THANK YOU TO THE VILLAGE OF PETITCODIAC

The Boys and Girls Club of Petitedcodiac says thank you to the community and all of our partners for its success in 2015, for all you have done for us and continue to do.

The Club recently held their A.G.M. and wanted to share some of the important information and findings with our supporters and community.

We strive to be strong pillars of the community for our children, youth and families. We could not do this important work without this support. So, for that we thank you.

We have put together some stats and information for you.

Here are Stats from Tiny Tykes Daycare, After School Program and our Youth Cultural House.

You will see what our Vision, Mission and Mandate is, what we are all about, as well as some facts about how many youth we fed, some programs they were involved in and programs we held in the school. It takes a community to raise a child. A community like Petitedcodiac.

Thank You from the Petitedcodiac Boys and Girls Club.

Our Vision: To help all children and youth to discover and achieve their dreams and grow up to be healthy, successful and active participants in society.

Our Mission: To provide a safe, supportive place where children and youth can experience new opportunities, overcome barriers, build positive relationships and develop confidence and skills for life.

Our Mandate: Boys and Girls Clubs of Canada are leading providers of after-school and critical hour's programs, recognized for significantly contributing to the healthy development of young people - especially those who need us most. With families and others in the community, we help children grow up to be Healthy, Confident, Responsible,

Successful in life Values, Inclusion & Opportunity.

We strive to offer children and youth from all economic, cultural and social backgrounds access to the resources, supports and opportunities that will enable them to overcome barriers and achieve their positive potential in life.

Respect & Belonging - We provide a safe, supportive place, where every child is

From the Editor

It seems like the summer holidays just started, but its time for another school term. Wish you all a productive year. I have moved since my last editorial to the charming community of Havelock. Really like it here. September is Library Card Sign-up Month, there are still a lot of books to read, some old ones and new ones. Labour Day is September 5th, the last holiday before school starts. September 11 is Grandparents Day and the 21st is International Day of Peace. Games Day is starting again September 7 here at the Hall Of Fame. The Maritime Motorsports Hall Of Fame has a monthly meeting the first Tuesday of each month at 11:00AM with lunch following, you are invited to attend, if you are a member you have voting rights. Now to talk about the things happening here in our little world; the Sussex Balloon Festival is September 9-11, the famous Egin Turkey Supper September 24, the Lounsbury's car sales September 27- October 1, the Bike tour of Egin October 1st, and of course many school activities. The Churches are also holding their annual services. The Chase the Ace at the Petitediac Legion is each Friday from 6-8PM except Sept. 2. Have a Great Month.

Your Editor,

listened to, respected and valued in an environment of inclusion and acceptance. Our staff and volunteers model honesty, fair play, positive attitude, cooperation and respect for self and others.
Empowerment - We believe all young people can grow into responsible, contributing and self-reliant members of society. Children and youth are at the centre of everything we do. Through adventure, play and discovery, we encourage and empower them to develop healthy lifestyles, a life-long passion for learning, leadership, life skills and a sense of social responsibility.

Collaboration - We work together with families and volunteers in each community, in partnership with the public and private sector, to create healthy community solutions to providing children and youth with what they need for optimal development.
Speaking Out - We speak out on behalf of children, youth and their families to reduce disadvantage, enhance their lives and enable their voices and ideas to be heard.

Executive Directors Message

I want to thank the community, staff and the Board of Directors for making my first year as ED in my opinion, a success. The organization cannot grow and be successful without a strong Board and Staff, so for that I thank you. I love the community, partners, children and youth and most of all the challenge that comes with serving and bettering the community as Executive Director of the Pettitcodiac Boys and Girls club. I look forward to another great year and all the challenges and growth that 2016/2017 brings. Thank You for all your support this past year.

The Elgin Eco Association had a very busy summer with all the fund raising activities going on the entire summer. One such fund raiser was a guided hike. People hiked the trail and learned about the use of edible plants in the woods. Primitive survival skills and a talk by Alain Clavette on owls. The hike was well attended and we added another $500 to our Trail fund raising campaign. This was particularly popular, therefore we hope to do an Owl Prowl in the Spring probably March. You are free to sign up for this event anytime. We will notify you when we have a date. We now have officially opened our Little Libraries. They are situated one in the ECO PARK and one besides the Women's Institute hall. Member and Artist Fred Harrison of Portage Vale has donated his services and painted the little libraries in such an attractive way. They are truly one of a kind. The Elgin Eco Association is hoping the trend of building little libraries in all the small communities will take off. There is no cost of borrowing the book. Just take a book. When done, bring it back then exchange it for another. They will be changed on a regular basis. Let us know what you think. Leave a note in one of the libraries on what you would like to read. The bottom has children's books the top has adult books

Summer camp is also done for the year. The children had a lot of outdoor time. All enjoyed themselves. Besides the various events we organized they also had to do their own cooking each camp day. Not once have we heard a complain that they had to do the dishes. Cooking has become a very popular activity and we are looking into have a short cooking course if there is interest among the children. The last day of the camp the children cooked a full course meal for their invited guests. They took a lot of pride in this accomplishment. They served 23 guests. Elgin day was fun at the W.I hall however the outdoor activities fell in the water. Hopefully next year we can try again. We would like to thank the musicians that came out to play some wonderful music. Our Fund raising campaign for the trail property is going well. We have not raised the full amount yet. We are in negotiations with the current owner hoping we can settle all arising issues that come with the future acquisition of a property. Please share the video on you tube called "A forest is forever save Mapleton" It is breath taking. On October first Elgin will once again be hosting "The Elgin Mountain Bike Marathon" This popular event will bring people from all over Atlantic Canada to our little community. If you are not a seasoned mountain biker consider doing the 20km. Or be a volunteer during the day. Maybe you are interested in helping with the award dinner for the bikers. We are also collaborating with Fundy National Park. People that attend the race can stay in the park for 25% reduced rate. For any questions on above information feel free to call 756 2518

Comedy at Large

by Laurie Blanchard Salisbury, NB

A son and daughter convinced their mother not to divulge that she was a widow and was now living alone. One day, a telemarketer called trying to sell her a cemetery plot but was unsuccessful. If I could speak to your husband, I'm sure I could sell him one he insisted. The lady replied..... I don't think so Tim, he's using his right now.

Times when laughter is inappropriate:

1. When you are meeting the CEO of the company that just hired you.
2. When the judge asks if you've been drinking.
3. The first time you see your girlfriend in a bathing suit.
4. When the relative you're hoping to inherit money from drop their teeth on the table at supper time.
5. When you're surrounded by a motorcycle gang.
6. When you break wind on the wooden pew at Church.
7. When the one you're married to stubs their toe.
8. When the auditor asks if you declared your full income.
9. When the person wanting to buy your car asks if the mileage on the odometer is accurate.
10. When the waitress at the restaurant trips and drops her tray with food flying in all directions.

Odds and Ends ----

- legislation has been introduced for the preservation of waterfowl but everyone is trying to duck the issue.
- the first submarine sandwich was introduced in 1898, but the company went under.
- when the first bicycle retail shop was opened, the owner became the industry's spokes-man.
- in 1958, a baseball game was played at a National Park. They pitched tents.

We are pleased to announce that the Salisbury Big Stop Plans to re-establish the "Charity Table" to help support the various non-profit, community-assistant organizations within the greater Salisbury/Pettitcodiac areas.

To do this, we are setting aside a specific table at the Silver Fox Restaurant whereby 10% of the total sales from that table for a one-month period will be donated to the designated organization or club selected for that month. Along with this, a donation bottle will also be placed at the counter to receive additional contributions if our customers so choose. This table will be reserved for a specific organization for a period of one month.

Our proposed schedule for the next nine months is as follows:

- Sept. 2016 --- Salisbury Legion Branch No. 31
- Oct. 2016 --- Salisbury / Pettitcodiac Minor Hockey Association
- Nov. 2016 --- Salisbury Food Bank - (Helping Hands)
- Dec. 2016 --- Pettitcodiac Fire Fighters Association

CANADA'S LABOUR DAY

Labour Day in Canada is the First Monday of September. In 2016 it is the 5th of September.

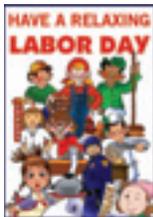

Labour Day goes back to April 15, 1872, when the Trade Unions demonstrated to have 24 leaders of the Toronto Typographical Union released from prison, for striking to get a nine hour working day. Back then Trade Unions were illegal and striking was considered a criminal disruption to trade. Labour Day continued in the spring until 1894, when it was moved to the fall, giving workers the chance to campaign for workers rights. The Trade Unions would arrange parades and picnics for the workers on that day.

Today Federal labour standards are established under Part III of the Canada Labour Code which sets out minimum standards that federally regulate employers and employees must follow.

The standard hours for employees are eight hours in a day and forty hours in a week. When a holiday occurs the standard hours of a week is reduced by eight hours.

Employment standards are the minimum standards established by law that define and guarantee rights in the workplace of their province or territory.

To day many people see the first Monday in September as an opportunity to take a late summer trip, perhaps to their country cottage, or enjoy the company of family or friends at picnics, fairs, festivals and fireworks displays. For teenagers and other students, the Labour Day weekend is the last chance to celebrate with a party or to go on a trip before school re-opens for the new academic year.

Prosser Brook Cemetery

The Prosser Brook Cemetery was established in 1879 on land bought from John Mitton Sr. on land above the Church.

Over the years the Cemetery has been kept up by the Church and in later years by a committee of volunteers who look after having the mowing etc. done. In the last few years they have expanded the cemetery size with a generous land donation from Claude Steeves.

Research has been done and there are over 25 graves with no markers. Two plaques have been made with the names and dates of these people and will be unveiled at a Church service on October 2, 2016 at 3pm and following the service will be put in the cemetery on cement blocks. The service will have special music and a special speaker. A free will offering will be taken to help with the upkeep of the cemetery. There will be a light lunch and fellowship time to follow.

A BIT ABOUT OUR CANADIAN HISTORY AS WE NEAR 150 YEARS OF CONFEDERATION

Leif Eriksson was the second son of Erik the Red - a murderer, an outlaw, an exiled wanderer and a fearless explorer who grew up on the shores of Iceland, but because of his actions he was exiled from Iceland and sailed to what is now Greenland; there he was the founder of the first European settlement on Greenland. Around A.D. 1000, Leif Eriksson sailed to Norway, where King Olaf I converted him to Christianity, he then sent him back to Greenland to convert the settlers. In one story, on his voyage to Greenland he sailed off-course and arrived in a place he called Vinland, because of the abundance of wild grapes growing there, and the general fertility of the land. In another story he heard of a land in the west from an Icelandic trader, and went to find it. Leif was an Icelandic explorer and probably the first European visitor to North America, 500 years before Christopher Columbus.

The precise identity of Vinland remains uncertain, with various locations on the North American coast identified. In 1963, archaeologists found ruins of a Viking-type settlement at L'Anse aux Meadows, in northern Newfoundland, which correspond to Leif's description of Vinland.

Sometime between A.D. 989 and 1020, Viking seafarers - perhaps as many as 90 men and women in all - landed on a Newfoundland shore and raised three sturdy huts and an assortment of sod huts for weaving, ironworking, and ship repair. In the 1960s a Norwegian adventurer, Helge Ingstad, and his archaeologist wife, Anne Stine Ingstad, discovered and excavated the overgrown ruins of this ancient base camp at a place called L'Anse aux Meadows. Later, Canadian archaeologists found iron ship rivets and other artifacts from what appeared to be a Viking shipwreck off the coast of Ellesmere Island.

Historians are at odds about the actual count of the population of the Native societies before the white man landed on the new Canadian shores. It is estimated from one million to eighteen million. The white man brought with them trade goods, for which the natives were notoriously shrewd in their dealings with the Europeans. The Europeans also brought deadly infectious diseases with them that were unknown to the Natives, whose immune system was unable to fight the disease. Even the common cold took a deadly toll on the Native societies. Today there are approximately one million Canadians of aboriginal descent.

Historic Landmark demolished after 137 years

The congregation of the Petitcodiac Baptist Church is saddened with the news that a section of their Church must be demolished. The section with the steeple and bell was built in 1879. The bell has been removed and the steeple torn down. The remainder of the older section will also be brought down. This act was brought about because the outside oil tanks leaked approximately 1400 litres of oil that seeped under the building and was discovered on July 2nd.

The church services are being held for the congregation in the newer part of the church. In every cloud there is a silver lining; it is believed that because of the decade wood holding the bell could have brought the section where the school rooms are. This land mark in years may be replaced modern land mark for for many more years.

Elgin Country Store Needs New Owners

Sketch provided by Moranda van Geest

Present picture

This great country store, build by Rex and Connie Geldart back in the 1940's, was known as "Geldart's Store", it has been a main stay for the community of Elgin ever since. At the time it was built they had Primrose gas pumps as well as general needs for the local people. Dean and Carol Martin bought the store and it became known as "Martin Country Market", they ran it until April Steeves became the owner.

She made it a restaurant as well as the store; she sold the hunting and fishing licenses and checked to deer there. She sold Coast Gas as well. It was an all round service for the public, 4-wheelers and snowmobilers. It was Elgin's own little Mall. It was a gathering place for the locals to meet.

Garden column

By Mark Cullen

A Sea of Change

Credit Line: Mark Cullen is an expert gardener, author and broadcaster. Get his free monthly newsletter at markcullen.com. Look for his new best seller, 'The New Canadian Garden' published by Dundurn Press. Follow him on Twitter @MarkCullen4 and Facebook.

I recently completed my annual tour of the country and I have much to report. While Canadians are gradually becoming aware of climate change and the impact that it is having on our daily lives, there is a sea of change in the gardening business.

My travels have taken me to many points in Ontario, Quebec and out west. My relationship with Home Hardware requires me to travel to some remote places like Fort St. John in northern B.C. and points between here and there. My launch of a new book, The New Canadian Garden, has also required that I travel around the country talking with and listening to Canadians who share this passion that we call 'gardening'.

Here is what Canadians are talking about, with regard to our most popular outdoor pastime, gardening:
1. Goodbye bees, hello heightened awareness! The decline of the honey bee population has propagated so much discussion about pollinators and related topics that the ad campaign for Honey Nut Cheerios blew everyone out of the water. They launched the campaign at Canada Blooms this past March, expecting to give away about 35 million wild flower seeds across the country. The demand was so great that they gave away a total of more than 100 million seeds. While we are sensitive to the general decline of bees, it is important to note that we have more than 700 native bee species in Canada.

2. Insect hotels. While many Canadians are scratching their heads over the notion of attracting beneficial insects to their yards and gardens, many others are embracing the idea. I have become acutely aware of the situation while traveling to the U.K. over the last few years, where they are a generation ahead of us on this one. Mason bee 'huts', 'hotels', 'habitat'; call them what you want, retailers are surprised by the demand for such things. I predict that 'insect hotels', butterfly habitat, mason bee huts and the like, will be so popular in 20 years that they will be as common in Canadian backyards as bird feeders are now: more so in urban areas where awareness seems highest.

3. Native plants. This is not a revolutionary idea but one that has been evolving for about 25 years. Canadians are planting more native species. They are generally lower maintenance than their hybrid cousins, they are reliably winter hardy when grown in their native zone and they attract pollinators quite nicely. A three-point punch for native plants! Garden retailers have caught on to this idea and are now offering a wide selection of them. Another big change to Canadian gardening.

4. It is all about the food. While attending a book-signing/speaking engagement in Ottawa this season, I was introduced to the daughter of one guest: a 22 year old 'first time gardener'. I am always interested to know what draws a young person into the gardening fold, and I am surprised when the reason is anything other than food. Indeed, Olivia was getting into raised bed veggie gardening. Like every generation before them, the 20 and 30 something's are influencing all of us in profound ways, including how we garden. Seed suppliers tell me that they are having trouble keeping vegetable and herb seeds on the racks. Especially kale seeds. Go figure. Have the kids actually tasted this stuff? I am more about carrots and tomatoes. The point, of course, is that we are growing food plants, including fruit trees and berry plants, in greater numbers than we have seen since the Victory Gardens of the Second World War.

5. Birds, butterflies and hummingbirds. It is almost wrong to lump all of these together in a sentence as each of them represents a 'stand alone' topic. However, you are busy and I only have so much space here, so let's consider the impact of this category of 'gardening' that is growing in popularity almost as quickly as food gardening. Today we are beginning to realise the positive impact that our actions have on the entire natural cycle that occurs just outside of our 'back door' when we attract birds, butterflies and hummingbirds to the garden. First, feeding them bird seed, hummingbird nectar and planting nectar and pollen rich flowering plants helps to bring them to your yard. Water features provide life and habitat for a host of desirable wildlife, especially still water (with a gold fish in it to control mosquitoes).

In the end, it is all about the frogs. If you manage to attract frogs, salamanders and toads to your yard (which you will do with the right plants and water) you will have passed the toughest biodiversity test of all: these creatures breathe through their skin and therefore are among the most environmentally sensitive. When you find a frog in your yard you are a champion of the environment. This is what leading edge gardening is all about today.

Salisbury Lions Club Swimming Pool News:

Our Life Guard and/or Instructing Staff this year (in no particular order), have been Leandra Stackhouse, Allison Perry, Aiden Pluta, Taryn Bleakney, Lucas Keating, Drew Duffy, Michelle Stackhouse, Ashley Legacy and C arson Trittes. In one fashion or another, they have continued with upgrading and/or advancing their certification levels. Their dedication to swimming enabled our pool to offer higher level classes of Canadian Swim Patrol Program, Bronze Star, Bronze Medallion, and Bronze Cross. Some of the achieved certifications will enable future instruction of Wading Pool Attendant, and Lifesaving Fitness and Distinction. Job well done on your achievements and advancements.

Shayna Perry has been fulfilling the responsibility of Program Facilitator. Not enough can really be said in thanks for her dedication, she certainly went well beyond the scope of responsibilities that had been devised. In fact, she provided much valuable input that allowed for growth of responsibilities for her particular position. Kids and parents alike have given much praise for the exciting and fun activities she has been devising for our swimmers while they wait at the pool. Thank you Shayna.

We would like to thank the community and all of the staff for helping us make the season such a success. A resounding congratulation to all of our swimmers on their achievements! We hope to see you back next year!

The Salisbury Parks & Leisure Department would like to thank all of our volunteer coaches for the Salisbury Flyers Minor Baseball Program and the summer soccer program for this past season! We could not run these programs without our dedicated volunteers.
