Westmorland County Agricultural Fair Celebrating 50 Years

Westmorland County Agricultural Fair is Celebrating 50 wonderful years as an Incorporated Fair.

In 1967 the Petitedcodiac Community Fair Association was formed as a Centennial Project with Chairman William Balzer, first vice, Stewart Constantine, second vice, Gordon MacLaughlin and secretary-treasurer Rev. Harold Hilder. Official Incorporation took place in 1971.

Land; the present location of the Medical Center building and parking lot, was made available from the Village for the Fair. For a number of years the Kiwanis outdoor rink was used as the location of the horse shows and livestock activities. It was their hope that the Community Fair would continue to grow and prosper.

The Community Fair was based on the one day Fairs that the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch #41 and many other local organizations in Petitedcodiac started as a means to raise funds to support the Veterans returning from World War I, in 1918 and 1919. The funds were used to not only support those men and women, it was also used to provide for the families of men who had been killed in the War.

Some of their fund raising ideas included selling tickets, with the prize of a pony; largest vegetable contest, games of chance and basket socials. These one day Fairs were very well supported by Petitedcodiac and surrounding areas with as many as 300 school children participating in the earliest parades and fun activities.

From the Editor

Hoping that your summer is much better than the last summer we had. So nice to be able to move about a little more. I have even been able to go to Ontario to visit friends that I haven't seen in 4 years, some of them were in their 90's.

The weather has been good for the gardens, as mine is the best ever, after we got rid of the many bugs. Hope yours is as well.

New Brunswick Day is a local Holiday celebrated each year on the first Monday of August (In most parts of Canada known as a Civic Holiday. Canadians in New Brunswick celebrate the culture and history of their province on this date. This year it is on August 2nd.

Canadians Internet Business publishes a calendar of holidays and observances for Canadians each month. This calendar includes Canadian and international holidays and observances, from the official, to the charitable, and on to the strange and unusual. Many of the observances have spilled into Canada from other countries to become virtually universal in their celebration.

Motor Sports Awareness Month

Get ready for Kindergarten Day, and all classes are getting ready for their next year at school.

In Petitcodiac it is the all-important Westmorland County Agricultural Fair August 6th - 8th. In Salisbury it is their Salisbury Community days August 19th - 22nd.

Comedy at Large

by Laurie Blanchard Salisbury, NB

For those of you who watch TV, you have likely seen the commercial about the chance to win a new Ford F150 XL each month from a contest offered up by a gasoline retailer. One lucky fella who won tells 3 different people I won ! I won! then, at the end of the advertisement, he's standing next to his new truck facing open water and again exclaims I Won ! I won ! I noticed that there was no one on the beach and no boats in the water. Is he possibly thinking that fish will jump out of the water and clap their fins in applause? I can only assume that he is doing it for the halibut ! Oh for cod sakes, he's going to flounder! Sarcasm intended.

Hedge hog - I'm sure you've heard of them. My question iswhy can't they share their hedge? Is it that important that only they can claim ownership? Since they own it, I think they should be held responsible to trim it.

In a magazine I read was a cartoon showing the OSCAR - MEYER hot dog promotional vehicle which of course looks like a hot dog. It had it's hood up and the service station attendant is holding the dip stick and says to the driver ...you're down a quart of ketchup but the mustard is OK, however, the wiener is past it's BEST BEFORE DATE. The driver replies....oh, I relish the thought!

ELGIN NEWS!

Come Celebrate Elgin Day - Again in 2021

On August 15th the Elgin Eco Association will collaborate with the Elgin Women's Institute and Elgin Seniors to celebrate Elgin Day. This popular yearly event will once again be held in the Elgin Eco Park and W.I Hall from 1 pm - 4 pm.

The park will feature a musical performance by Sticky Bones Lee and the Lamplighters, bouncy castles and a fundraiser BBQ for new playground equipment.

Chris Moir aka Sticky Bones Lee plays a style of music he calls "hobo folk" songs of good times, bad times and the fun times!! SBL will also be playing a set with Josh and Jasmine Jones (The Lamplighters).

This is a great way to meet new citizens, neighbours and friends so bring a lawn chair and come enjoy the afternoon!

Everyone welcome!

Before you plan to attend ELGIN DAY on Sunday, August 15, 2021 (1-4pm) perhaps you would like to know a little background on how our interesting and pretty little hamlet got its beginnings. Although we seem to be located off the beaten path, so to speak, the New World began to take shape as adventurous settlers from Europe began to set sail for various reasons....perhaps in hopes of a better life, but at the very least a fresh start. Life would have been extremely difficult but it was the strong willed, the clever, and the determined to succeed who said goodbye to Europe and headed across the vast and dangerous Atlantic Ocean.

We do know that the first settler in our area was John Gildart (Geldart) in 1806. He came from Yorkshire, England. One can only imagine what he found - nothing! - but in reality, everything! Rivers with falls, and no doubt, plenty of fish.....thick, rich and old growth forests to build homesteads....and plenty of game and wildlife for food and other needs.

John Gildart apparently chose a location nestled in a valley in what we now know as Elgin Center as his home base. He eventually built a house and sent for his wife, Elizabeth, and children.

Eventually the area saw the arrival of other settlers. As time moved on and the number of settlers increased, it was time to name this new found community of families. The chosen name was Elgin, named in honor of James Bruce, the 8th Earl of Elgin.

Here we are 215 years later and still eager to see our community prosper and grow. Although we know the area looks far different from what John Gildart saw, it still has the power to send us awestruck at the natural beauty tucked away in our little corner of Albert County, New Brunswick.

Please check out the advertisement for Elgin Day in this issue!

See you there!!

Enjoy Elgin Day Sunday, August 15, 2021

The 50th anniversary of the Westmorland County Agricultural Fair is a go!

Like you, I was very glad to learn the news on July 2nd that the WCAF will be happening Aug 6th, 7th, and 8th. The announcement came on their Facebook page which is where you may learn more about events and schedules.

Thanks to the organizers for their dedication in making possible this wonderful opportunity for the whole family to reconnect with friends and the community at the fair. It will also be nice to welcome visitors back to our beautiful part of the province.

The WCAF is also a timely reminder of the vital role agriculture plays in our lives in both rural and urban New Brunswick. We all must eat and if we can eat local, fresh, nutritious food, so much the better.

Which brings me to another Facebook page you might enjoy.

'New Brunswick Food & Beverages' kicked off their summer campaign on July 16th.

The campaign is designed to promote our local food and beverage businesses with a summer road trip tour.

Throughout the past year New Brunswickers realized the importance of our local food industry and came together to lift them up during a difficult year.

The New Brunswick Local Food and Beverages Strategy aims to keep that momentum going, so together we can strengthen our supply chain and improve food self-sufficiency for the province. Over the course of the coming months, we will hear much about New Brunswick's economic recovery from COVID.

Our challenge is threefold-Recover, reinvent, renew.

Working in our favour is the fact that our agriculture and local food and beverage industries have the people with the vision and the drive to be major contributors in all three.

As our economy recovers, we must stay mindful that many of our friends, neighbours and fellow New Brunswickers have had quite a struggle making it this far through COVID. Now that we are recovering let's do our best to make sure they make a full recovery as well. Until our next communication, I would leave with these three thoughts:

Enjoy the fair, let's buy local for good and above all be kind to one another.

A RAINY DAY

When Rose awoke, she could hardly wait, but hurried to the window and flung it wide open. Rain was falling.

"What will become of our picnic?" she thought. She was almost ready to cry, but soon she decided to make the best of it.

"Perhaps we can have our picnic tomorrow or some other day. Perhaps the rain will stop."

Then she had another idea. She telephoned Peggy and Ruth, who had also planned to go on the picnic, and told them to come over to her house with their picnic baskets.

"But it is raining!" both girls said.

"Come anyway," said Rose.

The girls arrived with their picnic lunches.

"We are going to have an inside picnic," laughed Rose. There was a tablecloth spread on the floor of the sunroom.

"We will pretend the chairs are trees and the potted plants are wild flowers," she said.

When the picnic lunch was eaten, Peggy and Ruth agreed that it was almost as much fun as a picnic in the woods.

Salisbury Community Days

August 19th - 22nd

Salisbury Gets Social - It's a Celebration

Community Days is a go!

"Salisbury Gets Social / It's a Celebration!" will be a little bit virtual like last year, but also a little bit in-person like the good ol' days -- a double-shot, if you will! (pun fully intended...)

Why both?

Such is the nature of organizing a community event during a pandemic, even during "the Path to Green."

The expectation of a full "green light" was late in the process, so the Salisbury Community Days Committee opted to keep a few aspects online, while still spreading our wings once again for some outdoor activities.

Westmorland County Agricultural Fair

For several years the Fair was held in the parking lot, across from the former Bank Of Nova Scotia. Local bands performed on the platform of the Stedman's warehouse before the parade started. Midway rides were placed in the parking lot and many will remember the "swings" and how close the Midway rides were to the railway and to each other. When it became evident that additional space was needed the Westmorland County Agricultural Fair was moved to land made available by the Village of Petitcodiac, behind the Arena, and the WCAF erected their offices, barns, buildings, outdoor ring and bleachers. Some of the Past Presidents of the WCAF were contacted and asked the following question

"What is your happiest memory as President of the WCAF?"

David Hodgson, Current President.... "Seeing 19 four horse hitches in the ring at one time, and growing to be the second largest show in all of Atlantic Canada as part of the Maritime Classics."

Kim Chambers..."The support I got from my board and being part of something for the community."

Vicky Crossman.. "Working with and hosting the girls in the Queen pageants. Getting the opportunity to encourage them and watch as they gained confidence in themselves and having the opportunity to share in their success." Tracy Henderson.... "The great sense of Community. My children grew up at the Fair, with my youngest being in a playpen in the Fair Office and everyone

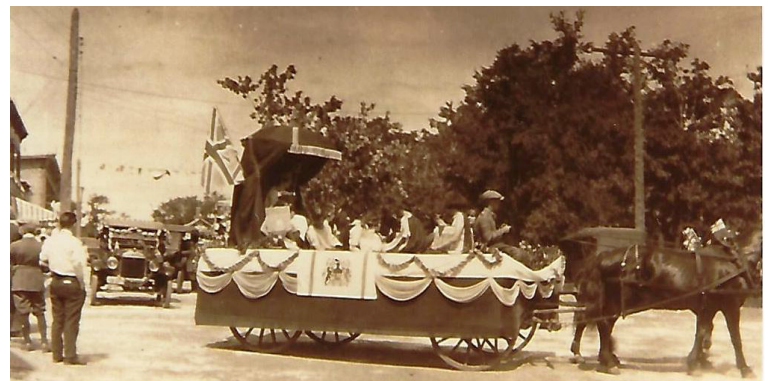

After finally nailing down the elusive Mr Wheaton, Harry as he is known, was asked what his favourite memory was in the 4 years he was President..." The crowds, seeing the stands in the arena or in the bleachers, the buildings and stages full. And all the smiling faces, everyone smiling and having a good time. The support from so many people, not just from here but all over the Maritimes." helping each other. So many wonderful memories."

While researching the information for this article I tried to make note of the number of years any type of Fair was held in our community. Since 1919, One Hundred and Two years ago, there have been thousands of Volunteers who gave of their time and talents to make each event a success. Without Volunteers events like the Westmorland County Agricultural Fair and many others would never have become the successful events they became and continue to be. These people are the true heart of any community.

Best Wishes Westmorland County Agricultural Fair for a successful 2021 and for many more successful years to come.

As we mark the 50th anniversary of the Westmorland County Agricultural Fair, I'd like to recognize the organizers and volunteers for their hard work and dedication to this proud community tradition.

Steeped in history, the WCAF has brought exciting exhibitions, showcases, fun and games to the residents of Petitcodiac and surrounding communities for decades. Although scaled down for 2021, I know the Westmorland County Agricultural Fair will have a big impact this year as we celebrate this milestone together.

Petitcodiac Area Garden Club

Hello Gardening Friends! For those who have and are continuing to stand tall against a year filled with garden pests, we congratulate you! Between earwigs, cucumber beetles, and potato bugs our work has been cut out for us all. But it sure is wonderful to see our gardens flourish with beautiful flowers, our homes fill with bouquets, and our tables include fresh from the garden fruits and vegetables.

At the Community Garden have been experiencing the same things! In addition to caring for our plants, we have been doing some maintenance around the grounds, such as moving one of the raised beds. We have continued to receive donations of plants and are looking forward to an extended harvest this year.

In the community, we are happy to see the Butterflyway Garden begin to flourish in Veterans Memorial Park. It will take the perennials another year to become fully established, but the local bees and butterflies are enjoying this year's flowers.

By the time you are reading this, the Annual Garden Tour will have taken place. Thank you to our seven gardeners who opened up their gardens for everyone to enjoy, to those who helped organize the event, and of course to everyone who went on the tour. We'll be sure to share some great photos in September.

August will see us join the Canadian Communities in Bloom Hope is Growing Campaign. Across Canada and beyond, the goal is to see the land awash with gardens featuring yellow, the international colour of hope. The club is working with the WCAF committee and giving the gardens at the fair grounds a refresh. Look for our Hope is Growing garden next to the horse barns! By the way, this is open to individuals and you can learn more on their website at www.hopeisgrowing.ca.

In July, with the passing of Gerald Gogan, our community lost a very dear friend and mentor. Jerry's participation with the Petitcodiac and Area Gardening Club and his presence at the Community Garden is missed by everyone. We are thankful for his wisdom, friendship, and the many volunteer hours that he so freely shared. Our hope is that our ongoing gardening efforts in the community continue to bring his vision to life.

For more information on our activities or to join our team of volunteers as we continue to tend to our gardens, call Cathy Drury 756-2068 or Karen Hall-Middleton 756-8824.

What do gardeners do on the August long weekend? Garden.

A long holiday weekend like this is like manna from heaven for a gardener. We are on the mountain top, after all. The pinnacle of the season. Your garden will never look as colourful and prosperous as it does now, so, why wouldn't you want to spend every waking hour in it? As of Tuesday, nature begins the long journey towards winter by first creating a multitude of flowers, then seed, and finally the changing of leaf colours as all perennial plants prepare for winter slumber: like your snow tires are right now, dormant.

What to do?

There is so much that you can do in your garden this weekend to engage the nature within you. Here are our recommended priority tasks:

1. Feed. All plants, except for annuals like petunias and tomatoes, which die with hard frost come fall, can use one more application of fertilizer. We use finished compost by mixing up some tea. Using an old pillowcase, fill one third of it with finished compost either from your composting unit or a bag of composted manure. Tie the top with twine. Drop it into a garbage pail full of water and let steep for 24 hours. The resulting dark mixture is perfect for everything that grows. Use within 48 hours to avoid undesirable smells. Or you can use a synthetic fertilizer one more time.

2. Cut down all perennials that have blossomed in July. Shasta daisies, monarda, veronica, hollyhock, filipendula, some varieties of rudbeckia: you get the idea. When you remove the spent flower, you encourage the energy used to create seeds to be channelled to the creation of more flowers. You and the bees win. The plant does not mind either.

Make sure you are harvesting vegetables as they become ready. Tomatoes are ripening now, to beat the band. Peppers, zucchinis, beans and many other fruiting plants produce at their best this time of year. Like your perennials, when you remove ripening fruit you encourage the plant to produce more.

3. Cut flowers at their peak. Many of the flowers in your garden and containers are looking their absolute best now. Cut some of them to enjoy indoors. It is always best to cut flowers early in the morning when the natural sugars in the plant are highest. Take a bucket of fresh water out to the garden with you and plunge the cut end of the flower stem into the water. When you get them indoors, recut the stems to suit the vase and use fresh water for your display. Refresh the water daily. Put the cut ends of the flowers in your composter.

4. Water, if you must. We are big fans of watering the garden well, but less frequently. We can not think of one plant that needs water more than once a week, even in a heat wave, other than thirsty container grown plants like Sunshine impatiens. Allowing the root zone of your garden to dry, about 8 to 10 cm deep, between applications of water encourages roots to reach deep for moisture. Deeply rooted plants are drought resistant (which is one reason why we are not big fans of in ground irrigation systems: they train roots to be lazy). When you do water, we recommend that you leave the sprinkler on for as long as it takes to seep about 6 cm deep. In the long run, you will save water and experience enhanced plant performance.

5. Hammock time. It is warm. Your garden and balcony look great. Get out of doors and enjoy it all while you can. Take the newspaper with you and enjoy each section to its fullest. Bring a book or iPad if you have time to spare. John Graves Simcoe, after whom this holiday was named, had a cottage in Toronto at Bloor and the Don River called Castle Frank. Clearly, he knew that life is not entirely about work, that one must find time to play. And if he had a garden, we have no doubt he would be playing in it this weekend.

Buried Treasures

by Gloria Scribner

This has definitely been one of the most unusual summers of my memory, filled with ups and downs, blessings and trepidations, of will and won't, serenity, and tears.

Serenity arrived, seemingly riding the coat-tails of covid's border closures, vaccine jabs, and for a change - hours and days to fill as we refused to allow boredom to overtake the "summer of our discontent".

Once again I found myself overwhelmed by the abundance of birdsong and yellow finches gracing the tree boughs and singing their way over the meadows, road-side, and beds of flora of every hue. Butterflies on the wing, everywhere and in no hurry to leave - "oh, the beauty", of curious fawns with wide-eyed wonder under the rustling poplars, and frequent thunderstorms making the skies dance, while fire-flies played in the misty aftermath.

Once again in perhaps what is a brief recess in our history, men buckled on their tool-belts and the scent of lumber invaded the home-front. Women honed their creative genius with green thumbs, and gardens took on the aura of abundance, and everything seemed to be "coming up roses".

Families once again birthed picnics, childrens giggles, hiking ventures and puddle splashes.

Church weddings, scaled down to adhere to covid restrictions, took on less overwhelming format and once again "the bride wore white". I find it amazing how a threat, be it ever so small, to our age-old customs only makes them more dear. This year I am of all women, most blest, as 5 of my grandchildren say "I do" at church altars.

This summer the flags of our nation fly at half-mast; as the hearts of all of us have been tenderized by the ominous realization that no matter how blest our country is, regrets still stir our hearts and we learn to wipe another's tears as we long to hold a child that long ago vanished into the fog of cold contention, simply because of the carelessness of someone's so-called "good-intentions". It's time for weeping, but also for lessons learned - while in the aftermath our hearts once again cry out "Never again". The sound of distant drums echo into the night as Canada's heart throbs in time.

I am constantly reminded of the quote: "You can judge a country by how they treat their most vulnerable".

In the aftermath of shameful blindness, we hold our children a little tighter as our tears fall onto their hair; red hair, golden curls and auburn tresses. But buried deep in yesterday's ground as our minds will allow lie the vanished, raven-haired darlings of the first nations; The dark eyed babies of six of more winters torn from the arms of a once proud people; and we weep; and so we should because we share this country and the stains will not wash out nor should they.

Though we launder them in tears and the Great Spirit blows them dry with His breath, "forever" will still embrace them, as mother Earth holds them tightly to her breast.

Yet, God, in His great love sees our tears and reminds each one of us that "these are at rest", and He bids us lay our heads on His heart. Yesterday is gone. Tomorrow is a promise that only we can bring to fruition - by remembering, loving and learning.

Compassion is an active word; like a perennial in the garden of the soul, it reproduces and becomes the life-source of tomorrows children, our children, Canada's children; God willing they will be wiser than our fore-bearers. You see "love" must be planted and tended and "love never fails" for "Love is of God; And may God help us all!

ParticipACTION Community Better Challenge!

For the month of June, Village of Salisbury participated in the Community Better Challenge sponsored by ParticipACTION. The community Better Challenge is a national physical activity initiative that encourages Canadians to get active in search for Canada's Most active community. For the month of June, the residents of Salisbury were able to track and submit their active minutes. Our community tracked over 3.5 million minutes; we had over 200 residents track physical activity by using the app on their smartphones. In addition to the 200 single residents, we also had quite a few organizations that participated as well. We want to give a huge Thank you to all the residents of Salisbury and the following organizations: AMP IT UP Dance Studio, Boys & Girls Club of Salisbury, Here We Grow Little Learners, JMA Middle and High school, Salisbury Daily Walkers, Salisbury Elementary school, Salisbury/Petitcodiac Minor Baseball, Salisbury Gym, JMA Senior Girl Basketball, The Green Pig County Market, Sliver Fox Estate & Wee College Salisbury!

Due to all your hard work, Salisbury has made it into the top 50 most active communities in Canada. We now have a chance to win the grand prize of $100,000. We have submitted our final application as to why we deserve to be awarded the honor of being Canada's most active community and will be waiting for the results in the coming weeks!

The department of Recreation and Wellness staff want to thank everyone again for participating in the Challenge, and we can't wait to share the results soon!

Volunteer to Win $1000 in Tires

Urban/Rural Rides is a charitable organization that provides transportation for residents of Westmorland and Albert County who do not have access to transportation. Demand for rides is increasing as life begins to return to normal and more businesses and services open their doors. Consequently, there is a growing need for volunteer drivers. Volunteers can drive as little or as much as they want from a few hours a month to more depending on their availability.

To assist in the effort to recruit new volunteer drivers, National Tire Distributors has donated a prize of $1000 in tires to won by one lucky new driver who completes the screening process and begins to volunteer during the months of July and August 2021.

To volunteer as a driver and help the people in your community access medical and other life needs, call 962-3073 or email urbanruralrides@gmail.com or visit <http://urbanruralrides.ca> for more information.
