From the Editor

The busy month of June - Gardening, lawn mowing; farmers preparing their fields and planting, starting their haying; now to go along with that is school programs, weddings, summer sports and Father's Day.

June is National Safety Month; Let us keep this in mind as our schools come to a close for another summer. Remember to take care when driving as the children will be out about. May the graduation events be a happy event to remember not a sad one. Injuries are a leading cause of disability for people of all ages - and they are the leading cause of death for ages 1 to 44. But there are many things people can do to stay safe and prevent injuries. Encourage communities, workplaces, families, and individuals to identify and report safety hazards. We can all use the month of June to raise awareness about important safety issues like: Medication safety and prescription painkiller abuse; Driving, biking, and working safely; Preventing slips, trips, and falls. Everyone can get involved in reducing the risk of injuries. Together, we can share information about steps people can take to protect themselves and others.

A couple of suggestions as gifts for Dad - (1) coupons for touring the Hall of Fame Museum, (2) a subscription for the Local News & Views, (3) a souvenir , cap, t-shirt golf shirt.

If you have friends and family visiting this summer and wonder where to take them come and tour the Museums in Petitcodiac. Check the Petitcodiac and Salisbury events calendars in the Local News & Views. The Chase the Ace of Spades is happening at the Petitcodiac Legion every Friday evening except for July 1st. There is music and a great place to socialize.

June 4th is the 11th Petty AutoFest being held at the Maritime Motorsports Hall Of Fame at 5 Hooper Lane.

June is Men's Health Month, this is an effort to bring awareness of health problems for our men and boys, to celebrate Wear Blue the Friday before Father's day. Father's enjoy your day and have a Happy Father's Day Congratulations to all who have moved up another level in school and too those who will be going on to their post education or the work force.

Along with this, a donation bottle will also be place at the counter to receive additional contributions if our customers so choose. This table will be reserved for a specific organization for a period of one month beginning in May 2016, and as a result of the major fire at the Havelock Fire Department, we are going to commence with them.

ELGIN NEWS!

Elgin W.I.'s May Meeting Prepares for Busy Season

Elgin Women's Institute met for the May 19th meeting at the Seniors' Centre.

After "O Canada" and Mary Stewart's Collect, and because May is Date Your Mate Month, members were encouraged to answer roll call by describing an ideal date.

Plans were made to clean the hall early in the week of May 22nd following completion of the new bathroom and wheelchair ramp. Also taking place at the W.I. Hall within the week: MP Alainna Lockhart will make a grant presentation on behalf of the federal Horizons for Seniors program, and the annual Country Auction and Music Night is scheduled for May 27th.

President Hazelanna Carter thanked Pauline Whittle for her excellent work as long-time branch treasurer. Julie Kean Marks, a renewed member, has graciously agreed to be the 2016-17 treasurer. Thank you, Pauline, for your cheerful dedication in keeping the books balanced. Welcome, Julie!

Three Elgin members have registered for the provincial convention in Fredericton on May 31st. The 2016 convention theme is "Helping Young Adults."

The group decided that this summer's trip to Cedar Cafe in Cornhill will take place on July 21st rather than in June as previously planned. This change will enable more people to attend and enjoy. The June meeting will be on the third Thursday of the month -- June 16th at the W.I. Hall. Elgin Day is scheduled for Sunday, August 14th.

Elsie Steeves and Pauline Whittle served a delicious lunch to close the meeting.

The Elgin Eco Association is working once again on its summer camp program. It will once again be an exciting time for youngsters to learn about nature. There are a few places still available. Please contact Moranda at 756 2518 to obtain a registration form.

Much work will be done in the park this summer if funding for material is approved we will add to our trail system in the park. A fantastic drone video was made by Eric Goggin for the Elgin Eco Association. To see it go to [Elgin Outdoor Adventures] <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=TKUIBmUsXl> □ Our Crowd funding site has been launched. We hope you forward it to all your friends. See trail article

WE have been very lucky to be living in such a beautiful community. The Elgin Eco Association hopes to be able to continue its efforts to serve its citizens and others interested Nature. Consider becoming a member. Go to our website and print the membership form. $20 for a family for 2 years. We also give out a bursary for $500. Information can be obtained at your school or call 756 2518 Enjoy a wonderful summer

The end of the Trail

The Elgin Eco Association has met with the new owner of the Mapleton Acadian Trail Property.

The meeting was successful in the way that we are able to buy it back from the current owner . It is however expensive to do so. The young people in our group feel very strongly we should try to raise the amount needed. They have created a crowd funding page that has been launched : <https://chuffed.org/project/save-the-mapleton-acadian-forest-trail-from-clearcutting>

You can make donation through this site to help us save the property from clear cutting. It also gives more information about the trail . There are no other trails like this one between St John and Moncton. It is a very unique situation we would have liked to have avoided. We don't like to see this issue to become the end of the trail. We would like to succeed in raising this money and preserve the property for future generations. Donations can be made online via the face book page or via our website www.elgineco.com a small icon on the top of our home page says "donate "click on that and it will guide you through the process. The easiest way for some might be to send a cheque to

The Elgin Eco Association inc.
55 Stewart road
Elgin N.B E4Z 2J8

The goal of the Elgin Eco Association is to promote the conservation of the Acadian forest Ecosystem by providing a better understanding about the Acadian forest habitat and the environmental services they provide.

The Elgin Eco Association began to develop the programs that targets the local community of Elgin and as well as visitors to the area. Every year many people take part in a mountain bike challenge, walk the Acadian forest trail, use the community park or take part in children summer camp or other classes offered by the Elgin Eco Association.

We would like to expand the programs to elementary and high school students and offer environmental and biological education programs. Programs would be funded by tours offered to visitors. Thus visitors contribute to the conservation of the forest in the region through the education of the citizens in the local community.

Eventually we can design programs according to the objectives of each group. They can be combined with complementary activities in eco tourism, community service and adventure tourism.

BUT WE NEED YOUR HELP OR IT WILL SOON BE THE END OF THE TRAIL

Reinhard Degenhardt left his home in Kassel Germany; 150 km North of Frankfurt where he owned a business in retail and wholesale building supplies. His hobby was making sausages, but beef was expensive in Germany so after visiting a friend in Canada he decided to move his family over.

He liked the wide open spaces of New Brunswick. First he wanted to buy a Dairy Farm in Anagance , but couldn't sell his business in Germany, so that didn't work out. He took some time to look around and he found, what was originally, the George Patterson Turkey Farm, he thought it was perfect. It was a little maritime rectangle within reach of Sussex, Moncton, Fredericton and St John.

In 1985 Reinhard moved his wife and two sons to Glenvale New Brunswick. He told me that sixty five million people live in West Germany and can be put 45 times in Canada. His new home in New Brunswick offered him space, unlike Germany. Reinhard moved into the main house on his property and began to renovate the other house; when the apartment was ready he moved into it and then began renovations in the main house, when it was ready they moved back into it. There is an atmosphere of Germany in the house he lives in; the window in the dining room is from Germany as is the large wooden Buffet, Shrank it is called over there, and in the background I hear a German clock.

They had hopes of producing beef salami and shipping some back to Germany, but they gave up on beef and took to raising turkeys. Reinhard said the biggest turkey they had weighed 67 pounds. They had a difficult start to grow and succeed up to their potential; that was hindered partially because the bigger companies received the government grants not the small ones and funding is so important to the meat processing companies; no matter how good the product it will never get up to Federal level.

After five years of trying to get money to grow the business they finally got some support and renovated the barn and put in a killing floor. After another five years they were told that the rules had changed and they would need a separate building for the killing floor. With Sussex Poultry closing they wanted to believe they had a chance only to find out a bigger poultry shop opened in Moncton and they didn't get the funding; so they stopped the renovations. Now they buy local turkeys. They were told it would all balance out in time, but they wonder what time?

Reinhard opened a business in California, there are 38 million people there so they do better and things are more flexible there, and they buy more local. California is way ahead of us here, and they are stricter health wise. All the products are produced in the USA and shipped and produced in the Worldwide Production Plant and shipped from there. Reinhard said that what he could not do here was possible in the USA. Degenhardt sausages are the top of the line. They use only quality meat and spices and they grind and mix in their own plant, using natural casings for their sausage. They make their own recipes and there are no additives, no msg, less salt and less fat. People like to know they are getting quality. Their products are sold in New York, Washington and California and now in Miami.

Reinhard Degenhardt is the President of the business. The oldest son Ralph,

My Top 5 Garden Herbs

Garden column

By Mark Cullen

Mark Cullen is an expert gardener, author and broadcaster. Get his free monthly newsletter at markcullen.com. Look for his new best seller, 'The New Canadian Garden' published by Dundurn Press. Follow him on Twitter @MarkCullen4 and Facebook.

I am no cook. But I can grow stuff! I happen to be married to an excellent cook who not only possesses amazing natural talent in this department but cooking is her #2 passion (after knitting). With a little coaching from the cook in the family, I present you with my top 5 garden herbs.

It is not good enough that they are useful in the kitchen. They have to grow and thrive in a garden or container. It is not good enough that you can grow them with abandon. They must have a useful place at the table.

My criteria, my list:

1. Basil. Experienced gardeners and cooks will know that this is a no-brainer. Of course basil is #1 on my list. It is versatile as a culinary herb (listed as one of the primary ingredients in a pizza garden) and it grows easily, given certain conditions. The first is the need for sunshine. In its native India, it receives more than a lot of heat and sunshine. Basil is a frost tender annual. You can start the seeds now or you can pick up small plants at your garden retailer. Keep them in your sunniest window until the end of May before you plant them out.

Basil is an excellent container plant. Plant it in a quality planting mix and don't re-use the soil from last year as it is tired out. Put the old planting mix in the garden and work it in the existing soil.

Pinch new growth on the plant as it matures. Use the cuttings in your cooking and enjoy the thickening effect that pinching has on the foliage of your plant. Basil is available in a multitude of flavours. Look for lemon and cinnamon flavoured basil and my own Blue Spice Basil, "Heavily fragrant with spicy vanilla tones" from the back of the package. The copy writer is a wine taster in his spare time.

2. Dill. My cook/wife loves dill. She grows it herself near the kitchen door as she says that I don't grow enough of it. Dill is a cinch to grow in any spot in the garden with a minimum of 6 hours of sunshine. It prefers an open, fertile soil but is not all that fussy. Avoid clay-based soil. The big challenge in growing it is to avoid hoeing it out when you are weeding. Harvest the leaves as the plant matures for fish dishes and the seeds make great pickles. To grow it next year just let some of this year's crop drop its seeds. You will have dill for life.

3. Rosemary. This is an appetite stimulant. If you find yourself without one (an appetite) just run your hands through a rosemary plant and inhale the aroma as you activate the essential oils on the plant. Give it a few minutes and you will be ravenous. Well, maybe. It is very useful in pork dishes, fish, soup and rosemary bread (with a tonne of olive oil - I can make a meal of this). It loves the sun, needs to be dry between watering and loves rain water. Rosemary grows well in containers and when you clip its foliage for use in the kitchen it just gets thicker and better looking. Don't plan on keeping it over the winter, even though it is defined as a perennial woody herb. Mine always die in January.

4. Chives. If you are the person that I keep meeting who says, "I can't grow any thing. But I love your column." This is for you. Everyone can grow chives. I grew them when I was 4 years old and sold small divisions to my neighbours for 5 cents. Sow seeds directly into a container or plant store-bought versions right into the garden or containers. Chives are very winter hardy. The last clump that I planted, I stole from the compost heap at the community garden on the Leslie Street Spit. Yes, that was me. A nice lady with a dog let me in.

5. Parsley. Technically this is a bi-annual. It grows for 2 years and then dies. I have good luck with it in the garden and in containers. It is unusual in that it only needs 4 hours of sun to do well. Look for the classic 'curly leaved' parsley for garnishing any dish, adding to a salad or soup. Italian parsley is tougher, grows more quickly and is useful in cooking. I don't recommend it raw, though no doubt someone eats it that way. All herbs, with the exception of basil, love heat but tolerate cool temperatures. Allow herbs to become dry between watering and do not fertilize any of them; although basil will respond well to plant food.

In my experience, it is best for the gardener to stay out of the kitchen, but if you happen to have talent in both departments, growing your own herbs manages the business in California, he is married and has two children; and the younger son Remo works here with his father and often goes to the Farmer's markets here in New Brunswick. He makes his home in Sussex; his wife attends Kingswood University majoring in Counselling and they have five children. Their family along with Remo's parents attend the Sussex Wesleyan Church together. Emmi Degenhardt served me a cup of tea when I arrived and I thought she must be Reinhard's secretary that gave them a laugh, Reinhard said he keeps her young and busy.

Emmi is a Pharmacist assistant, but now she is the secretary for Degenhardt's European Sausage Farm Ltd. and she works on the sausage recipes with Reinhard. She also does demos at the Farmer's Markets. Her husband and son praised her abilities as a cook. Her son said that she made 30 cakes for his birthday and her husband told of a party of 175 that she cooked smoked turkey and a great number of cakes for. She served me a plate of cookies which brought back memories of Germany, they were delicious.

I asked Reinhard if he played golf or some other non-work related pastime, no he said he works and he enjoys gardening. Last year he had difficulty getting his breath, seems eight years ago after open heart surgery he was put on meds and he no longer needed them, but he did need a pacemaker, now he breathes more easily. He loves the outside, and has a large pond and a tractor which keep him busy.

Upon leaving Remo ask me if my husband liked hot sausages, which of course I replied yes because he sure does. I told him that my husband hasn't found one that could really be called "hot", so he gave me some for him to try, along with some others. I had Bratwurst and my husband had the "undertakers" the hot ones and he said "Man they are hot!" now he has found the hottest sausage in the world. The Degenhardt products can be found in Sobeyes

I leave you with a quote:

"The best is good enough for our customers." ReinhardDegenhardt

Comedy at Large

by Laurie Blanchard Salisbury, NB

A couple had been married many years and she had learned to be patient with her husband who was at times contrary and hard to please. One morning, she asked her hubby...what are you going to have for breakfast Fred? He muttered...I want 2 eggs and a few strips of bacon. How do you want your eggs, she asked. One boiled and one fried, he grumped. Once his breakfast was ready, she put his plate on the table. He looked down at it and frowned. What's wrong, she inquired? He grumbled ... ya boiled the wrong one !

Saskatchewan is so flat that when a fella's wife decided to end it all and walked out on him, he could still see her going 2 miles away!

25th Anniversary

It will be 25 years June 23rd since Ray & Jeanie Jorgensen got married at the River Glade Speedway.

We had talked about the possibility of saying our vows at the race track, so we went to Ernie & Winona McLean, they made the arrangements for the track.

The tuxedos that were donated from Colpitts Men Wear were for the ushers, Trevor Wade & Cody Jorgensen, Flagman - Ken Brace, they were wondering about Ken's size 14 shoes.

Valley Ranch Limousine Service donated a Limousine with Pierre driving. Elsie Constantine donated the flowers for the track.

Ron Corey played the guitar while Sharon Layton sang "The Rose".

It poured rain all day until we were almost to the track the sun came out and it was beautiful, Christine & Coralee Mann looked after the guest book.

The bride & groom were married by Rev. Robert Metcalfe. Nancy Eastwick the bride's daughter was maid of honour, Janice McCully - bridesmaid; Dana Jorgensen - best man, Paul Jorgensen - master of ceremonies.

The bride & groom were each to drive a car in the first race. The other drivers schemed that Jeanie would win, Jeanie was petrified and Ray was excited that he had passed the fastest car then he hit the wall. Jeanie figured it was her wifely duty to pull off into the infield. Next week they went to North Sydney racing. Thank you to everyone who made June 23rd a very special day for us.

Scotty's Laundromat - 20th Anniversary

April 1996, Ray after selling his woods equipment moved back from P.E.I. Next morning I looked out to see him jacking up the tool shed - he told me he was building the laundromat I wanted. Between Ray & our neighbor Pat Dwyer, they remodeled the shed into a small laundromat that held 12 machines that we had bought from another laundromat. The weekend before opening, figured we better see if our well would be enough to fill 6 washers, no way. Fred & Dennis Steeves started drilling on Wednesday and it started raining, what a mess, mud everywhere. We were open on schedule June 6, 1996. Things ran fairly smooth until winter, frozen pipes and flooding. We have had our ups and downs but thanks to our customers from their patience and patronage and to our friends for helping me when Ray was away trucking, Harry Wheaton and Gordie Lewis. People wonder where we got the name "Scotty". Scotty was my dad, he was from Glasgow, Scotland, came to Canada in 1928. The property was his, who better to name it after. Thank you again to our loyal customers. Come wash and dry at Scotty's Laundromat, 5 Maple Street, Petitcodiac. Open 24 hours, 7 days a week. 756-8551 or 756-0856.

The picture was painted by our grand-daughter Emily Colby. Her brother Chris is beside her. They are from Rowley, Massachusetts.

Small Communities With Big Hearts

Jessica, Dyllan, and Devin, the children of Steven and Cindy Lewis, donate money to the "Small Communities With Big Hearts" Red Cross Alberta fires appeal boot drive, held May 12 to 14.

Donation cans have been placed in several businesses in the communities. Thank you to all who have donated, every little bit counts! More fundraising will be needed to meet our goal. Any ideas and / or volunteers are welcomed.
