thelma's grandmother bustled herself in the kitchen making bread and parades; along with churning butter, and making soup and beans. Thelma's father Ross Smith lived on the land and raised 11 children. They all were a part of the ministry of Joseph Crandall and the Glades Church. Her grandfather was a deacon for the church and requested money for the church and requested other seats of the church. Thelma said that they as Smith children became involved in the church and carried on in their parent's footsteps, most of them have given themselves to the Lord. Her mother and father worked hard but went to church whenever possible. They didn't have a car for many years so they walked to church and Sunday school, to school, and to Brownies. They went to school on the Salisbury Back Road. Thelma also went to The Glades School and had Paul Steeves for a teacher and some of the children had Jean Steeves for a teacher. Thelma attended Salisbury High School. In 1959 she married Robert Plume and lived in Havelock Baptist Church. They moved to Ontario where her husband worked at a steel plant and they lived there 18 years. They had three children. Now living again in this area they have six grandchildren and 8 great-grandchildren. Thelma worked for years taking care of children and cleaning houses and now she is mostly retired, enjoying her husband and her home. She and her husband love fishing and going on trips. She enjoys her family and friends and helping out at Legion, cooking.

This story was written from information given me by Thelma Plume and Jean Steeves. I hope they would tell you more if you are interested.

Part Two

A new church was started up river and a new congregation was formed. Six members, including Mr. & Mrs. Ralph Colpitts were dismissed from the Elgin Baptist Church to unite as the new Forest Glen Baptist Church. In 1900 they joined the Glades to form a pastorate.

In the 1900's the Glades Church was reaching out to the growing community of River at a local school house being led by Rev. Crandall and later by Rev. HG Kennedy. In 1907 the meeting house was erected and in 1907 the River Glades Baptist Church was formally organized. The Glades Baptist Church celebrated their 100th birthday and they continued to be active during the hard days of the handbills and the absence of some of the non serving overseas.

In 1960 the church was renovated and raised and set on a new foundation. The Choir and Vestry areas were enlarged and kitchen. Later front steps and siding were added. In 1987 front steps and siding were added. A significant boost to the Glades Church was the interest shown from Mrs. Jorden, the wife of James Jorden a wealthy American businessman. They bought a piece of land in the area and built a summer home of 38 rooms. When her husband died Mrs. Jorden donated the house to the government and the house was used as a tuberculosis sanatorium, and later became The Jorden Life Care Center. Mrs. Jorden was a generous supporter of The Glades Baptist Church. She financed the building of the Vestry and donated to the church a beautiful stained glass window.

This is only a small portion of the mark that this church has made in this area. Now I

PRSPayground Committee

"Play is the highest form of research." - Albert Einstein

The Petitediac Regional School Playground Committee would like to thank everyone who participated in this year's "4th Annual Scotiabank Charity Cake Auction" held on May 14th at the Scotiabank Petitediac Branch. The event was a huge success with 100 percent of the proceeds going to the PRS Playground improvement fund. We are pleased to announce that with the Scotiabank match of $5 000 the event raised almost $13 000 for our cause!

The outstanding support confirms that the people and businesses of Petitediac and all the surrounding areas are committed to improving our community, our school, and supporting our local children.

We especially want to thank and extend our sincere gratitude to Scotiabank Manager Gary MacDonough and his Team. Your commitment to this event's success and your sincere desire to give back to the community you serve was evident in every detail.

To all the people who graciously donated cakes, 43 of them, we extend our many thanks. This event would not have been possible without your delicious contribution.

Critical illness insurance EXPLAINED

While being diagnosed with a critical illness like cancer, stroke, or heart attack could change your lifestyle, it doesn't need to change your financial plans. Critical illness insurance can help reduce your financial worries so you can focus on recovery.

The money can help you:

- manage day-to-day expenses and debt,
- cover expenses related to getting better and
- protect your retirement savings (or your retirement plan).

Protect your future. I can help.

10 Tips to help out the cost of Prom!

1. Make Your Own Corsages
As long as you've got a tuxedo on, you've already fulfilled your glamour quotient the evening. See if any of your male relatives have a taste to lend, and if they don't, a comparison shop before deciding on a rental service. You can even rent cheap tuxedos online. Wear your own shoes to save money on the rental.
2. Do Your Own Hair
Invite your friends over to get dressed for prom and do each other's hair. You don't need to be an expert to give your pals one of these.
3. Skip the Fancy Dinner
There's no sense in spending a lot of money on pre-prom events. Instead, order some pizzas for you and your friends while you're all getting ready for photos. To create a real pre-prom atmosphere, pass around a tray of nonalcoholic mocktails.
4. Get Your Makeup Done for Free
If you visit a makeup counter at the mall, some will give you a consultation and put full makeup on you for free. Pay them a visit before you get dressed for prom. You're not required to buy anything, but if you like what they do, buy a couple of items (like a tube of lipstick and some mascara) to be polite.
5. Borrow Your Parents' Car
Why spend a couple hundred dollars on a limo for a ride that takes a few minutes? As long as you're with your friends, you'll have fun no matter what you're riding in. If any friends' parents have cool cars, they might be down with letting you borrow it for the night. If not, take one of your own cars and deck it out with washable paint.
6. Get Your Prom Dress for Cheap
You can find a gorgeous prom dress for cheap (or even for free) if you know where to look. Like buy and sell websites, thrift stores (Frenchy's in Pettitcodiac had a ton of formal dresses) and friends who already graduated.

those prom and party nights.

Stop before it starts. If you want to take a stance against underage drinking in your town, you can work with local police and School administrators to organize an assembly about the dangers of underage drinking. Temples? Remind yourself. Drinking is illegal. Getting arrested on prom is no one's dream scenario, but most people don't see it really happening to them. When you're tempted to drink, remind yourself that it could mess up your graduation from high school, college acceptance, and a criminal charge on your record can follow you for the rest of your life.

Plan and simple too. If you can say no when someone offers you a drink, just say no thanks. No explanation is needed, just rationalizing your choice opens the door for someone to disagree. Blame the old people. If someone hands you a drink before or after prom, just say "I'm already sooo much trouble at home, my parents will ground me if I come home with a hangover." Safe to say most people can relate to having up-sip parents. Peak a parachute, talk in code. No we're not planning a military operation, we want to make sure that if you aren't having fun, are around people drinking, or are sick from drinking too much, you have an exit plan. Arrange a get-me-out-of-here plan with your parents, or an adult you trust ahead of time. Think of a code sentence (like "I'm getting a stomach ache") so that you don't have to talk about what's making you uncomfortable in front of people. Make sure they know what the plan is if you use the code sentence (come pick you up, send a cab, etc) If your friends or date are drinking and you feel like you want out, call or text your parents and let them help you get out of a bad situation before it gets worse.

Prom's for yourself. Hang with people who aren't yanking or doing drugs so you can relax at your own and a friend's party. Keep an eye out. Make the most of your role as a sober prom and after-party goer. If your date, your driver, a friend, frenemy, has had too much to drink, help them or find someone who can.

Old news could save lives. Okay, you've heard not to drink and drive a million times now. We're saying it again because seriously, if you do choose to drink before or after prom, don't get behind the wheel. Don't let your friends do it. You want to remember your prom as a special night, not a tragic one. If you or your driver drinks, call a cab, call a parent or sibling, commission a sober friend, sleep over at a friend's, whatever it takes. Stay tuned for tips on safe driving on prom night.

After-prom plans. This is a big one. If you commission the "drinking buddies" plan have nothing better to do?" "Go home ahead!" Head to a late-night diner, decide out to pig out, offer to host a people at your house with food and movies or games, like karaoke. Arrange a sleeperover with all of your friends and stay up all night re-hashing prom gossip.

Be the after-party. Check with your parents and plan your own party. Hit the backyard with music in hand and keep dancing the night away. Just make sure people don't leave and come back to the party, and that your neighbors are OK with it if you're going to drink too much, you have an exit plan. Arrange a get-me-out-of-here plan with your parents, or an adult you trust ahead of time. Think of a code sentence (like "I'm getting a stomach ache") so that you don't have to talk about what's making you uncomfortable in front of people. Make sure they know what the plan is if you use the code sentence (come pick you up, send a cab, etc) If your friends or date are drinking and you feel like you want out, call or text your parents and let them help you get out of a bad situation before it gets worse.
