A Thank You From The Heart

On November 11th 2018 the Petitcodiac War Museum celebrated the 20th Anniversary of the opening of the Museum.

Following the lunch at Legion Branch 41, Catherine Drury, Director of the War Museum read the following.

"I would like to ask every Legion Member to please stand.

The Petitcodiac War Museum would like to take this opportunity to thank Legion Branch 41, who 20 years ago saw the need to provide the Veterans of Petitcodiac and surrounding areas a place to display and share their memories.

A place to honor their Service and sacrifice, a place to preserve the past, and a place to share those memories and artifacts with those who choose to visit the War Museum and learn about the Community in the War years.

The War Museum evolved from military artifacts to include items being used by and of importance to the people living, working, attending school or visiting the Village and surrounding areas during those years, from before the First World War to today's Men and Women currently serving in Canada's Military Forces.

Thank you Petitcodiac Legion Branch 41 for all of your support over the last 20 years. Everything from providing the chair lift to assisting the War Museum in employing students in the summer months.

The War Museum has grown from, at the start 300 artifacts to over 6000 artifacts. And this number continues to grow.

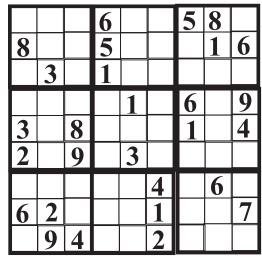

Thank you for allowing the War Museum a place to honor the Memories entrusted to the care of the Museum, and the forsight 20 years ago to provide a needed place to do so. Your continuing support is a tribute to all who served and continue to serve. Please join me in a round of applause and appreciation for their support and service to the community of Petitcodiac."

Catherine Drury Director, Petitcodiac War Museum

ELGIN NEWSI

December 2018 newsletter for N&V

December - already you ask!! Shall we look back over the past year or look ahead with anticipation for a new year to come? Let's do both!

2018 was a good year for the Elgin WI with some new endeavours. The Elgin Eats program facilitated by Samantha Christensen was very popular with new approaches to food skills, season availability, preservation and food safety. Good job Samantha!

The Elgin Eco Association summer youth camp was well attended by area kids enjoying the outdoor activities and building friendships.

Many from near and far gathered for Elgin Day in August. Special guests, Bill and Eleanor Goggin were on hand to chat with people about "Elgin Yesteryear". And, the annual Turkey supper was a successful fundraiser for The Hall.

So....THANK YOU to all who participated, planned and attended events and programs. Small communities like ours appreciate your support and

As we approach a new year let's make a conscious effort to help rural communities thrive and be valued in our province. We have beauty all around us in the people, the scenery and the way of life.

MERRY CHRISTMAS & HAPPY NEW YEAR

Petitcodiac Super Variety

Wishing you every happiness at this festive holiday season and throughout the coming New Year.

A Goal is a dream with a deadline

On November 1 the Elgin Eco Association held its last meeting of 2018. Due to the busy holiday season we will not have a meeting in December.

Looking back at this past year we can say it was another successful year. Our Area and Community benefits from our efforts of showcasing the region. The building of mountain bike trails continues throughout the year. Besides the volunteers our summer student is also an avid trail builder. He was a great asset to our Association. This year the EEA employed two people.

A few people have shown interest in getting together to see how we can better promote the Elgin Eco Association. Many people even in the EEA are unaware of the opportunity to rent kayaks, or snowshoes. There is a public garden and a vegetable garden plus short walking trail. A Mapleton Acadian Forest preserve that offers a great hiking trail. Now we have fat bikes {bikes with oversized wheels} for rent. And the many wonderful mountain bike trails. This is aside from the programs we offer. We have a winter fest, Elgin day, Summer camp, The Elgin Mountain Bike race. We would like to start offering something like day tours to bring in funds for the EEA and bring employment to our region. If you are interested in a day tour you can contact us at our new website eeanb.com. Or contact us by email at elgineco@ hotmail.com. This region has a lot of beautiful places people would love to visit. If you have an interest in volunteering and becoming a member we love to hear from you. As was mentioned at our meeting ,we don't want to see volunteer burnout. If everybody is willing to spare a few hours here and there we can continue to grow. Or maybe you would like to become part of the executive team or sit on a committee. Throughout the years many of our current members feel that being part of a volunteer association is a great opportunity to develop skills that are of great value to them. We are always interested in entertaining new ideas our members bring forward. The only thing that brings real change to the world is citizens actions. And looking at the above mentioned accomplishments,...that was all citizens actions. Thank you very much for being volunteers.

We wish everybody a wonderful Holiday season with lots of great get togethers

What can a Psychiatrist Tell Us About Vitamin D?

Winter's coming, so how much vitamin D do we need? How much time do you have to spend in the sunlight to obtain adequate amounts? How does obesity affect the dosage? How many diseases can be prevented by adequate amounts of this vitamin? And what can a psychiatrist tell us about this vital vitamin?

Years ago I reported that Dr. Catharine Gordon, a professor of pediatrics at The Harvard Medical School, tested the vitamin D levels of teenagers 11 to 18 years of age. She found that 14 percent of these adolescents were deficient in vitamin D. Today about 30 percent of adults are low in D.

Dr Glenn Braunstein, Professor of Medicine at the University of California, said her research was a wake-up call. It showed it's not only the house bound, or the elderly in nursing homes, that are getting insufficient sunlight.

In the 19th century, large numbers of children suffered from rickets due to a lack of sunlight. To resolve this problem children with rickets were taken for long voyages on what was called "Boston's Floating Hospital" to expose them to the health benefits of sunshine.

Today we know that adequate amounts of vitamin D are needed in the bowel to absorb calcium and keep bones strong. Vitamin D also acts on bone cells to release calcium and maintain normal blood levels of this important mineral. Can a lack of vitamin D protect against infection? You would expect to get this answer from an infectious disease expert, not a psychiatrist. But Dr. John Campbell, a U.S. psychiatrist, noted that when the 2005 flu epidemic struck the Hospital for the Criminally Insane, the infection spared those patients who were taking vitamin D!

Another researcher, Dr. Mitsuyoshi Urasima, Professor of Epidemiology, in Japan, reports in the American Journal of Nutrition, that patients given 1,200 IU of D were less likely to develop influenza than those not receiving it.

Dr, Jo Ann Manson, Professor of Medicine at The Harvard Medical School, reports strong evidence that high blood levels of vitamin D protect against colon cancer. To get still another opinion I interviewed Dr. Andrew Saul, Editor-In-Chief of the Orthomolecular News Service, a world authority on vitamins. Saul says that colon cancer is clearly related to vitamin D deficiency. He adds that inadequate vitamin D levels are also associated with ovarian cancer. And that research by the National library of Medicine reveals there are 300 papers on how vitamin D helps to fight prostate and breast cancer.

Dr. Michael Holick, at Boston University, an authority on vitamin D, believes vitamin D's greatest strength is its role in fighting cancer. He says studies show that people living in higher latitudes who get less sun exposure have an increased risk of dying from almost all types of cancer, particularly breast, colon, prostate and skin cancer.

Since we're approaching winter, I asked Dr. Saul about Seasonal Affective Disorder, a condition when people feel "psychologically down" during the winter months. Saul says that vitamin D acts as a mood stabilizer. He recommends vitamin D to fight this disorder.

In the book Saul authored with Dr, Abram Hoffer, "Orthomolecular Medicine For Everyone" he reports that a lack of vitamin D is also associated with psoriasis which can be treated with topical vitamin D. And that a deficiency of D is also linked to diabetes, heart failure and hypertension.

But don't most of us receive enough vitamin D from the sun? We get some, but not as much as you think. It depends on where you live. For instance, if you live at a latitude above 35 degrees north which includes Boston, Philadelphia and all of Canada, vitamin D production from sunlight ceases from October to the end of February. Due to the angle of the sun's rays you could stand outside naked all day and not receive enough sunshine to produce vitamin D!

What is the right dosage? The answer is not easy as there is some debate. Obese people need more vitamin D as fat holds onto it making it less available to the body. Dr. Saul claims 10,000 IU daily are safe. Others suggest a dosage of between 1,000, to 3,000 IU daily. So check with your own doctor.

Rural Rides a Member of WA Transpo

Thank You Volunteers!

WA Transpo held a Driver Recognition dinner on October 29 at the Moncton Lions Senior Center to thank our wonderful and highly dedicated volunteer drivers and board members. I have said it many times before and I will say it again, "we have some of the best volunteers in the world!"

Rural Rides is part of the volunteer driving network, WA Transpo, that matches volunteer drivers with people who need transportation. Rural Rides recruits and screens volunteer drivers who use their own vehicles to pick up clients and take them to appointments or wherever they need to go and then returns them to their home when they are done. Drivers are reimbursed $.35/km.

As the volunteer driving service expanded in June 2018 to include all of Westmorland and Albert counties through the WA Transpo collaborative, more fantastic volunteers donated their time to cover an ever-increasing need. Our drivers go above and beyond to help their neighbors in need. For example, our record for the longest trip thus far was a total of 36 hours as a client needed to be taken to Halifax for surgery and brought back home the next day. Our driver stayed with the client in Halifax overnight to make sure he was ok. Our record for most kilometers driven in a month is just shy of 2000. We have drivers who have been faithfully giving their time since we began and drivers who faithfully commit to meeting a regular ongoing need as part of their weekly routine building a friendship with the clients they help. Our drivers are reliable, kind, generous with their time and always willing to help.

There are not enough words to adequately thank our fabulous volunteers. Our service would not exist without them. They make a real, practical and emotional difference in the lives of those we help and for that, I am deeply thankful for each and every one of them. Thank you volunteers! If you or someone you know is struggling to find transportation, they can register for free as a client by calling 215-2100 or visiting our website at ruralridesnb.

If you would like to join the ranks of the most wonderful volunteers in the world, we always welcome new drivers. If you would like to volunteer, please call 215-2100

Wishing you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

The Petitcodiac Royal Canadian Legion Branch #41

Hosted another very successful diamond ring dinner on October 13, 2018. This was the 27th time this event has been hosted and attended. With increasing interest in the event, all 150 tickets sold out on the first day they were offered to the public. Each year the previous year ticket holders have a month to purchase their tickets before they are offered to the general public. The waiting list held over 40 names and the "general tickets" were snapped up very quickly. The popularity of this event is due to the efforts of the diamond ring committee who work tirelessly from June until the final night in October. The committee this year included: Charlene McCully President of the Petitcodiac Legion), Diana McKnight, Bonnie Macaulay, Susan Kaye, Cathy Drury, Libby Stackhouse, Phillis Taylor, Freda O'Blenis, Barb Harper, Joan MacAlpine-Stiles, and Marilyn Pollock, MC and Chair of the event. The event was beautifully decorated by Tanya Brown who always does an extraordinary job of making the tables so elegant. You MUST have paid for your ticket by September 21, 2019----THERE WILL BE NO HOLDS FOR 2018 TICKET HOLDERS AFTER SEPTEMBER 21. Tickets to the general public will be available September 23 until October 16 (or until sold out, whichever comes first). This event has become so successful because of the support of sponsors, the hard work of the committee, and the support of you, our ticketholders.

Poinsettia Plant

Poinsettia plants remain one of the most popular holiday plants. Hybridizers have expanded the range of colors from the familiar red to pastel yellow and vibrant bi-colors. Because poinsettias have been forced into bloom, they need some extra care, to keep them in bloom throughout the holidays. Poinsettias are a tropical plant and will appreciate as much direct sunlight as you can provide.

Light - Place it near a sunny window. South, east or west facing windows is preferable to a north-facing window. Heat - To keep the poinsettia in bloom as long as possible, maintain a temperature of 65 - 75 degrees F. during the day. Dropping the temperature to about 60 degrees F. at night will not hurt the plant. However, cold drafts or allowing the leaves to touch a cold window can injure the leaves and cause premature leaf drop.

Water - Water the plant whenever the surface feels dry to the touch. Water until it drains out the bottom, but do not let the plant sit in water. Wilting is another common cause of leaf drop. A wilted plant can be revived and salvaged, but it will take another season to improve its appearance.

After Christmas Care: January March: Keep watering the poinsettia whenever the surface is dry.

Though they have a bad rap, poinsettia plants are only mildly toxic to cats and dogs. ... While poinsettias are commonly "hyped" as poisonous plants, they rarely are, and the poisoning is greatly exaggerated. When ingested, mild signs of vomiting, drooling, or rarely, diarrhoea may be seen.

Loving Christmas

By Gloria Scribner

Phone:(506) 756-1102 / Fax: (506) 756-1102 gary.lounsbury@semutual.nb.ca

Wishing you a joyful Holiday Season and a happy and prosperous New Year.

It's nearly Christmas! You can see it in the softly falling snow, hear it in the shopping mall's music and taste it almost daily in those staff dinners, church dinners, Christmas parties, and complimentary taste-testers in every super-market aisle. You can feel it in the happy anticipation in children's eyes at Toyland, and even catch a glimpse of it in trepidation at check-out counters, and on 'worry-lined' foreheads of busy moms and dads working over-time.

The upcoming event inspires no longer just a Christmas pageant, a decorated tree with gifts beneath it, and stockings hung expectantly. Today we catch the first glimpse of the greatest day of the year somewhere off in the distance as early as July and with each approaching day the polestar appears closer and closer, just as a distant twinkle in the offing looms nearer, and faster and faster until a great glowing wonder hangs over us and the wonder turns from awesome to fearsome. Great question marks infiltrate our senses as What?, Why?, and How?, then Why not?, become the stuff Christmas is made of.

The stores roll out mile upon mile of Christmas lights, spotlights, mini-lights, flashing lights competing with fantastic street lights, so many that along with the car lights of busy shoppers they actually obliterate starlight. To find the moon on the crest of the new fallen snow one would almost have to trek to the remotest regions of barren countryside.

If it sounds as though I dislike Christmas, let me correct you. I love Christmas! It's just that I hate so much Christmas! What once was a long awaited family celebration with turkey, dressing and apple pie has suddenly become just a finale to many many duplicated competitions in cuisine. We eat ourselves silly almost every day from the onset of December as churches, clubs, work-places, and relatives all try to juggle their schedules for the pleasure of adding inches to our waist-line. What's left to anticipate?

I remember when I eagerly approached the mailbox in expectation of Christmas cards from distant places and now the computer displays "Happy Holidays" from every corner of the globe. I recall the once a year ritual of bringing home the Christmas tree; the horses, the sled, and the crazy kids jumping on and off all the way to the woods and back. I remember the unpacking of yesterday's treasures that brought back memories of other Christmases as we hung nostalgia on the limbs of December.

Now people put a tree in every room in the house, artificial master pieces, pre-lit and completely devoid of scent. Hence, candles are lit to add aroma as we bask in the glow of electric wall fireplaces. After Christmas the decorations head for the curbside and the "non-mess" is gone for another year. The raucous joy and laughter of Christmas morning is now a still, silent celebration as family members finger their video games, muted music (via earphones), and connect by texting kith and kin.

Whatever happened to skating on ponds, hockey on the roads, coasting on the hills, packages wrapped in ribbon, and carols sung in school auditoriums as well as churches. Give me crackling embers and the scent of pine, real stockings hung instead of phony felt, moms who wore aprons as the women-folk gather at the kitchen sink to wash and dry and laugh and talk as they cleaned up the reminders of God's bounty once again, where cousins joined in snowball fights and dads had the day off work and also exceptional patience on this holiest of days. And wouldn't it be nice just once more to find an orange in the toe of your stocking and actually consider it a treasure?

But, as I pen this I'm reminded that there's still a Christmas Spirit. I believe I saw it tonight as I watched the little children practice their parts for the church play. I saw it in their eyes and its giddy child-fashion echoed its excitement across the church basement. I looked into the future (concert night) and saw 20 little children, dressed in their Sunday best, suddenly become transformed into little angels with no 'tom-foolery', not a hint of foolishness, just pride in the fact that parents and grandparents were taking the time to attend and applaud, with cameras in hand, relishing their sons and daughters participation no matter how small the part.

Christmas isn't found merely in gift buying or extravagant feasts. It's shared in knowing that someone loves you. It's feeling the magic of that first Christmas in plastic wings, tinseled halo and cardboard donkeys. It's the doll in the manger, the bath-robed shepherds and a very special couple with wonder in their eyes. It's the reminder of the greatest gift ever given to mankind over 2000 years ago. Merry Christmas everyone!

Some Christmas Facts

"A Christmas Carol" is a novella by Charles Dickens, published on December19, 1843. The first edition sold out by Christmas Eve. By the end of 1844 thirteen editions of the novella had been released. Most critics reviewed the novella favorably. A Christmas Carol has never been out of print and has been translated into several languages; the story has been adapted many times for film, stage, opera and other media.

The first Christmas Seals originated in 1903 when a benevolent postmaster named Einar Holboell in Copenhagen, Denmark was inspired to create the stamps to help children with tuberculosis (TB). In 1907 the idea crossed the Atlantic to the United States. By 1908, the campaign had reached Canada. Interested people in Toronto and Hamilton began Christmas Seal campaigns to build and support sanatoria, as TB hospitals were called back then. Today, Christmas Seals are an essential fundraiser for The Lung Association nation-wide. The money raised is used to support world-class research, programs and services. Celebrating its 100th anniversary in 2008, the venerable Christmas Seal continues to help all Canadians to breathe easier.

The Empty Stocking Fund came from a humble beginning back in 1912. The story goes like this: it was a few nights before Christmas when a reporter for the old Saint John Evening Standard (now the Telegraph Journal) -- Harry (Dutch) Ervin - saw two poor children looking at a department store's toy display from the street. When he returned to the newsroom, he passed the hat and collected $30 to buy Christmas gifts for Saint John's needy children. Soon, word spread of Harry's crusade and by Christmas Eve, the pot had grown to $700. Today, the Telegraph-Journal's Empty Stocking Fund is one of the oldest newspaper-sponsored Christmas appeals in Canada.

The Petitcodiac Valley Golf and Country Club Winner

The Petitcodiac Valley Golf and Country Club finalized their second Chase the Ace program on October 29. The club housed many hopefuls as the Ace was going to be drawn on that night. Twenty-two cards were drawn before, on the 23rd try, Mark St. Pierre's name came out and the Ace of Clubs was drawn. Mark received $5,232 for that lucky card.....and the other 22 shared the 20% that would normally go to the "loser" of the night. Since our sales were over $3,600 that last night, each person received $32.

> Our two Chase the Ace projects have seen two individuals take home over $8,300 while on a nightly basis we had 27 winners averaging over $200 a night. In addition, we had 29 happy winners on our 50/50 draw who averaged over $100 per night. But the piece de resistance from our perspective was the monies put back into our community. On our first draw, the Petitcodiac Boys and Girls Club were provided with a total of $2,504.50 while our last draw saw the Petitcodiac Fire Rescue take home a cheque for $4,500. We are very proud of our (and YOUR) efforts to provide such a financial contribution to these worthy organizations.

Thank you to all who supported our Chase the Ace initiative. We have not made a decision as to whether we will conduct another one (or two) next year but we will advise in March or April if we do. Wishing all of you a very happy and restful holiday season

MUST DIET

It's fun I know, When we mix in the dough. Samples we must try, Or we think we'll surly die! At tasting we're a pro. We just simply can't say no! To Diet isn't fun Because food we'd have to shun. But Diet we must, In me you'll have to trust. Let's think of it as a game And soon they'll have to ask our name! By Winona McLean, written November 2, 1992

From the Desk of Your MLA

Hon. Ross Wetmore, Gagetown - Petitcodiac

On Friday, November 2nd, the Liberal In our riding of Gagetown-Petitcodiac, government lost a confidence vote in the legislature causing Brian Gallant to resign as Premier. Our Lieutenant Governor then asked Blaine Higgs if he was confident he could form a government and receive the confidence of the house.

Blaine Higgs said 'yes' and one week later, on Friday, November 9th, he was sworn in as the 34th Premier of New Brunswick.

Also on that day, I was honoured to be sworn in as Minister of Agriculture, Aquaculture and Fisheries as part of New Brunswick's first minority government in almost a century. I am humbled by the support and encouragement I have been receiving since becoming Minister.

The ongoing challenges faced by New Brunswick farmers and fishers are welldocumented. From financial to labour shortages to global pressures, I hope that our government will be responsible for bringing solutions to these challenges. I also hope we can prevent future challenges like carbon tax through a strong and united voice with our producers.

These three sectors account for over two billion dollars in economic activity within our province and sustain thousands of fishing and farming families.

My learning curve promises to be a steep one, but thanks to living in one of the big farming areas of the province, I will be able to call upon the wisdom of our agricultural community.

we have the largest dairy farm and largest hog producer in our province along with beef and poultry producers, apple orchards and mixed-farming. We are very proud of our agricultural heritage and not shy to show it off each year.

annual Queens County Fair highlights agricultural awareness for visitors from far and wide. It was a privilege to host Premier Higgs at this year's fair and I am sure we will invite him back next year.

Despite the challenges facing our province and our riding, we have reasons to be optimistic. I feel the Petitcodiac area will be well served with my cabinet colleagues Sherry Wilson and Mike Holland, and we are truly fortunate to have Minister Mary Wilson as our neighbour on the Gagetown side of the riding. It will be a privilege to work alongside these dedicated people to make life better for the people of our great province.

As the MLA for our riding, I will continue to press for a new Petitcodiac area health centre and for the return of our Gagetown ferry; and to work on your other issues as you bring them forward remain ever grateful for the opportunity to serve.

Over the next few weeks as you prepare for the Christmas season, please keep the lonely and less fortunate in your thoughts and do what you can to ease their burden.

GINGERBREAD HOUSES

The gingerbread house became popular in Germany after the Brothers Grimm published their fairy tale collection which included "Hansel and Gretel" in the 19th century. Early German settlers brought the gingerbread house, a tradition, to the Americas.

Gingerbread houses never caught on in Britain as they did in North America, but they do exist in other parts of Europe.

In December 2001, bakers in Torun, Poland, attempted to beat the Guinness Book of World Records for the largest-ever gingerbread house. It was made in Szczecin, Poland, with 4,000 loaves of brick-shaped gingerbread measuring 11 1/2 feet high. It took a week to create and used 6,000 eggs, a ton of flour, and 550 pounds of shortening. However, they lost to an American team.

An early European recipe for gingerbread consisted of ground almonds, stale breadcrumbs, rosewater, sugar and, naturally, ginger. The paste was pressed into wooden moulds. These carved works of art served as a sort of storyboard that told the news of the day, bearing the likeness of new kings, emperors, and queens, or religious symbols. The finished cookie might be decorated with edible gold paint (for those who could afford it) or flat white icing to bring out the details in relief.

In the 16th century, the English replaced the breadcrumbs with flour, and added eggs and sweeteners, resulting in a lighter product.

The first gingerbread man is credited to Queen Elizabeth I, who knocked the socks off visiting dignitaries by presenting them with one baked in their own likeness. Gingerbread tied with a ribbon was popular at fairs and, when exchanged, became a token of love.

On a more practical note, before refrigeration was a twinkle in someone's eye, aromatic crumbled gingerbread was added to recipes to mask the odour of decaying meat.

December By Gloria Scribner

There's a row of silver icicles hanging 'neath the eaves And snow is bending branches on a row of Christmas trees The yard is full of 'little kitten' footprints in the snow And diamonds cover 'everything the sun can reach' you know A snowman stands with silly grin at ten degrees below A scarf of read, hat on his head, and a yellow carrot nose A wreath adorns the door, some holly with a scarlet bow Announcing Christmas to the world, as if we didn't know The chimney wafts across the air the scent of fire-side And as its curling smoke descends it bids me step inside The coffees on and the radio plays "Winter Wonderland" A window frames a perfect painting left by God's own hand And I can almost hear the sound of distant "Silver Bells" As time stands still, December's here. God lives and all is well.

A Gardener's Christmas List

By Mark and Ben Cullen Mark Cullen is an expert gardener, author, broadcaster, tree advocate and holds the Order of Canada. His son Ben is a fourthgeneration urban gardener and graduate of University of Guelph and Dalhousie University in Halifax. Follow them at markcullen.com, @markcullengardening, on Facebook and biweekly on Global TV's National Morning Show.

Gardeners tend to be a contented lot, which can make them hard to buy for this time of year.

Ask any gardener what they want for Christmas or their birthday, and they would likely have something to say about the weather. You can't do anything about that, but we do have some ideas from our own Christmas lists which can help you navigate this season of giving.

-The last shovel they will ever need. We are often reluctant to treat ourselves to the "best" and end up with an inferior tool which will require replacement down the line. A shovel is something that every gardener will use, where "entry price point" can be around $12. For premium quality, the "last shovel you will ever buy" is stainless steel with a hardwood handle. Stainless steel holds an edge, looks great, dirt falls off it and it will never rust. The hardwood handle can stand up to heavy digging and has a nice texture in the hand. There are a few options on the market, but you shouldn't have to pay more than $60 for a good one. We prefer the long-handled version of a shovel or flat mouthed spade: better leverage.

-Gardeners value experiences - do them a favour by putting something to look forward to on their calendar. Tickets to Canada Blooms, Canada's largest and best annual flower and garden festival, March (9th-18th). It is always an inspiring collection of 17 feature gardens and so much more. $20 tickets online at www.canadablooms.com.

-Update the seed starting operation. For many gardeners, seed starting is the most technical task they will undertake in a season. Some keep their lights going all winter for fresh winter crops of herbs, wheatgrass or even tomatoes. The typical setup is fluorescent tubes, trays and heat mats, but the technology has improved in recent years. The latest and greatest are LED growing lights, which draw much less power and last longer than the old fluorescents. Unlike fluorescent bulbs, which decline in the quality of light they produce over the course of their useful life, LED's offer a consistent quality of light right until the end. Kits start at about $120.

-Rose pruning gloves are useful for more than just pruning roses, though they are prefect for that with their thorn-proof gauntlet to protect your forearms. Winter is also the best time of year to prune prickly raspberries and thorny bushes such as hawthorn. A good pair are about $30.

-Raised beds. A raised bed allows gardeners to control soil quality, moisture and light. Depending on how high you build them, they can be made more accessible to the gardener and less accessible to pests such as slugs, snails, and pathway weeds. There are various kits available from the hardware store, or - if you're handymake the gift extra special by finding plans online and making it yourself.

-A better means of journaling. The garden teaches us constantly from season to season, year to year. The best way to reflect on these lessons is by writing them down, which is why Canadian gardening writers Donna Balzer and Chelsie Anderson came up with the Three-Year Gardener's Gratitude Journal. Balzer and Anderson have done a masterful job of creating a journal which inspires gratitude through the garden, with prompts and inspiration dotted throughout. Available at local book stores and online at (https://donnabalzer.com/ garden-journal/).

-Our new book! That's right- our first book together, and we think it's worth recommending. Escape to Reality: How the world is changing gardening, and gardening is changing the world is a collection of essays where we reflect on our collective gardening experience and look at key trends taking shape. Gardeners have incredibly active minds and imaginations that really come to life during the winter months, when we dream of the gardening season. We think we've written the perfect book for gardeners in this state of mind. Available at Home Hardware, local bookstores, and Chapters.

The garden has taught the gardener on your list the value of gratitude - and now you can give them one more thing to be grateful for: a gift from you.

Let's talk Christmas, with this quotation from a British author...My mother-in-law has come around seven years in a row at Christmas time. This year I'm planning to make changes. I'm gonna let her in!

Calling a spade a spade doesn't always do justice. There are times when it's best to hide ugly truths. Here is a prime example. Going back to the late 1800's, the troublesome 30 year old son of a well to do British family, was banished to Canada along with a small allowance, hoping that he would rid himself of his life of crime. Unfortunately, he did not improve and eventually became an alcoholic and habitual thief. After many run-ins with the law, he ended his days at the end of a rope in a British Columbia town. The judge who had sentenced him to hang, saw no reason in bringing more shame to his family but felt it to be his duty to inform them of his demise. He sent a letter that read....I regret, dear sir and madame, to inform you of the passing of your son. He was participating in a public event when the platform on which he was standing, quite suddenly gave way.

Salisbury Naturalist Club-Christmas Bird Count-December 15, 2018

The Salisbury count area is a 24 km (15mile) diameter count circle that takes in Monteagle, Steeves Settlement, Petitcodiac, The Glades, Middlesex, Colpitts Settlement, Coverdale Road (short distance) Salisbury, Upper Mountain Road, and everything in between.

Five dedicated group of the Salisbury Naturalist's Club go out from early morning until dusk to count the species and numbers seen throughout the day.

The Christmas Bird Count as we know it today began on Christmas Day, 1900. Prior to that hunters engaged in a holiday tradition called the Christmas "Side Hunt." They would choose sides and go afield with their guns and whoever brought in the biggest pile of feathered and furred quarry won.

Ornithologist Frank Chapman proposed a new holiday tradition. By that time conservation was in its beginning stages. Thanks to the inspiration of Chapman 27 dedicated birders and 25 Christmas Bird Counts were held that day.

The data collected over the last 12 decades allow Audubon researchers, conservation biologists, wildlife agencies and other interested individuals to study the long-term health and status of bird populations across North America.

The decline in land birds over the past 50 years has been dramatic. Overall the decline is in the area of 40%.

Citizen Science (Christmas Bird Count) is crucial.

Why Christmas. By this time of year all the land birds have migrated to their wintering grounds across NA and SA. This gives researchers and conservationists an opportunity to get an annual

"bird's-eye view" of trends and changes in population numbers and distribution.

How you can help:

- Join a group for all or part of the day to be an extra pair of eyes spotting birds, you will be with an experienced birder and it may prove to be a very interesting and informative day.
- Folks who have feeders in their front or back yards, PLEASE keep them full.
- •If you prefer to do your own count of yard birds we will supply the forms.
- •IF NOT, and you have a feeder in your back yard that is not visible from the street, PLEASE give us permission to enter your yard.

Please contact Connie Colpitts at 372-9362 or foxpac@nbnet.nb.ca

If you would like to:

- •Join a group
 - •Do your own Christmas feeder bird count (Forms can be sent by e-mail)
- •OR Give permission for observers to enter your yard
