Federal and Provincial Governments Refuse to Meet With Community

On April 14th, 2014 the Clark Covered Bridge (Cherryvale Covered Bridge) located in Canaan Forks N.B. was washed away in the spring Freshet. The bridge turned off its abutments and travelled 12 miles down the Canaan River coming to rest under the Moncton to Fredericton Bridge crossing the Canaan River at Coles Island. As our icon travelled down the river it stayed mostly intact and months later was removed from the river. The bridge was 87 years old at the time of this devastating loss to our community.

We inquired about having our bridge replaced. We wrote e-mails to government, individuals wrote letters to DTI expressing the need for our bridge to be replaced. For two years the reply was "no decision has been made". Finally, Mr. Bill Fraser, Minister of DTI, replied to a letter written by a concerned citizen and stated the bridge would not be replaced. The reasoning for this decision was another route existed and the financial position of the government would not allow for a new bridge.

The community was very disappointed with this decision. We knew this bridge was needed. The Cherryvale Road floods each year and our residents on the south side of the river are unable to get in or get out. No medical services, no vets, no hydro trucks, or fire trucks etc. Everyone isolated until Mother Nature allows the river to recede. The McDonald bridge which is 6 km away also floods and usually damages the floor of the bridge and that route can be out of service for two to three weeks after a flood. The only route in or out is through the Salem Road which is a 40 km detour when the other routes are impassable.

The provincial Liberal Government decided to make improvements to the Salem Road to make it accessible year round. They built the road up and chip sealed the road. Prior to the work commencing we explained to local MLA Wetmore that this would not rectify the problem for 3 reasons

1) When Cherryvale Road floods the residents on the southside of the river can't get to the Salem Road;

2) Thornes brook bridge only rated for 15 ton resulting in service vehicles needed in an emergency would not be able to reach stranded individuals; 3) Loss of provincial snowmobile and atv trails if bridge not replaced.

Mr. Wetmore took concerns to Minister Fraser and requested Minister come meet with community but Minister refused.

As a community we felt we needed to be proactive in getting a bridge. We formed a committee and started investigating different opportunities for funding for a replacement bridge. We discovered Disaster Financial Assistance was a Federal program designed to replace Infrastructure lost due to weather events. It is based on a funding formula and we qualified for 90% funding towards a replacement bridge. To obtain the funding the Department of Transportation replaces the infrastructure and then Federal Government reimburses Provincial Government based on formula. If Provincial Government does not replace the infrastructure, then funds go to other provinces. Funding has a 5 year deadline.

Refuse to Meet with Community

The community was very excited knowing that the biggest hurdle was funding and we felt we had a reasonable solution. We felt we had a viable opportunity to have a replacement bridge which the Province would own and the Federal Government would pay 90 % of the cost. We started contacting government departments asking them to come to our community so we could explain our findings and explain how the bridge was essential for Tourism due to Snowmobile and AtV use. We e-mailed several Ministers and asked them to attend a public meeting. We expressed our desire to meet with the Ministers or staff in our community. We felt this was very fair as other communities had lost bridges and Minister Fraser went and met with their communities. We invited MP Lockhart or her staff and no one from her office would attend either.

It is not fiscally responsible for the Provincial Liberal Government to not access Federal funds based on a 90% Federal- 10% Provincial split on funding for a replacement bridge. Disaster Financial Assistance funding exist for this very type of situation. It should not matter if it happens in a rural area or an urban area.

The fourth anniversary of losing our bridge is on April 14th, 2018. After 4 years we still have not had a public meeting with any represented from DTI or from MP Lockhart in our community. As tax payers we feel the liberal governments are turning their backs on Rural N.B. Our committee is starting a petition to have Minister Fraser and other Government officials come meet with our community at a public meeting.

We are planning a rally at the bridge site at 1pm on April 14th. In the coming weeks you will see lawn signs at the end of residents driveways that say "Rural Lives Matter". All communities in rural N.B. have their own concerns and we hope others will help us by signing our petition or purchasing a lawn sign. Any support would be greatly appreciated.

WOMEN WALK THE WORLD

How many of you like to walk?

Here's an opportunity for you to organize your friends for a walk in your community. On April 29 Associated Country Women of the World (ACWW) is spearheading a walk for women around the world in the spirit of solidarity, friendship and exercise. This event is called WOMEN WALK THE WORLD.

This walk can be whatever works for you and your friend(s). Be creative in your planning. If April 29 does not work, choose another date....ask kids to join you (husbands and dogs also)....collect a loonie/toonie from each person and donate to a charity of your choice (maybe SPOT)...end your walk with coffee and chat. Consider tallying up the combined distance walked. Take pictures of your group. You could also advertise your plans. The larger your group the more you will be able to make people aware of the reason why you are walking - people will ask. Or, maybe you have been looking for the right time to spend some one on one time with a dear friend.

While you are walking, remember that other women around the world are doing the same as you on that day. While our lives vary from community to community and from country to country, we all understand the challenges we face in today's world both in the home and in society.

Associated Country Women of the World is a world organization of and for rural women with nine million members in 70 countries including Canada. Projects of the ACWW include Water for All and Women Feed the World. In New Brunswick Women's Institute branches are members of this world organization.

So, mark April 29 on your calendar. Remember that women all over the world are doing the same as you that day - thinking about you while you are thinking about them. And, it all starts in our little communities - talk to your friends and neighbours about going for a walk! Have fun!

Remembering April

by Gloria Scribner

While April is Easter's hostess I picture her dressed in pastels, the colours of tender new life; pink, aqua, baby blue, soft yellow hues, and shades of violet. April scent drifts nostalgically from rain drops stirring up puddles as bobbing umbrellas turn inside out on a whim of spring's (not so gentle) April breeze. As girls we were taught that to ensure a beautiful luster to one's hair we should wash it in the first spring rain water. Now we use conditioners but lose out on that once a year mad dash for the rain barrel.

We rake away old leaves in search of crocus, tulip, and anything else April may have coaxed up from the beds. We scan the lane and hedge for those buds of pussywillows, search the barn rafters (perhaps a bit prematurely) for new nests with a choir of open mouths and threatening mama's swooping. As a young girl in the '40s my favorite part of springtime was the restless anticipation of shedding those long winter stockings, garters, waists, and those horrid purple bloomers, not to forget those old gum rubber boots, itching wool jackets, leggings and sopping mittens. Oh! The wonderfully free sensation of bare legs in ankle socks. Of course the overshoes and rain capes lingered close by for a while.

A favourite day for my sister and I was the unpacking day, when last year's dresses were 'sized-up' and we found out what would be 'let down',

'handed down' or hopefully mean 'a trip to town'. Not for new clothes mind you, but for material. Mama made our clothes. In the country we went barefoot in summer but new shoes for Sunday or 'town' were usually chosen carefully and often a size big enough to last two years.

As a rule April usually welcomed in Easter weekend with ladies and little girls sporting new hats, and if the weather cooperated, a suit, and of course always gloves. They looked so elegant with their colourful hats and purses. As the church organ played the doxology and heads were tastefully reverent, contentment and gratitude assured that indeed; "He Is Risen", and the lily on the communion table shared its scent. The somber vigil of Good Friday behind us broken to new life as the sunrise service at dawn had welcomed over the horizon God's faithfulness once again.

At home, the families met together with cousins, aunts, uncles, and the familiar aroma of baked ham and all the fixin's. The hidden stash of coloured eggs having been collected in pretty straw baskets by dawn's early light. And still even now, as the last strains of "The Messiah" fade with another sunset we rejoice in new life and promise, and profound hope as once again we are reminded that "Gods in His heaven - All's right with the World."

Lets Eat Out at Chumbleys Eatery Ltd.

Food and its preparation have become a very popular pastime; not just a necessity but a hobby. There is a local food blogger and food stylist, Dennis the Prescott (from Riverview NB), who has written a cookbook "Eat Delicious". The Editors Choice in the March 2018 Readers Digest is "Apron Strings" by Jan Wong. Saltscapes, Canada's east coast magazine, always includes a food section well worth reading. The examples of this new food culture are endless.

You may have noticed that "local" is important to me. Charley and I did the 100 Mile Diet for 100 days in 2009, which was quite an eye-opener of what is available naturally within 100 miles of where we all live. So the places we frequent have to be local and use local. Right in our own village we have found a good place to eat.

Chumley's was originally owned by Mac Robinson and named after his father who was called "Chum". Tammy Statham took it over in 2001. There is a Chumley's in New York City which is a tad more upscale than the one in Petitcodiac (potpie for $43.00). They are also mentioned in the shows Mad

Men and Elementary.

Our Chumley's is at 254 Old Post Road, on the main road in and out of Petitcodiac. They have a Facebook page for you to find their hours and phone number (756-2486). The internet gives them good reviews: great cocktails, cozy, casual, great wings, wheelchair accessible and fab music. We drove by the other day and there were approximately 40 snowmobiles parked in the yard...quite an endorsement!

I have been a few times and enjoyed every meal. The last time I was there I ordered their famous Mushroom Mozza Burger with homemade fries...YUM! Charley had the Special that night which was pan fried haddock with fresh cut fries. Our meal came to $33.24 including taxes. Our friends had the thin crust 9 inch pizza, and the hot turkey sandwich.

The server was so friendly and willing to answer all our questions and adding facts to our journey around the area. The dining area was clean and bright and warm. We didn't get there for a music night but I have heard good things.

If you are in the restaurant and the train goes by, you will sense the nostalgia of the area and be very glad to be there at that moment. We plan to eat here again and again. There will be a huge event coming in October/November showcasing talent from all over. So let's mark that in our calendars!

From A Writer's Notebook by William Somerset Maugham, I leave you with this quote:

"At a dinner party one should eat wisely but not too well, and talk well but not too wisely." Something to start a conversation until next time when we say Let's Eat Out!

The Doctor Game
W. Gifford-Jones M.D.

Mediterranean Diet for a Long Life

Leonardo da Vinci once remarked, "Trifles make perfection and perfection is no trifle." Trifles can make a huge difference in surgery, when building rockets, in nutrition, or in life generally. For instance, a report in the publication Life Extension shows that a Mediterranean Diet prolongs life. As we all age, this is no trifle.

For years doctors and nutritionists have known the Mediterranean Diet is a "Five Star" one. But no one knew why this diet had such remarkable benefits. Now, researchers have discovered its success is due to polyphenols (a plant based compound). They lower the risk of cardiovascular disease (CVD) by an amazing 60 percent! This means fewer heart attacks, strokes, hypertension and less inflammation.

The author of the report, Michael Downey, says that most people fail to obtain sufficient polyphenols in their diet. Authorities agree that people should eat 10 servings of fruit and vegetables every day to reduce CVD risk. Unfortunately, for most people, it's impossible to consume this amount of fiber, nuts, artichokes, lentils, grapes, pomegranates, olives, fish and wine each day.

The Mediterranean Diet also affects the risk of dying. In 2016, at the European Society of Cardiology conference, a study showed that the number of those who followed the Mediterranean Diet were 37 percent less likely to die than those who ate a non-Mediterranean diet.

One researcher made the sage remark that "the Mediterranean Diet provides more protection against heart disease than most of today's prescription drugs!" And this isn't a trifle!

Since so many North Americans suffer from hypertension, one study is of particular importance. After a year on two types of Mediterranean Diets, subjects showed that blood pressure had declined. Equally important, researchers discovered that increased amounts of polyphenols and nitric oxide were being excreted by the kidneys.

Nitric oxide (NO) is nature's natural arterial relaxant. I've previously reported that, as we age, less NO is produced by our bodies, causing constriction of arteries, hypertension and erectile dysfunction. Neo40, a natural remedy, is a pill that produces NO and is available in Health Food Stores (HFS). Due to my age I've been using this product daily for several years.

In view of the increasing prevalence of Alzheimer's disease another finding is significant. Those who were consistent in following the Mediterranean Diet had less age-related brain shrinkage, Since it's a challenge for most people to consume sufficient polyphenols, extracts such as grapeseed, pomegranate, walnut, pecan and artichoke are also available in Health Food Stores.

I love blueberries and was pleased to read that numerous studies show blueberries supply the brain with increased amounts of oxygenated blood. British researchers studied the effect of blueberry concentrate on brain function for 12 weeks on a group of people with an average age of 68.

What made this experiment unique was that researchers analyzed brain function with a powerful MRI scanner while subjects were being asked questions. This revealed that blueberries produced a significant increase in brain activity.

Later, the use of blueberry concentrate on a group of children 7 to 10 years of age showed another amazing finding. They were given a battery of tests over a period of several hours. Significant improvements in memory were seen as quickly as 1.25 hours after using blueberry concentrate.

Some authorities have labelled blueberries as the number one antioxidant. This means that blueberries destroy what's known as free radicals, the waste products of metabolism, which are associated with an aging brain, cancer, and heart disease

So the Mediterranean Diet is a prudent way to fight these major problems as it contains a variety of fruits, vegetables, fish, grapes, nuts, fiber, and tomatoes loaded with lycopenes which may help to prevent prostate cancer. A variety of healthy polyphenol extracts are all available in Health Food Stores.

I'll add more blueberries to my diet. I'll also continue taking Neo40 and several thousand milligrams of vitamin C powder daily, which carries more oxygenated blood to the brain. Why? Because during the past year no reader has been able to inform me of anyone who has developed Alzheimer's disease while taking 4000 to 6,000 mg of vitamin C daily for several years. This is a very interesting finding.

5 Ways Volunteer Driving Programs Impact Communities and Help Save the Government Money

1. They reduce missed medical appointments. Every year a significant number of doctor and specialist appointments are missed. Some due to illness but a great deal of them are because many people find themselves unable to find a ride to their appointments. Once having exhausted the list of friends and family in search for a ride, they give up and miss the appointment. Volunteer driving programs like Rural Rides offer an affordable option for people to get to their doctor office.

2. They reduce the burden on nursing homes by helping people stay in their homes longer. Seniors who lack the ability to drive or lack access to transportation have difficulty keeping up with regular medical appointments accessing food and other needs and are more isolated. All these factors contribute to health and mental wellness so by offering an affordable and reliable form of transportation for seniors, Rural Rides helps improve overall health and helps seniors stay in their homes longer.

3. While there exist some great resources in larger municipalities for career training, resume building and job searching, residents who live in rural areas without transportation have difficulty accessing those programs. Volunteer driving programs help people get a hand up while looking for employment so they can become independent and eventually establish their own transportation to work.

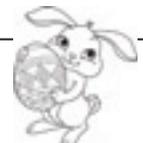

4. They help small communities and rural areas keep their citizens. Low income families and seniors who cannot afford transportation or who are unable to drive often migrate to cities with public transportation to help them access life essentials. When small communities and rural areas offer an affordable form of transportation to their residents, it helps them stay in the communities they know and love.

5. They help lower absenteeism in the work force. Adult children with aging parents who have health issues often take a lot of time off work to transport their parents to medical appointments. Having a reliable affordable transportation option helps ensure seniors can get to their appointments without their adult children needing to miss time at work.

Rural Rides is a volunteer driving program that utilizes volunteer drivers to help provide affordable transportation to residents in Salisbury, Petitcodiac, Havelock, Elgin, River Glade, Upper Coverdale and Boundary Creek and all points in between. If you need affordable transportation call 215-2100 to register as a client.

“Ask Your MLA” -

Ross Wetmore, MLA Gagetown-Petitcodiac

With my years of experience in the private sector, I am keenly aware how hard it is to meet a payroll, pay increasing property tax, and sign those ever increasing cheques to Work Safe even when no one has filed a claim.

New Brunswick businesses pay the highest taxes in Canada and they don’t get a very good return for their money. The Canadian Federation of independent Business prepared a chart that showed of thirteen financial actions taken by the Gallant government between 2015 and 2017 which affect businesses, 10 have had a negative impact. Increases to gas, diesel, property, land transfer, and large business tax along with HST, Workers Comp Premiums and three increases to minimum wage have had a suffocating effect on growth. As Robert Jones of the CBC reported, New Brunswick’s economic growth is expected to be the worst of all ten provinces in 2018 at 0.9625%.

On February 26th, as a result of the latest provincial budget, Dominion Bond Rating Service warned investors that the New Brunswick government is becoming susceptible to future economic shocks. One day later Finance Minister Cathy Rogers said they will not change spending outlined in the budget.

In the 2018-19 budget, Finance Minister Rogers stated “We have restored fiscal order to the provincial government budget”. Yet, the Gallant government is projecting their fourth consecutive deficit ($189 million this year) and announced that they now have no plan to balance the budget until 2022. This despite record levels of revenue from taxes.

On page 21 of the budget we learned that the net debt as of this year-end is $14,359,474.00.

Expressed on a personal level, this is more than $18,900 for every man, woman and child in New Brunswick and climbing. This year we will pay more than $700 million in interest payments.

When will this end?

Hopefully, the end of out-of-control taxing and spending will end on September 24th of this year. The coming six months promise to be a non-stop campaign of election promises and fear-mongering by Brian Gallant and his Liberal team. For our part, Blaine Higgs and our PC team will be presenting the facts after four years of Gallant government.

New Brunswick is the highest taxed jurisdiction in Canada. Our students lead the country in student debt. New Brunswick residents report the lowest net worth of any province. On a per capita basis more people file for bankruptcy than in any province. We have the longest health wait times in the nation and a health care crisis in overcrowding and ambulance service as well as critical levels of stress, PTSD and mental health and trauma claims among our paramedics.

While our people have been suffering, the Gallant government has used their majority in the legislature to ram through a record number of tax increases and every Liberal MLA has voted in favour of every tax increase that has been introduced.

We can do better, we must do better and we will do better.

The Mud and Mr. Budd
By Gloria Scribner

The 'Mountain Road' was muddy
It was quite an awful thing
As the men in their frustration
Had been victimized by spring.
Cars in mud up to their axles
For the rain had stirred it up.
And the 'Mountain Road' in April
Was a slippery stretch of muck.
The bus that went to Rogersville
From Moncton had broken down.
As ladies losing patience
Rued that springtime trip to town.
Now the cars were so much faster
And in summer bore their load.
But in Spring those little autos
Stuck in the mud on Mountain Road.
As the gentry pushed and shoved
With every fellow joining forces,
It was finally suggested,
"Mr. Budd should fetch his horses."
The team pulled out the mired ones
And got the bus mobile again.
But the ladies from the country
Said, "Next time we'll take the train."

RECIPE OF THE MONTHChicken Fricot*Serves 6*Ingredients

- 1 chicken
- 2 tbsp. (30 ml) butter
- 1 large chopped onion
- 1 tbsp. (15 ml) flour
- 12 cups (3 L) water
- 1 tbsp. (15 ml) summer savoury
- 5 cups (1.25 L) diced potatoes
- 2 cups (500 ml) carrots, sliced (optional, to taste)
- 1 cup (250 ml) celery, chopped (optional, to taste)
- Salt and pepper

Preparation

Cut the chicken into large pieces and brown them in butter, making sure that all sides are golden brown. Remove the chicken and sauté the onion in the butter. Add the flour and sauté the onion for another 1 - 2 minutes. Add the water, the chicken, salt, pepper and summer savoury. Simmer the mixture until the chicken is tender (about a half hour). Add the potatoes, carrots and celery. Cook for another 20 minutes.

Variation: Pâtes (see recipe below) are frequently added to fricot. When using pâtes, omit the flour from the traditional recipe, and add the dumplings to the fricot about 7 minutes before the fricot is ready to be served, taking care not to uncover the pot while the dumplings are cooking.

PASTA

In a bowl, mix 1 cup (250 ml) of flour with ½ tsp. (3 ml) of salt and 1 tbsp. (15 ml) of baking powder. Gradually add ½ cup (125 ml) of cold water.

Drop the mixture into the fricot or pot-en-pot a spoonful at a time. Cover and simmer for 7 minutes.

In a book I recently read about an auto manufacturer in the early 1900's, the author was given this notation from the relative of a man who had worked at this factory and assembly plant. --The whole building shook and oneself from one's soles to one's ears and was possessed by this shaking which vibrated from the ground, the glass panes and all this metal, a series of shocks from floor to ceiling. One was turned by force into a machine oneself, the whole of one's carcass quivering in this vast frenzy of noise, smoke and fumes which filled the air and was absorbed within you and all around the inside of your skull and lower down, rattled your bowels and climbed to your eyes in quick unending strokes. When you arrived home from your shift, you were still vibrating from the monstrous hell on earth environment! Hmm.....I'll bet my last roll of toilet tissue that when using the washrooms in that plant, you would be vibrating as you sat on the throne. Reading a magazine would have been a challenge trying to hold the book still to focus on the print. You'd be er .. ah , flush with intensity!

Here is a little limerick from the era of the roaring 20's ----

It was early last September as early as I can remember while strolling down the lane in tipsy prime

Not a word did I utter, as I lay down in the gutter
And this pig came and lay down by my side.

Not a soul was I disturbing, as I lay there by the curbing
When this high toned lady stopped and I heard her say

You can tell someone who boozes, by the company he chooses

NASCAR Star Kenny Wallace Announces Entry in IWK 250

One of NASCAR's most popular personalities, Kenny Wallace, will be at Riverside International Speedway this July for the IWK 250 presented by Steve Lewis. Wallace, whose infectious personality and trademark laugh have made him a long-time fan favourite, announced his entry into the event this afternoon on his Twitter account.

"Hello Canada," said Wallace in the tweet. "I am excited to come see the beautiful area of Nova Scotia and race on asphalt Saturday, July 14 at Riverside (International) Speedway. I will see you this summer."

Wallace will drive a car out of Antigonish's Nova Racing stable; 2016 IWK 250 winner and track owner Donald Chisholm will be a teammate.

"We are extremely happy to have Kenny follow a long list of great drivers to race the IWK 250," said Chisholm. "He has a ton of energy and will do a great job promoting and building the event. We are already working on preparing a car for him that is capable of winning the race. I reminded Kenny how tough it is to win the 250 and I think that only made him more interested to come and be a part of it."

Wallace, a native of St. Louis, has 905 starts in NASCAR's top three series and holds the all-time record for the most starts in the XFINITY Series, showing his longevity in the sport. He retired from a 25-year NASCAR driving career in 2015 after scoring nine wins in 547 XFINITY Series starts, one of which came at Bristol Motor Speedway (TN) - which Riverside's 1/3-mile oval is modeled after. Wallace is still involved with NASCAR as an analyst with FOX Sports Racing and still drives race cars, mostly dirt, at short tracks throughout America.

"It is true I race dirt a lot but asphalt racing has been my whole life," said Wallace in a phone interview. "I still run a handful of them every year and I take a lot of pride in that."

He's especially excited about the IWK 250 being one of the asphalt races he's hand-selected for this year. It was last year's guest celebrity driver, NASCAR legend Mark Martin, who sold him on being a part of the IWK 250.

As part of his visit to Nova Scotia, Wallace will make an appearance at the IWK Health Centre in Halifax where he will visit with patients and their families.

"I've heard so much about the IWK," he said. "I have three daughters, two grandbabies and two more on the way. I am very passionate about children so I'm really looking forward to the hospital visit."

This will be Wallace's first visit to Nova Scotia; he's looking forward to it - and he feels an affinity for Canada.

"As much as I love racing, I love to travel," he said. "I was lucky enough to race in other parts of Canada when I was younger. My mother's family was from Canada so we heard lots about it growing up - I feel a connection to Canada. I've never been to Nova Scotia and am excited to see it."

Wallace is the son of a well-known Midwest racer, the late Russ Wallace, and brother of fellow NASCAR racers Rusty Wallace and Mike Wallace. Kenny Wallace started his racing career as a fabricator for Rusty before moving into the driver's seat himself. He won the first race he ever entered, in 1982, in a street stock. In 1986 he raced with the American Speed Association (ASA) winning rookie of the year honours. In 1988 he got his break in NASCAR driving for Dale Earnhardt (Sr.) in the XFINITY Series at Martinsville Speedway (VA) where he finished seventh.

With his win in 2008, Regan Smith is the only guest driver to take the checkers at the IWK 250. Other NASCAR racers that have challenged the region's best in the event include Aric Almirola, Marcos Ambrose, Matt Crafton, Ricky Craven, Brad Keselowski, Joey Logano, Mark Martin, and David Reutimann.

The IWK 250 is a championship points race with the Parts for Trucks Pro Stock Tour (PST), round six of 12 for the 2018 campaign. Truro's Dylan Blenkhorn is the defending champion of the IWK 250.

Since its inception in 2007, the IWK 250 has helped raise awareness and more than $500,000 for the IWK.

The IWK 250 presented by Steve Lewis is one on Canada's biggest stock car races and the culmination of a four-day weekend that sees the population of James River grow drastically with the influx of close to 1,000 RV's on-site at Riverside. The weekend kicks off Wednesday (July 11) with practice for support classes, on Thursday (July 12) it's pro stock practice and the IWK 250 Tailgate Party, Friday (July 13) will see racing action with the Napa Sportsman Series and Maritime League of Legends, and Saturday (July 14) is the IWK 250.

Moranda van Geest - candidate for the 2018 Green Party for the Albert Riding

This year, for the very first time, I will be entering the provincial election as a candidate. Although my profile says farmer, I feel that label describes only the job I did for 45 years. I'm a person born into an entrepreneurial sea-faring family.

Our province will need to take a stand, making sure that tax dollars no longer disappear to tax havens outside New Brunswick. This one issue is hurting our province more than any other issue. We must stop giving privileges to the rich. Instead, we must make sure every person, regardless of their financial position, can send their children to college, trade school or university after high school. That would be equality. The government must ensure the social, economic, political and cultural well-being of its citizens.

We need to make the best use of our natural resources. The choices we are making today are going to matter more than ever before. We can no longer ignore the devastating effects the dwindling health of our planet has on our personal health. Caring for our planet means caring for life itself. The land feeds us; the water hydrates us. We need clean air to breathe. What are you envisioning for your great-grandchildren? Are we willing to stick up for them, today? Are we willing to implement sustainable living? This is one of the principles of the Green Party." It is a fundamental fact the Earth's ability to provide resources and energy to meet human demands and to absorb waste and pollution is limited. Our primary responsibility is to learn to live within the ecological and resource limits of the planet."

New Brunswick communities must oversee their own destiny to the greatest extent possible. What does that mean? It means a community getting the maximum value from its resources - human resources, capital resources and natural resources. It means more local entrepreneurs and wealth circulating in communities instead of leaving them. I want to move forward with the new generation of people, people with innovative ideas, and create a new wave of entrepreneurs.

Tourism offers a wealth of new opportunities. Minimizing the physical degradation of nature is important if we want to attract tourists. A new forest management plan should be put in place to protect the vast wilderness tourists are seeking. Money from tourism is new money coming in and provides opportunity for entrepreneurs.

We must ensure that all residents are able to meet their own needs and realize their full potential. It takes a government to help realize this goal. The government is elected to represent the people, not corporate interests. We need the wisdom, confidence and leadership from government to make this happen.

February 15, 1981. Seventeen Classic Chevy owners showed up and together they formed the Classic Chevy Club of Nova Scotia. Their first slate of officers was:

- Skip Collier – President
- Gary Porter - Vice President
- Peter Phillips – Secretary
- Wayne Conrod – Treasurer
- Greg Melanson - Sergeant at Arms

By the end of 1981, they became 100 percent affiliate of Classic Chevy International that was formed in Florida.

The club's objective was to restore and preserve 1955-57 Chevrolet cars and trucks.

The Club is about enjoying their cars rather than competing. Since its formation the club has had 320 members, including members from Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick, Newfoundland and the USA.

The Classic Chevy Club of Nova Scotia is an active member of the National Association of Antique Automobile Canada Corporation and of the Maritime Motorsports Hall Of Fame Inc.

Rankine Smith

It is with great sadness that we announce the passing of Rankine M. Smith of Petitcodiac on March 11, 2018. Born in 1929, he was the son of the late Ewart and Lenore (Coulthard)

Smith of Woodstock, NB. He is survived by Esther, his loving wife of sixty years; his children, Julie (Randy) Caldwell, Vicki (Patrick) Cormier, Art (Sarah) Smith, and Andrew (Laureen) Smith; grandchildren, Alex, Austin, Rebecca, Curtis, Adam, and Ellery; nieces, Lori (Fleming) Neilson and Sharon (the late Paul) Cote, and other family members. He was predeceased by his sister Vivian (Gerald) Doucet and brother Bradford (Maria) Smith.

Rankine spent 36 years as an innovative and dedicated member of the teaching profession. He taught in numerous communities throughout the province finishing his career as Principal of the Petitcodiac Regional High School (1966 - 1983). After many years of night classes and summer schools, he received his Bachelor degree from UdeM. He received his Master of Education from Colorado State University in 1973.

Rankine was an avid sports enthusiast and played many sports over the years, but basketball became his true passion. As a young man in Woodstock, NB he played on the 1948 Dominion Championship team, and carried that passion for the sport throughout his life, including authoring the book, "The History of Basketball in New Brunswick". He dedicated countless hours to the game of basketball as a player, coach and through his association with Basketball New Brunswick. He coached or managed several Provincial Champion Boys and Girls high school teams and was honoured to have been inducted into the Woodstock Sports Hall of Fame.

After his retirement from teaching Rankine became active in municipal affairs, serving for several years as a Village Councillor for Petitcodiac as well as several provincial committees, including serving as President of the NB Villages Association. His interest in municipal government led to his second book, "Equal Opportunity Revisited". Always generous with his time Rankine was active in many community pursuits, most notably Friends of the Moncton Hospital, the Diabetes and Heart Associations and the Saint James United Church.

His family will receive friends at Armstrongs Funeral Chapel, 33 Russell St. Petitcodiac (756-2361) on Friday, March 16, 2018 from 5 - 8 pm and will celebrate Rankine's life with a service at the Saint James United Church in Petitcodiac at 11:00 am on Saturday, March 17, 2018 with Rev. Stephen Brown officiating.

The family wishes to express their appreciation to the staff of the Jordan Life Care Center for their loving care of Rankine over the last five years.

If so desired, donations in Rankine's name can be made to The Alzheimer's and Dementia Society, Canadian Diabetes Association, The Jordan Life Care Centre, or the charity of their choice.
