Our Flag - Our Country by Gloria Scribner

Rest your weary head upon the flag that birthed our land
As you boldly wave the Maple Leaf you carry in your hand
For memory haunts the history of boys on foreign sod
As surely as the red and white became an act of God
Be gentle, brave and patriotic, honouring the past
But remember that the Maple Leaf was once the Union Jack
Take pride in her accomplishments, for we deserve to stand
With faithful hearts and charity as those from other lands
Seek out the haven that we own to rest a weary heart
We offer shelter and embrace all those who'll play a part
In holding up the "red and white" and boldly let her wave
As rippling winds speak volumes of a country true and brave,
Nor bring to shame our fathers name who built across the years
This homeland we call Canada with blood and sweat and tears
So wave the flag and celebrate and dance the night away
Oh Canada! May your tomorrows look back on today
And smile and open wide the land of opportunity
With no regret but birthing yet a dawn of unity.

From the Editor

First I want to congratulate all Graduates and give you helpful advice - Don't be selfish, don't live to make a good impression on others. Be humble, thinking of others as better than yourself. Don't just think about your own affairs, but be interested in others, too, and in what they are doing. Good luck in your next endeavor. Thank you to all who came out to the Petty AutoFest. July 4-8 is the Atlantic Nationals in Moncton. There will be plenty to look at there.

There are three race events in July at Petty Raceway. Don't forget the Codiac Classics Car Show in Petitcodiac July 22. There will be lots of beautiful cars and trucks.

There is the annual IWK 250 at Riverside Speedway, Antigonish July 12-14. Kenny Wallace of NASCAR is to be there.

Be sure to check the listings in this paper for what is happening in and around our area.

Your editor,
Winona McLean

Sneak Peak for August - ELGIN DAY - August 12 - Starting at 1 pm there will be music and food in the Elgin Eco Park. Then, head on over to The WI Hall at 2 pm. for free ice cream sundaes and displays, contests, and exhibits. This year's theme will be 'Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow'. Join your friends and neighbours for a time to reminisce....check out programs and activities going on this year....and hear about plans for the future. More details will be available soon. If you have any questions, please contact Hazelanna at 756-2531.

As a reminder, if you would like to book The Hall for an event, please give us a call.

Have a wonderful safe and happy summer. See you soon!

Summer!!! Finally. The EEA has lots of opportunities for everybody to enjoy this summer.

Congratulations to Carly Dickson who was chosen the recipient of the Elgin Eco Association Bursary of $500 .

Just today, June 20 we have build 4 large garden boxes in the Park. These boxes will grow vegetables for those that have no garden. They are a height that makes it easy for elderly people to use them. The EEA has some seeds available, but you are welcome to plant something if you like on planting day. This will be announced on Facebook and by email. If it wasn't for the many volunteers all this would not be possible. We encourage more participation with the upkeep of the park. When you use it we ask if you please pull a few weeds. This will make a significant difference in the ascetics of the park. We are not a municipality where a work crew is sent to do the clean-up. It is only volunteers, we must keep that in mind.

People have asked when Elgin Day will take place. Elgin Day will be held on August 12 from 1 pm to 4 pm. There will be more information on this later.

The Kayaks are ready for rent. Please go to our Elgin Eco Facebook page or our new website eeanb.com for more info. You can also call the Maple Tree Café at 756 -2160 for reservations.

We are starting to prepare for our annual bike race. We are always looking for sponsors for our bike race. This year we are working to raise funds to acquire land for biking trails.

The EEA has received a grant to buy Fat bikes. They will be available for rent.

We would also like to make everybody aware that our little libraries in the park and on the W.I Hall grounds are still in operation. Bring a book and take a book. Wonderful reading material in the little libraries.

Throughout the summer and fall we have Samantha Christensen working on the Elgin eats program. She provides a fun educational time and cooking events every week. For adults and children. Samantha Christensen, Program Facilitator & Coordinator, Elgin Eats, 506.215.1222

“But Roosevelt Knows How to be President!”

72 years ago I arrived in Boston. I'd been accepted as a student at The Harvard Medical School. That night a full moon shone on the school's white marble buildings, an awe-inspiring sight I've never forgotten.

I recently returned for a 68th reunion, attended lectures, and as a former student was interviewed by a film crew. At one point the interviewer asked, “What are your thoughts in this robotic age of medicine?”

His question reminded me of a comment I'd heard years ago. A White House reporter once asked an assistant working with U.S. President Franklin D. Roosevelt, “Does the President really understand all of the economic bill he's presenting to Congress?” The aide thought for a moment and replied, “Possibly not, but Roosevelt understands how to be President.” He implied that some presidents never learn this important role.

Today, in an increasing electronic world, some doctors never learn to be doctors. In the computer age it's understandable. For instance, many readers have probably encountered this situation, young doctors so weaned on computers they spend more time typing reports into a screen than talking to, examining, or looking at the patient!

This lead to another question, “What did I think medicine would be like 50 years from now?” I replied that we were already witnessing a dramatic change in how medicine is practiced. Today, the average family doctor spends barely a few minutes with each patient. This is not the doctor's fault. It's the fault of the harried system.

For example, when a vastly overweight person enters the office, doctors know a number of problems are either present or imminent. There's a good chance that type 2 diabetes will occur somewhere down the road. The doctor also knows that with Type 2 diabetes, there's a 50 percent chance of heart attack.

So how can any family doctor, in a few minutes, solve that problem? The point is he or she can't. In the future, doctors will have assistants. One that will advise what's wrong with food in the patient's pantry. Another will prescribe a shopping list for good food choices. And another will arrange an exercise program in the gym. Some corporations are already paying for this new approach as they realize it will prevent tons of medical expenses later on while treating chronic disease that never should have happened.

Since I spent my medical life in surgery, I was asked what would happen in the OR down the road. Even today some surgery is done by robotics. I have no doubt this will increase and benefit patients in many ways, by reducing time and error.

I left this Harvard trip knowing the future of medical care is in good hands, but both doctors and patients will have to adapt. Patients will have to accept that computer medicine is here to stay. Doctors will hopefully learn that patients still exist who have fears and need eye to eye contact.

Harvard is educating more students who become professors and researchers. But family physicians must still have a major role. During the filming I told the story of one such case. One morning after surgery I returned to the recovery room to check on my patient. I noticed three doctors leaning over the bedside of another patient. They were worried about the patient's breathing.

The surgeon, anesthetist, and an ear nose and throat specialist had been summoned for an opinion. All believed the patient was suffering a serious respiratory obstruction and were arranging emergency tracheotomy. The family doctor suddenly arrived.

He listened to their opinion and then listened to the patient's breathing. Stepping back from the bed, he laughed. “I've known George for 40 years” he said, “and he always breathed this way.” Surgery was cancelled. In this, a computer could not compete!

A return to HMS always confirms my early decision to become a doctor. I still believe it's the noblest profession of all. And that regardless of how medicine changes it must follow the advice of one of Harvard's great teachers who remarked, “The secret of caring for the patient is caring for the patient.”

We don't yet know whether the computer can learn to do that.

Rural Rides Welcomes a New Dispatcher

Rural Rides has been providing affordable transportation in the Upper Petitcodiac River Valley since 2014. Over the years, it has become apparent that there is a need for such a service in other parts of Westmorland and Albert Counties. Despite Tele-drive offering the service in Albert County and the Volunteer Center of Southeastern NB providing a modified version of the service in Moncton, Riverview and Dieppe since 1999 there are areas in the region without the service.

In a collaborative effort of the three groups, a pilot project was launched in Tantramar in June of 2017 and it was a great success. Tantramar continues to grow and needs more volunteer drivers to support the increasing demand in that region.

The three groups: Rural Rides, Tele-drive and Volunteer Center of Southeastern NB, formed an association named WA Transpo. In July of 2018, WA Transpo will add service to the remaining uncovered areas - Shediac, Cap Pele, Grand Barachois, Shemogue, Haute Aboujagane, Cormier Village and Memramcook. In order to provide service in those areas, a fluently bilingual person is required to answer the phones so service can be provided to both Anglophone and Francophone clients. On June 4, Mary Ann Ross was welcomed to the WA Transpo team as the new dispatcher who will be booking the rides for all clients in the Westmorland and Albert Counties. Having a dispatcher handle the day to day calls will also free up the managers to work on new projects, continue to look for funding options and explore options for enhancing the services offered.

Rural Rides continues to exist as an independent charitable organization but is part of the WA Transpo team sharing resources and a dispatcher with the other organizations. More information can be found on the the website at <http://watranspo.org>

If you are already a client of Rural Rides, you can now book your rides by calling Mary Ann at 962-3073, Monday to Friday from 8:30 am to 4:30 pm.

If you would like to register as a client or volunteer as a driver or have someone come and explain the service to a group, please contact Kelly at 215-2100 for more information on how to register as a client or driver. Registration forms can also be found on the WA Transpo website at <http://watranspo.org>

Let's Eat Out

At Gasthof Old Bavarian Restaurant

Take the Knightville Road (behind Anagance Ridge) until you come to #1130 and you have arrived at a most unique place. It is a restaurant, farm and butcher shop all run by the same family. This enterprise is owned and managed by three German girls and their mother. Claudia oversees the restaurant and she looked after us when we went for lunch on this Friday. We did not have a reservation but there was lots of room. It is advised to have a reservation for the evening sittings. They are only open Friday, Saturday and Sunday, and their hours change for summer and winter. The phone number is 433-4735. They also have a website oldbavarian.ca. You can pay with cash or cheque only-important to know before you go.

I had been looking forward to this visit for some time as I lived in Germany as a young girl. Food evokes memories, and I was curious what foods would make me remember my short time eating authentic fare. I remembered the names of the food but not the flavours. And oh, those flavours are delicious!

The atmosphere was very cozy with music playing softly in the background, covering the conversations of those around. The wood décor and colourful fabric and knick knacks was very peaceful and interesting. This restaurant was featured on an episode of the television show "You Gotta Eat Here".

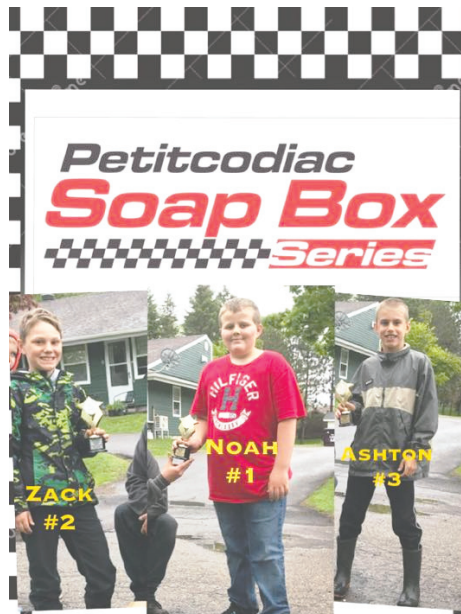

Charley ordered the Sausage Platter and I the Bavarian Schnitzel Dinner. These came with Soup of the Day which was Potato and Leek—one of the best I have tasted. Also included was a basket filled with three kinds of homemade bread. This is what was on my plate: green cabbage coleslaw, purple cabbage coleslaw, mashed potatoes, greens salad, potato salad, tomato, cucumbers in sour cream and dill (now I don't care for dill but I ate all of it) and 4 good size pieces of pork schnitzel. Schnitzel is meat that is thinned by pounding with a meat tenderizer, breaded and fried. Charley enjoyed his meal very much, too. His plate was similar to mine except he had three homemade sausages, all different flavours and added sauerkraut. We could not manage to eat dessert but will order that first when we go again. The bill came to $52.35 tax included. This was our most expensive meal so far, but certainly worth it.

Another place I ate out this month was Elgin Eats. Held at the Women's Institute Hall in Elgin, this is free to all. You must preregister so Samantha can have enough prepared for everyone. The first "class" I attended we learned how to cook without sugar. I say class, but it is not like school. We are all sharing ideas and participating in the cooking and tasting. Samantha told us that there is hidden sugar in a lot of our foods, even salt. What? I went home and checked the ingredients of my box of Windsor table salt, and sure enough, sugar! The next class I attended was how to cook with rhubarb which is so applicable at this season. So if you want to eat out, but your budget doesn't include it, then check out Elgin Eats. I hope to see you there when we can eat out together!

The late host of the CBC program Morningside, Peter Gzowski, once interviewed a great Canadian author who has published many fiction books over the years. Toward the end of the interview, Peter asked this question.... If you were ever marooned on a small desolate island out in the Pacific Ocean, what book would you prefer to have with you? The authors answer - How to build a boat !

At a movie theater, the usher noticed that an older man was laying across 3 theater seats. He shines his flashlight on him and says...ah, excuse me sir but you're only permitted to occupy 1 seat. The man lets out a grunt but does not move. The usher asks again but there is no compliance from the gentleman, so he goes to get the manager. The manager arrives and politely asks the gentleman to please sit up and only occupy 1 seat. Again, the old fella lets out a couple of grunts but does not move. Out of frustration, the manager goes outside of the theater and brings in a policeman. The officer approaches the fella and he inquires...what's your name buddy? The old fella mutters...ahh, Fred. The officer asks...where are you from Fred? Again he lets out 4 or 5 deep grunts, looks up at the officer and says....f f from t t the b b balcony !!

Gerard 'Gerry' Clow - In 1983, Gerry purchased a 1969 Mustang 428 Cobra Jet convertible Stock Eliminator and went drag racing. In 1986 he joined a group of 16 top Maritime drag racers to redevelop the Maitland NS drag strip. In May 1987 he became the first New Brunswicker to win an NHRA Division event (Old Bridge Township Raceway Park, Englishtown, New Jersey). In 1998 Gerry achieved perhaps his greatest success in drag racing; while still a participant he became a promoter of which he continued until 2010 - by then local interest had expanded from less than 12 racers to over 24. 2008 was a highlight when he partnered with sponsors at Miramichi Dragway to host the richest Stock/Super Stock race in the Maritimes, with over 20 cars registered. In 2010, he retired.

Robert 'Bob' Duncan - Bob Duncan raced in New Brunswick at Brookside Speedway, Hammond River Raceway, River Glade Speedway, Petty Raceway and Speedway 660. In 1989 he raced two full schedules, a late model with MASCAR and a sportsman at Hammond River Raceway; he won the division championship at Hammond River. In 1991 he became owner/crew chief for his sons, Dana and Chris. For a time he had three cars running at Speedway 660, for his sons and himself. As a crew chief, Bob's cars won championships in 1993 at Hammond River and in 1994 at Speedway 660. From 1998 to 2005 the Duncan family had the only two-car pro stock team in the Maritimes. Bob still helps his son Chris in his racing career at Speedway 660.

James MacKinnon - He competed from 1956 to 1969 as a motorcycle racer, road racer, drag racer and a great club supporter. He held the Maritime Road Racing Championship for three years. In 1961, riding his Norton 99, he won the Grand Prix Motorcycle Race at the Scoudouc airfield, taking home the Frank Buxton trophy and $50.00. Besides Scoudouc, he raced at McEwen's in New Brunswick; at Atlantic Park and Maitland in Nova Scotia, and at Mosport in Ontario.

Canadian

By Gloria Scribner

Canada stands for all that is home; From the shores of the Atlantic coast as the sun rises over the Grand Banks and wends its way across the Appalachians. Likewise she illuminates the Canadian shield on her advance towards farms and rivers and highways where waving wheat and canola blossoms dance across the vastness of her prairies.

From Eastern fisheries to Alberta oil-fields where the pumps churn black bounty from the belly of the earth, black oil, old as time, recycled dinosaurs, ancient warriors, and pre-historic flora were destined to warm our homes even as its newly refined blood pounds through the heart of industry.

Canadian dawn crosses the Rockies to the ghostly echo of thundering horses hooves intermingled with the winds of chinook and blinding duststorm, after a heavenly display of star-strewn wonder.

Canada is the fleeting apple blossoms of Annapolis Valley and the bounty of the Peace River. From the Yukon she reaches southward to the border that defines her and as she comes to a halt summons her identity in one mad geological community, a menagerie of desert, forest, prairie and river called Alberta. A melting pot of God's goodness, and He watches over the centuries to see what we'll make of the rest of her. And we made Canada "our Village."

A country free, yet not without conditions. Beautiful, but Fragile as the mercy of her men. Cold, yet warmed by the fires of the ancients long ago, now by infrared baseboards of our mansions. Tough, but only as strong as the hearts and sinew of her sons and daughters. A good country, woven from the cords of wisdom and the fibers of stubborn ambition, whose determination strengthens the whole.

Canada is a land of give and take, of ups and downs, joy and sorrow, life and death, laughter and tears, toil and rest, of young and old, but most importantly it's a country of yours and mine.

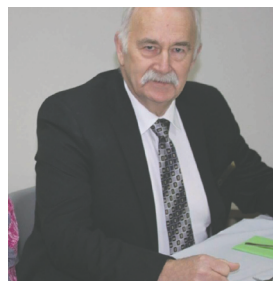

The flag that waves from the Parliament Building boasts the Maple Leaf, but as a child in the 40's I saluted the Union Jack. When the old school became "just a memory" I folded up the faded blue and red remnant of my youth and tucked it away in a trunk. The years have changed my country. They've changed my values as well (as adulthood is prone to do). I no longer sing "Rule Britannia" but still treasure the mem'ry of her once vast Empire, and take pride in the Canada she helped birth. I no longer sing "The Maple Leaf Forever" but I smile as she waves aloft the Flag Poles of my nation.

I remember the faces of history whose names fade in and out of my memory like the haunting beauty of Northern Lights and all I can say about this homeland and my Countrymen past and present is:

"Thank God I'm a Canadian."

After The Bell

Dedicated to ending child hunger

Laurie Stewart
Board President
Working To End Hunger in New Brunswick

Goal of After the Bell: To support food banks to deliver child-friendly, nutritious food to kids during the summer months when school-based support programs aren't available.

In 2017, 30,000 packs were delivered in 4 provinces regions: Saskatchewan, Ontario, Quebec, and Nova Scotia and now this year New Brunswick is added to the list.

This year, we'll deliver nearly 70,000 packs in 9 regions the program goes from July & August for 8 weeks. Food Banks Canada will send each participating food bank enough packs to last through 8 weeks in summer. the packs will contain non-perishable child-friendly nutritious food, including snacks, protein, breakfast foods and is meant to be brought home to fill some of the gaps the kids might have in accessing food over the summer.

Food Banks Canada provides each participating food bank with funding to purchase fresh food (ex. fruits & vegetables) to add to each pack.

Ask Your MLA Ross Wetmore

In this fall's election, what will be the issues that matter most to you?

I believe for many New Brunswickers health care will be an issue whether it is hospital overcrowding, wait times, getting a family doctor or ambulance service.

In this segment, I would like to concentrate on the ambulance aspect of health care. Ambulance issues have been in the news pretty much continually since Brian Gallant became Premier In April of 2015. CUPE revealed that the Gallant government directed Ambulance NB to cut one ambulance in Chipman.

On September 1st, 2015, a Minto resident had to be driven to hospital by her husband as there was no ambulance available when a doctor at the Queen's North Health Centre ordered one. It didn't take long for the warnings from the community, union and Official Opposition to Brian Gallant regarding the removal of an ambulance to come true.

In August of 2017, the Mayor of Saint Quentin spoke about the death of a teenage girl and wondered if quicker ambulance response might have saved her life. The mayor said it was the third ambulance delay incident in a year.

Failing to provide ambulance coverage to communities was back in the news last month when CUPE Local 4848 President Greg McConaghy told reporters that due to staffing shortages, Nackawic, Harvey and McAdam are without ambulance coverage on a daily basis.

On June 14th the Telegraph Journal reported the heartbreaking story of parents in their 70's trying to save the life of their 54 year old son who had suffered a heart attack. While they waited for an ambulance and life-saving paramedic care.. an ambulance with defibrillator sat just 3 minutes away unstaffed.

Investigative reporter Michael Robinson had a series of reports in the Telegraph Journal regarding secrecy, staffing and lack of service. We read headlines like: 'ANB tries to block media request for information', 'The secrets you can't know about NB ambulances', 'Favourable ambulance data raises transparency concerns', 'Ambulances unstaffed 14,000 times in three years'. All very troubling. Even more troubling were the headlines - '10% off job due to stress, strain of intense job', 'Paramedics overtime hours jump 22%' and the heartbreaking - 'He always had a smile on his face, but he was crumbling inside' about the suicide of one of our paramedics.

The health of New Brunswickers and the health of our paramedics has been put in jeopardy by the inaction of the Gallant government. I hope this fall while folks are considering who should govern New Brunswick for the next four years, they will consider Blaine Higg's commitment to ambulance coverage and to addressing the staffing shortage by 'hiring for skill, and training for language'.

Later in life, she developed a passion for local, village history. In August 2008, she completed her book, "Generational Memories: Life in the Village of Petitcodiac". She also loved to play her piano, an interest that continued to the end of her life.

The family wishes to express their sincere thanks to those who cared for Louise during her stay at the Jordan. The staff made her life richer through their love, humour, and acts of kindness. Many of her fellow residents became special friends, and they brought much joy and comfort to her. To each of you, the family extends their thanks. You transformed the last two years of Louise's life into a series of wonderful memories, both for her and for her family.

In Louise's memory, donations may

Building A Community

Some children in the Elgin area want to help bring a sense of family and community to the area by bringing people closer together. They are partnering with the Elgin Seniors and the Maple Tree Cafe to make this happen.

Do you want to help?

Go to the Maple Tree Cafe and buy a voucher for a meal and a short visit.

The Cafe will prepare a meal and let the kids know it is ready.

They will then pick it up and go visit with someone in the community.

There will be a suggestion box at the cafe for people to add names and addresses to.

These people could include seniors, shut-ins, busy mothers, men that are alone and don't have time to prepare meals, etc.

Let's help make this community a family

A New Breed of Show Garden

Mark Cullen is an expert gardener, author, broadcaster, tree advocate and holds the Order of Canada. His son Ben is a fourth-generation urban gardener and graduate of University of Guelph and Dalhousie University in Halifax. Follow them at markcullen.com, @markcullengardening, on Facebook and bi-weekly on Global TV's National Morning Show.

A new era of "garden tourism" is upon us. This is an exciting time in our history to explore recently opened, public attractions with a botanical theme. Canada's great public gardens are diverse and offer a new emphasis on native plant species, biodiversity and sustainability. As you tour around the country this summer, here are some of the newer horticultural attractions that are worth checking out:

-Whistling Gardens bills itself as "Canada's Newest Botanical Garden" and has the claim to fame "North America's Largest Peony Collection", with just over 1,000 varieties in addition to a rock/alpine garden, a marsh garden and an aviary or "bee colony" (among other attractions). Located just outside Brantford, Ontario. (<http://www.whistlinggardens.ca/>)

-Quinte Botanical Gardens might challenge Whistling Garden's claim as the newest public garden, having opened only last year. It features a Bee, Bird and Butterfly Garden in addition to "the world's largest colour wheel garden". Located just north of Trenton in Frankford, Ontario. (<http://www.qbgardens.ca/index.html>)

-Harriet Irving Botanical Gardens opened at Acadia University in Wolfville, Nova Scotia in 2002 after nearly three years of construction. There are 6 acres divided into 9 habitats specific to the Acadian Forest Region, as well as the Walled Garden, Experimental Garden, Medicinal and Food Garden and the Conservatory. It is impossible not to appreciate the Georgian-style construction which is so well executed you could fool us into thinking it was brought over brick by brick from a royal English estate. (<https://botanicalgardens.acadiau.ca/welcome.html>)

-Mosaiculture was a Canada 150 project so successful they brought it back for another year. Built by Mosaiculture

Internationales de Montréal, 10 new features have been added to the 35 dramatic sculptures and scenes of plant material that illustrate places and chapters from Canada's history. A very innovative piece of national pride, and worth the $20 admission - even if last year was free. Located in Gatineau, QC just across the bridge from Ottawa. (<http://mosaiculture.ca/>)

-While you are visiting Gatineau, why not visit Ottawa and check out the Canadian Museum of Nature. Outside, you will find the brand-new "Landscapes of Canada Gardens" which features landscape designs inspired by the Boreal Forest, the Arctic Tundra, Prairie Grasslands and even a re-creation of the Mammoth Steppe - an Ice-Age ecosystem traced to the Yukon. Inside, real plant nerds can find the National Herbarium of Canada, where the plant collections of the Geological and Natural History Survey of Canada have been housed since 1882. (<https://> nature.ca/en/home)

-Fryfogel Tavern & Arboretum is a worthwhile stop in Stratford, Ontario. Built in 1844, the tavern thought to be the oldest building in Perth County is now owned by Stratford Perth Heritage Foundation. In 2012, a community effort was initiated to establish the arboretum - a garden of native plants and trees which reflect the pre-settlement species that would have once occupied

Springs is a 100% volunteer-run botanical garden in Calgary which has operated as a registered charity since 2006. Thanks to the 33 volunteers, who last year alone committed 6,000 hours of time, the garden is free to visit and there is an extensive list of attractions to enjoy. Some of the highlights include the Wall Garden, Alpine Crevice and Native Plant Garden, western Canada's only Shakespeare Garden (sorry Stratford!) and the largest outdoor labyrinth in all of Canada - something the kids will love. (<https://www.bgss.ca/>)

When Ben's Grandpa was in the show-garden business with Cullen Gardens and Miniature Village in Whitby, Ontario, he would often lament that he worked so hard at building a world-class garden, and yet visitors often only had eyes for the miniatures. If you've read this far, and you have no interest in gardens at all, consider this: a selection of miniatures from our family's Cullen Gardens are now on display at the Niagara Parks Floral Showcase - entertaining gardeners and non-gardeners alike. (<https://www.niagaraparks.com/visit/nature-garden/floral-showhouse/>)

the site. Located east of Shakespeare, Ontario. (<https://www.facebook.com/FryfogelArboretum/>)

Salisbury Beautification Program - June 2018

Summer has finally arrived! As you walk or drive around our beautiful village this summer, we hope you will enjoy the beautification projects we have been working on:

- 24 petunia hanging baskets are now hanging along Main Street, River Road and Douglas Street.
- Marigolds are blooming in the planter boxes along Main Street. Thank you to Salisbury Elementary staff and kindergarten students for your help planting the marigolds on June 8th.
- Plants and flowers in our Bird, Bee, Butterfly (BBB) Garden are just beginning to bloom providing attractive curb appeal to pedestrians and motorists as well as create a habitat for bees, birds, and butterflies.
- A new flowerbed was created at the corner of Main Street and River Road at the base of the Welcome to Salisbury sign.

- Welcome to Salisbury street banners are now hanging throughout our village. Throughout the summer we will be adding 8 additional street banners designed by art students at JMA and SMS. Thank you to JMA/SMS Art teacher Caroline Humar-Barrett for her support and to students who participated in the banner project.
- We were successful in obtaining a Home Hardware and Trees Canada Grant once again this year. This means we will continue to add additional trees and shrubs in the green area next to Salisbury Elementary School.
- Congratulations to Carl Taylor who won the beautiful planter at the June 16th Lion's Club Pancake Breakfast. Thanks to all who purchased tickets on the planter in support our beautification projects.

2018 Salisbury Beautification Tree Campaign

A wonderful way to honour, remember or commemorate a loved one or someone special, or to participate in beautifying our community.

Over the past two years we were able to plant over 20 mature trees along Main Street and Douglas Street. Families, friends or businesses may purchase or sponsor a memory or commemorative tree. The deadline for ordering a tree is July 31st, 2018. Trees will be planted later this summer and we will have a tree dedication ceremony in early fall. If you would like more information about ordering/sponsoring a tree, please call Karen Stewart 372-9275 or email karenstewart0909@gmail.com

Keeping our properties neat and tidy, picking up garbage, weeding a flower garden, planting a tree, or hanging a flower basket are just a few things we can do to beautify our village. We can all do our part to make Salisbury a more beautiful place to live, work, and visit!

Are you or someone you know looking for a space to hold:

- Family Reunions
- Benefits
- Etc...
